Crash of Air Force Stunt Plane Claims Native of Appleton

Maj. Frank Liethen, Thunderbird Executive Officer Is Victim

Maj. Frank E. Liethen, 36, formerly of Appleton, executive officer of the U. S. Air Force Thunderbirds, was killed Wednesday when two of the red, white and blue F100 Super Sabre jets collided while practicing aerial acrobatics over the Nevada desert at Indian Springs.

Also killed was Capt. Robert H Morgan, 32, Pendleton, S.C., pilot of the plane in which Liethen was a passenger. Morgan ejected from the plane after the collision but his parachute didn't open soon enough. He hit the desert and was killed with his plane seat still strapped on.

Liethen, who was in training to join the Thunderbirds team, rode the plane to the ground. He was killed in the explosion when it hit. The two planes had twisted in a spiral to 6,000 feet over the Nevada desert, then streaked toward each other upside down at 150 miles an hour. They snaked around one another 20 feet apart — then closer. They hit and there was a shower of metal. Witnesses said at least one of the jets caught fire.

Maj. Frank Liethen

Other Pilot

The pilot of the second plane, Capt. Robert D. Beckel, Walla Walla, Wash., coaxed his jet back to Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas.

The Air Force said it was a "tribute to his flying skill" that he landed the plane, which had a damaged wing.

Morgan and Liethen were the seventh and eighth Thunderbird fliers killed in the tricky maneuvers.

In 13 years the Thunderbirds

Harry H. Salzman

City Policeman Dies in Texas

No. 2 Man on Appleton Force; Served Since 1936

Harry H. Salzman, 60, 931 Packard St., inspector in the Appleton Police Department since 1964, died Wednesday afternoon while visiting a daughter in Lufkin, Texas. He had a history of heart trouble.

Salzman, who held the department's No. 2 position, had more years of service than any other man on the force. He joined the department in 1936, was promoted to sergeant in 1941, to lieutenant in 1943, to captain in 1958 and was named inspector in 1964. He served as acting police chief for a while in 1962.

He was born July 2, 1906 in Shawano County and was graduated from high school in 1925 and from county normal in 1926. He attended numerous police schools, including the Police Administrator's School in Madison in 1963.

He was employed as a baker for nine years before joining the police department.

Survivors are the widow, a son and two daughters.

Heavy Spending Pressure Likely to Reduce Figure Greatly in Next 8 Months

MADISON (AP) — The $68.4 million budget surplus for the first half of the current biennium announced by Gov. Warren P. Knowles is expected to be rapidly deflated by higher spending pressures in the next eight months.

The Republican governor, campaigning for re-election, released figures Wednesday from a state agency report boosting the projected estimate of leftover cash by more than $10 million.

This would give the state an $18.6 million cushion in its general treasury at the end of the present spending period June 30, 1967, Knowles said.

Difference Common

The huge difference between the surpluses after the first half of the biennium and at the end of the two-year period is customary in Wisconsin, said Wayne McGown, director of the Bureau of Management.

He said the only surprising thing was the $10 million extra that is expected to be left over.

State agencies usually spend more in the second year of the biennium than the first, McGown said, but the Legislature has to provide a tax program on a two-year basis.

"The higher surplus that results at the end of the first year is used to meet the higher expenditures of the second year," he said.

Need Surplus

McGown pointed out anticipated revenue for the present fiscal year would not be able to meet the soaring costs of state agencies unless there was a surplus.

"Without the new taxes approved by the Legislature this session, we would be in the hole at the end of the biennium," he said.

Knowles, in making the announcement, said the decrease in the surplus at the end of the biennium will be partly due to the Legislature which passed several spending bills during its spring session without providing new revenues to finance them.

Among those proposed which the governor signed into law were an $11.2 million program for aid to local schools, a $1.9 million tax relief for the aged appropriation, a $4.2 million civil service pay plan hike, and deficiency appropriations of $3.2 million for the State Department of Public Instruction and $1.5 million for old age health assistance.

Johnson Heads For More Talks For Democrats

President Appeals For Reverse Voters' Racial Backlash

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, drawing large crowds on a campaign tour of New York City, headed for more stumping today after issuing an appeal against white backlash.

Addressing an Italian-American audience in Brooklyn Wednesday night — it was Columbus Day — Johnson reminded his listeners that "it hasn't been too many years since Italian-Americans have felt the raw pain of discrimination right here in America."

In his first appeal of this sort since "backlash" began figuring as an election-year issue, Johnson said:

Helping Hand

"For those other Americans who are now feeling that need for fairness to all, regardless of religion, ancestry or race, I ask those of you who have crossed over the river to extend to them a helping hand."

The response was cheers from the dinner audience in Brooklyn's Hotel St. George.

Johnson stayed overnight in Manhattan so he could meet today with Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist prime minister of Laos.

En route back to Washington, where he holds an afternoon news conference, Johnson scheduled a campaign appearance at Wilmington, Del.

In four formal speeches in the New York area, the President was an unrestrained partisan — seeking Democratic votes in the Nov. 8 election — until his final appearance before the Italian-American Professional and Businessman's Association.

10-Minute Speech

Johnson spoke only 10 minutes — it was his shortest speech of the day — then left the dining hall but turned the spotlight over to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who had been billed in advance as the speaker of the evening.

It was the first time since the

'Serious Obstacle'

Soviets Say China Could Stop War

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin angrily charged today that Red China has prevented world communism from putting "a quick end" to U.S. military actions in Viet Nam.

He spoke at a Soviet-Polish friendship meeting in Sverdlovsk, in the Urals.

"Had American imperialism encountered the joint rebuff of all countries of socialism, their united policy, then it is doubtless that a quick end would have been put to its outrages in Viet Nam and the aggression would be cut short," he said.

Serious Obstacle

"China's position has become a serious obstacle in the struggle for this sacred cause."

Kosygin was quoted by the official Soviet news agency Tass as saying Moscow was providing Hanoi with "considerable additional assistance" to meet "the needs created by the new phase of the American aggression."

"Military personnel for the armed forces of North Viet Nam are being trained in the Soviet Union," he said.

Kosygin made the speech during a visit to the Soviet Union by Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka and other Polish officials for talks on Viet Nam and Red China.

Big Service

Kosygin accused Peking of rendering "a big service to American imperialists, to all the enemies of socialism, to the enemies of peace and progress."

Summarizing part of Kosygin's speech, Tass reported:

"The Soviet prime minister said the events in China associated with the so-called 'great cultural revolution,' and other recent developments indicated that the Chinese leaders were proceeding further and further along the road of division, and were causing serious damage by their policy to the struggle for socialism, for the freedom of the peoples, to the cause of peace and international security."

Five Killed in Plane Crash

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A troop-carrier plane from Dyess Air Force Base here crashed and burned Wednesday night in a brushy pasture. Five men apparently were killed.

A passing trucker pulled one survivor from the wreckage on the 6666 Ranch about 75 miles northwest of Abilene.

Ground Action Quiet

McNamara Flies Over Battle Area Pounded by Attacks by Big B52s

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers pounded the demilitarized zone again today and a few hours later Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara flew along the southern edge of the zone, inspecting the rugged Marine battlefront and taking a look at North Viet Nam.

On the fighting fronts, only small ground actions were reported, but U.S. airmen gave North Viet Nam no respite from destructive bombing. Three American planes were reported shot down, one in the north and two in the south.

White Horse

The last 2,000 of South Korea's White Horse Division arrived in South Viet Nam to swell the Korean force to 45,000 men, the second largest of the six foreign contingents fighting alongside the South Vietnamese.

A record number of captives in Operation Irving pushed enemy losses last week to 2,129 killed or captured—compared with 1,342 the week before—while allied combat dead or missing increased by a third to 314, the allied commands reported. The U.S. Command said 91 Americans were killed, 604 were wounded and 17 were missing, compared with 99 dead, 642 wounded and 12 missing the week before.

McNamara wound up his four-day visit to Viet Nam with a helicopter and plane tour of several battle sectors after spending the night on the 7th Fleet carrier Oriskany.

Returns to Capital

The Pentagon chief flew for 50 minutes just south of the demilitarized zone where for more than two months U.S. Marines have fought to stem the infiltration of North Vietnamese army regulars into the south.

McNamara returns tonight to Washington.

Only a few hours before the secretary viewed the demilitarized zone from his helicopter, B52s flew in from Guam to bomb the much-battered buffer area separating North and South Viet Nam.

The eight-engine bombers, making their 15th raid on the demilitarized zone since July 30, unloaded tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, bivouac and storage areas in the southern half of the six-mile-wide zone, the U.S. Command said.

The plane lost over the north was a Navy A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Oriskany. It was the 398th plane reported lost over North Viet Nam.

The U.S. Command reported

Darlington Man Dies in Collision

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a young Darlington man in a two-car collision on a rain-swept highway Wednesday night pushed Wisconsin's record-setting traffic fatality pace to 850 for the year.

At this time in 1964, when the all-time high of 1,059 deaths recorded, the toll was 836, and a year ago on this date 786 persons had died.

Donald D. Hendrickson, 23, of Darlington died in a Monroe hospital Wednesday night shortly after the car he was driving was involved in a crash with another car on a wet highway near Monroe. Robert E. Tschudy, 49, a Monroe alderman who was in the other car, was hospitalized overnight with injuries.

Ask Corrective Legislation

Valley City Officials Support Maier Tax Inequity Drive

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — City officials from the Green Bay and Appleton regions intend to follow in Milwaukee's footsteps and ask the State Legislature to correct tax distribution inequities.

This was assurred here today by the comments of mayors and council members attending the annual conference of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Milwaukee Mayor Henry W. Maier Wednesday asked other cities in the state to join to fight "tax islands" which he claimed are draining cities of their tax base.

Maier told confernce delegates suburban and township infringements are no longer just a Milwaukee problem, and representatives of other cities agreed.

Green Bay Mayor

Mayor Donald Tilleman, Green Bay, said his city found itself in the same situation as Milwaukee and praised the stand taken by Maier.

"At this point it is our intention to include some sort of a referendum question on the ballot in November, if it's not too late, to let the people voice their protest against the present income tax sharing formula," Tilleman said.

"It is not fair for these 'tax islands' to be getting large shares of the income tax redistribution when it should be going to the cities in which these people earn their living," Tilleman added.

Campaign Issue

Tilleman said the present tax redistribution formula should become a campaign issue.

"From what I have seen of our situation and what has been said here at the conference by other city officials, I say Green Bay, Appleton and the others in the Valley are in the same boat with Milwaukee and should do something about it," Tilleman said.

Tilleman said if a referendum could not be put on the ballot next month, it would then be up to city officials to point out the inequities to the public.

"I am confident Green Bay will join Milwaukee on some sort of an action program," Tilleman said.

"There just has to be more revenue for cities and this can only come about through an improved state income reapportionment program."

Mayor George Buckley, Appleton, who will be completing his first six months in office next week, said there was no

Even Dems Confused

Humphrey's on Again Off Again Visit Is On

MADISON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is on his way to Wisconsin again in a campaign flip-flop that has left Democrats dizzy with efforts to unsnarl speaking schedules.

The latest development in the now-you-see-him, now-you-don't mixup of campaign arrangements came Wednesday when Humphrey's office in Washington confirmed that he would visit Sheboygan Oct. 23.

That announcement followed by only one day the official cancellation of Humphrey's Wisconsin trip planned for Oct. 25.

Aides to Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, the Democratic nominee for governor, were told that President Johnson's flight to the Far East would keep Humphrey in Washington and make it impossible to fulfill the proposed trip to Whitewater, Madison and Sheboygan.

Surprised Lucy

The new date for a visit was a surprise even to Lucey's staff, which has been handling the top-level campaign plans. And at Democratic state headquarters down the street, one official said, "I didn't even know the Vice President had been planning to come the 25th."

Lucey's office learned of the Oct. 23 appearance from newsmen who obtained confirmation of a report from aides to Rep. John A. Race, D-Wis., that the Vice President planned a Sheboygan appearance on behalf of the freshman congressman.

A lieutenant to Lucey was unable to commit the nominee immediately to being able to attend the Sheboygan showing and said, "We've already got quite a full schedule for that day."

The Vice President will be coming to the aid of Race in his efforts to keep a seat seized from the Republicans in the landslide of 1964.

Follows Nixon

Humphrey will be following in the footsteps of former vice president Richard M. Nixon, who spoke in Sheboygan for Race's Republican rival, Oshkosh Assemblyman William Steiger, last month.

Humphrey's original cancellation was based on directions from President Johnson to stay mostly in Washington while the chief executive is gone Oct. 17

No Food Increase

World Population Up 70 Million, U.N. Says

ROME (AP) — World population rose by 70 million in the past year without an increase in food to feed them. The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization said today there was an average of 2 per cent less food for everyone on earth.

This raised fears that the gap between population and food production would increase and that mankind is moving deeper into its worst hunger crisis.

FAO's report on the state of food and agriculture for 1965-66 found serious reductions in food output in parts of the world where malnutrition already is worst.

Complacency Dispelled

"Any remaining complacency about the food and agriculture situation must surely have been dispelled by the events of the past year," said Director General B.R. Sen.

"But for good harvests in North America, world production would almost certainly have declined. In fact, in each of the developing regions except the Near East, food production is estimated to have fallen by 2 per cent in total and 4 to 5 per cent on a per capita basis.

"The poor harvests of 1965-66 are all the more serious since they come, not in the midst of plenty, but after a long period in which production has only barely kept up with the rapidly mounting population.

"When millions of people are already inadequately nourished there is little if any

have been seen in 1,000 performances before 60 million persons in 45 foreign countries.

A Thunderbird spokesman said a show Saturday in Wichita Falls, Tex., would go on despite the crash — but maybe with five planes instead of six because there was nobody trained to replace Morgan.

The Thunderbirds, based at Nellis Air Force Base, practice over this less-populated area

On Sept. 2, a Navy jet of the Blue Angels aerial acrobatic team, performing at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, crashed and burned, killing the pilot

Eyewitness James Brooks of Indian Springs saw the planes crash

"Then there was smoke . . I saw the pilot eject I looked back to see the pilot and all he was doing was falling."

Sift Wreckage

Investigators began sifting through the wreckage The Air Force said a special board would meet to determine the cause

The dead men's teammates went into mourning. They would not talk to outsiders. Their commander, Lt. Col. Ralph J Maglione of Akron, Ohio, spent the day with the fliers' families. Each of the pilots left a widow and four children.

Only two months ago two other Thunderbirds collided over an auxiliary airfield here, 60 miles northwest of Las Vegas Both pilots ejected safely. The planes crashed.

Liethen, who joined the Thunderbirds last December, set out on a military career after graduating from Appleton High School in 1948.

Joined Air Force

Maj. Liethen enlisted in the Air Force in 1948 and was discharged the following year to attend the United States Naval Academy, from which he was graduated in 1953.

Accepting a commission in the regular Air Force, he completed pilot training at Marana AB, Ariz., and Williams AFB, Ariz., and F86 gunnery training at Nellis AFB, Nev. Upon completion of the gunnery course he was assigned to the 494th Fighter Bomber Squadron at Chaumont AB, France, where he flew the F86 and F100 for three years. He returned to the United States to attend the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, where he received his M.S. degree in electronics in 1959. He remained there for the next two years as fire control system engineer in the F105 system program office.

Research Pilot

In 1961 Maj. Liethen was selected to attend the USAF Aerospace Research Pilot School at Edwards AFB, Calif., and was chosen outstanding pilot and overall student in his class. After a year as a project officer in the research and development section of the USAF Fighter Weapons School at Nellis AFB, Nev., he returned to the Aerospace Research Pilot School and became an instructor. While there he flew an F104 Starfighter modified with a rocket engine to an altitude of 108,000 ft.

At 6 feet, 3 inches, he was too tall for the astronaut program, although members of the Mercury team also were in the same school at Edwards. While stationed in France he twice was forced to bail out of crippled planes, once at 25,000 feet over French Morocco and the other time at 1,400 feet near Munich, Germany.

The Thunderbirds had performed in Milwaukee Sept. 10 and 11. At that time Liethen said, "From where you're standing, what we do looks hair-raising and like it might be stunts, but it's not. It's just good basic flying that every fighter pilot does."

The team flew over Appleton and the northeastern area of Wisconsin Sept. 9 before the Milwaukee air show.

Liethen is survived by his widow, Charlotte; three daughters and a son, all at Nellis Air Force Base, where he was stationed.

His father, the late Frank Liethen Sr., president of the Liethen Corp., in Appleton died in 1955.

Prize for Medicine. They were Dr. Peyton Rous, 87, of the Rockefeller University, New York, and Dr. Charles B. Huggins, 66, of Chicago University Hospital.

Rous was awarded his prize for his discovery of tumor-inducing viruses and Huggins was cited for his discoveries concerning hormonal treatment of prostatic cancer, the awarding faculty of the Caroline Institute said.

They share the $60,000 prize.

Rous, a native of Baltimore, received his medical degree from Johns Hopkins University in 1900. Since 1909 he has been connected with the Rockefeler University, formerly known as Rockefeller Institute.

Huggins is a native of Halifax, N.S. He was graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1924 and holds degrees from several schools. He has been at the University of Chicago since 1927. He has been director of the Ben May Laboratory for Cancer Research since 1951.

War Claims First Victim Without Kin

WASHINGTON (AP) — For nine days the Army sought to locate any relatives of Spec 4 John F. Barzan. Failing, it buried him last Friday, the first American victim of the Viet Nam war for whom no next of kin could be found

The New York native, 40, was buried with simple military honors in the Long Island, N.Y., National Cemetery after the Army made what was described as an "administrative decision" on the rare case.

His mother, the only relative named in Barzan's service file, was last known to be in New York.

"We assumed that she would want him buried there, so we decided on the Long Island National Cemetery," a spokesman said

If relatives come forward and want the remains interred elsewhere, the spokesman said, the government will arrange it.

Barzan, a bachelor, died of heat prostration Sept. 25 while on a work detail of his unit the 127th Transport Company, near Cap Lai, South Viet Nam.

In its routine process of notifying next of kin of the dead, the Army sent a personal representative to the only address given for his mother, Margaret D Barzan of 2461 Amsterdam Ave., N.Y.

She had moved in 1958, leaving no forwarding address.

The Army turned to its master enlistment files at Ft Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and came up with an address of 3204 28th Ave., Astoria, N.Y.

This, too, proved negative

All of Barzen's personal belongings, including letters, were searched in a vain attempt to locate relatives or perhaps friends who could be of help

On Oct. 4 the search was dropped. Barzan's remains were flown to Dover Air Force Base, Del., the eastern arrival point for bodies of military men. On Oct. 7, the remains were shipped to the national cemetery

$1 Million In Cash Taken In Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Possibly $1 million in cash was in 15 mail bags stolen from the mail room at Montreal International Airport early today, a police spokesman said

Police in suburban Dorval near the airport said the bars surrounding the mailroom were cut at about 5 a.m. while employes were elsewhere in the building for their lunch period.

They said the bags that were stolen contained bills of various denominations destined to be delivered to chartered banks in Montreal.

assassination of President John F. Kennedy that a President and vice president had appeared together at a public gathering outside Washington.

Most of Johnson's earlier appearances, in Brooklyn, Staten Island and Nassau County, had featured a single theme: "Vote Democratic."

These efforts were made in behalf of Frank D. O'Connor, Democratic candidate for governor, and area Democratic House members.

For much of the day, the President was accompanied by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who spoke several times about the people's "great affection, great admiration" for Johnson.

The chief executive responded by calling Kennedy one of the greatest senators in New York history and "a strong right arm to the President."

Printers, Publishers Meet to Discuss Walkout in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Union printers meet again today to discuss their walkout against Pulitzer Publishing Co which has stopped the presses at the city's two major newspapers with combined circulation of more than 650,000.

The company publishes the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and prints the St. Louis Globe-Democrat under contract.

The walkout, which began Tuesday night when a shift of composing-room printers refused to report for work, was termed "an illegal action" Wednesday by Elmer Brown, president of the International Typographical Union, in Colorado Springs, Colo.

margin against the effects of a bad season."

The FAO report said international trade, and particularly the huge grain imports by the Soviet Union and mainland China, had reduced the formerly huge grain surpluses of North America "to their lowest level in well over a decade."

"Thus," Sen said, "the world food situation is now more precarious than at any time since the period of acute shortage immediately after the second World War. Because of the depletion of stocks the world has become much more dependent on current production, and hence on weather conditions.

"It is therefore with some anxiety that we await the outcome of the 1966-67 harvests."

FAO reported that while per person production throughout the world dropped by 2 per cent in 1965-66, production rose 4 per cent in North America and about 1 per cent in Western Europe. There were slight losses in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. Per-person production dropped 4 to 5 per cent in the developing regions of Africa, Latin America and the Far East.

The report said these estimates indicated that food per person in the regions where it was most needed had dropped "back to the same inadequate level of before the second World War."

Welfare Board Asks Fourth State Colony For Mentally Retarded

MADISON (AP) — A fourth state colony for the mentally retarded was proposed Wednesday by the Board of Public Welfare when it approved its estimated building requirement for 1969-73.

Wilbur Schmidt, director of the department, stressed that plans for the $10.3 million colony are only tentative and its eventual construction depends on the adequacy of other programs and facilities.

the loss of two F100 Supersabers over South Viet Nam Wednesday both shot down by Viet Cong groundfire. Both pilots were rescued unhurt.

McNamara watched Wednesday night as pilots from the Oriskany took off to raid targets in North Viet Nam. Later, it was announced one of the Navy pilots failed to return.

McNamara told the Oriskany's officers: "As secretary of defense, I am very proud of your performance. As a citizen, I am very grateful to you."

Early today he flew from the carrier, about 100 miles off North Viet Nam, to forward Marine headquarters at Dong Ha, about 15 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Uncover Plot

A Saigon newspaper reported the South Vietnamese government had uncovered a plot to assassinate the defense secretary, but there was no immediate confirmation. The Saigon Daily News, quoting "police sources," said several arrests had been made and "security officials were not unduly upset because of precautions that had been made beforehand."

On the political front, the revolt of Cabinet ministers from the southern provinces of Viet Nam appeared to have been put on ice until after the Manila summit conference on Viet Nam.

Informed sources said five ministers who submitted their resignations had agreed to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's request that they issue no public statements so the South Vietnamese could presented a united front at Manila. But the sources said the ministers insisted that their resignations remain on Ky's desk.

The revolt stems from the resentment of southern members of the Cabinet over the domination of the government by natives of North Viet Nam or the northern provinces of South Viet Nam. Ky and other northerners hold the most powerful posts.

Valley City Officials Support Maier Tax Inequity Complaint

question about Milwaukee's case.

"I agree with Mayor Maier and the other mayors here that we have to bring our case to the Legislature because a drastic correction is needed," Buckley said.

Buckley contended cities were in more of need of tax revenue than the low tax-rate suburbs or "tax islands."

Buckley said the stand against "tax islands" tied in with his recommendation for Appleton to start wholesale annexations as soon as possible.

"If Mayor Maier wants to go directly to the legislature, I for one will be happy to accompany him and state the case for the City of Appleton, also," Buckley added.

Others Agree

Several mayors, who traditionally have been critical of Milwaukee and referred to it as being "a separate state," admitted they agreed.

Clarence F. Vandermus, chairman of the Green Bay Council's Finance Committee, said, "Let's face it — Green Bay, Appleton and other growing cities in the Fox Valley have been taken advantage of by people earning their living in the city yand having their income taxes going to rural areas, creating these tax islands."

"I am in complete agreement with those who advocate changing the tax redistribution system," Vandermus said, "and I hope to bring this matter to the attention of our city council for formal action."

Not Just Milwaukee

Ald. William Erickson (3rd), Menasha, said: "Mayor Maier was on the ball with what he said. I agree with his philosophy and feel the problem is not only confined to Milwaukee. The present tax system is hurting Menasha and other cities in the region while helping the 'tax islands.'"

Several Appleton aldermen also commented, including:

—Ald. Paul Klemmer (11th) — "The problems of Milwaukee I find are similar to Appleton and several other state cities. We are finding ourselves also surrounded by 'tax islands.'"

—Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) — "I was hoping the cities would start getting together on the idea of doing something about the tax inequity. We and Green Bay are practically in the same boat — surrounded by high tax income towns."

—Ald. John Ayers (12th) — "I'm in favor of taking the same stand as Milwaukee and getting tax relief wherever possible."

—Ald. Roland Voss (4th) — "There is no doubt a better tax distribution program is needed, but I don't know what the solution might be. Somebody is going to have to work that out."

The President's overseas trip made his appearance in the state highly unlikely.

Judge's Birthday Tippling Time

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Thirty-three prisoners sang their way out of jail.

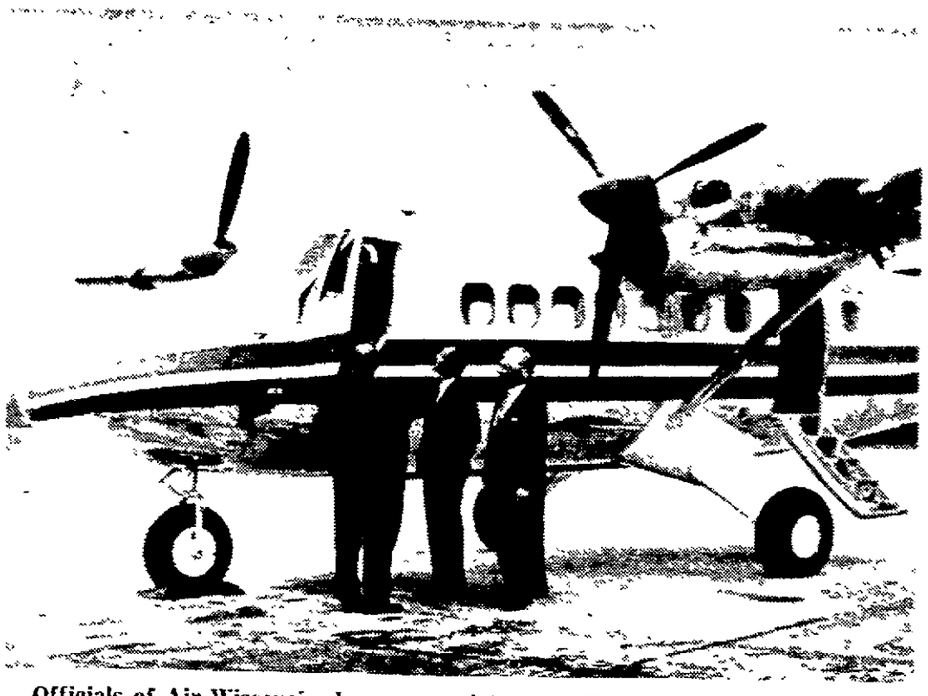

Brought before Police Judge William Colson Wednesday, the prisoners — some wearing paper party hats — burst into the strains of "Happy Birthday."

Later, Mayor Kenneth Schmied passed out cake to the prisoners, who had been arrested on drunkenness charges.

Finally, they were called before Colson, who dismissed the charges because Wednesday was his 47th birthday.

American Can Sets Top Earning Record

$59,380,000 Netted During First Nine Months, Up 13 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 13— The American Can Co. smashed all sales and earnings records for the third quarter and the first nine months of 1966, it was announced today.

William F. May, chairman and chief executive officer of American Can told the Washington Society of Investment Analysts here today that:

"American Can has established higher net earnings for the first nine months of 1966 than those of any comparable period in its history, while thrid quarter earnings this year set a record for any one quarter in the corporation's 65 years of operation."

19 Per Cent Increase

Net earnings for the fist nine months of 1966 were $59,300,000, an increase of 19 per cent over the $49,924,000 reported for the same period of 1965.

Third quarter net earnings of $24,785,000 were 13 per cent higher than the $21,855,000 for the same period last year.

Sales for the nine-month period of 1966 were the highest ever — $1,039,224,000, an increase of 9 per cent over the $953,626,000 reported for the same period in 1965.

Third quarter sales in 1966 were $384,684,000 — establishing an all-time quarterly sales record — an increase of 8 per cent over the $357,389,000 reported for the same period last year.

Previous Record

American's previous quarterly sales record was set in 1959, with $362,744,000 reported for the third quarter.

Records were also established in earnings per common share: $3.48 was reported for the first nine months of 1966, a 19 per cent increase over the $2.92 for the same period last year. The third quarter figure of $1.46 compares with $1.29 for the same period in 1965, an increase of 13 per cent.

Mr. May attributed a major portion of the current record performance to American's shift to a one-company, market-oriented concept of operations in the three major categories of business in which it is presently engaged: packaging and container products, consumer and industrial paper products, and chemical products.

I-S Favors Vocational Area for Valley

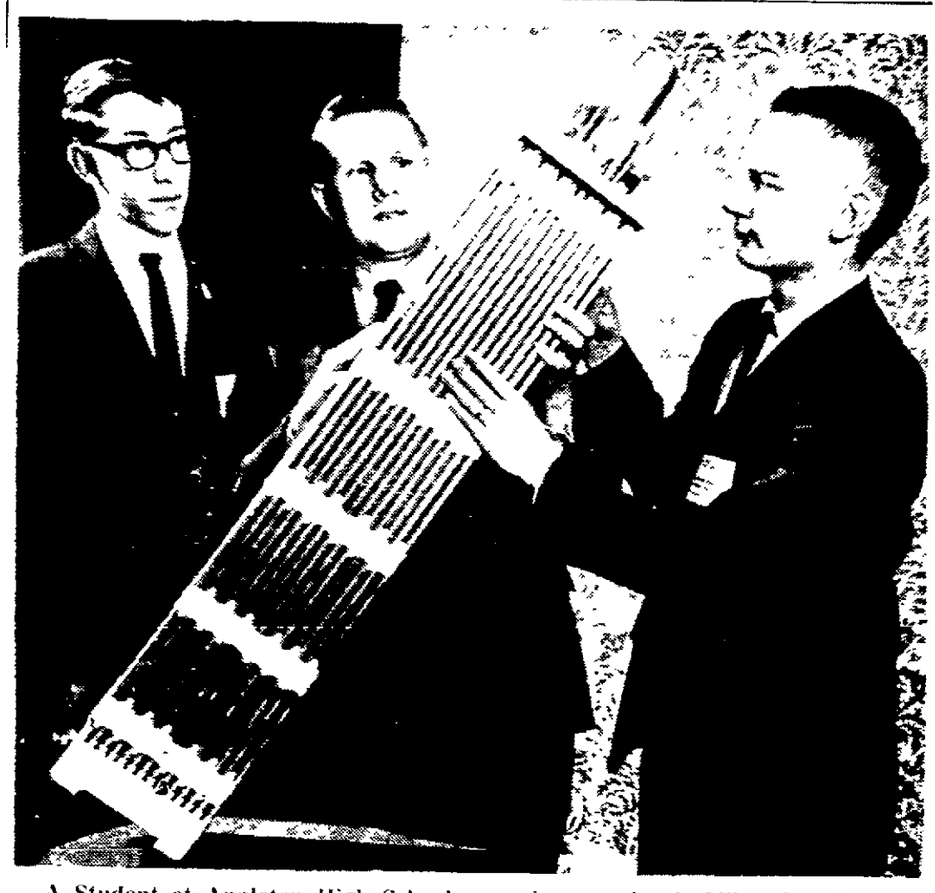

Opposes Districts Formed by County, Town Boundaries

IOLA — School board members voted Monday to submit a resolution requesting the Iola-Scandinavia district be placed in the Fox Valley Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education District.

Board members have previously reviewed various proposals and attended hearings relative to Wisconsin statutes, which require all school districts to be in a vocational district by July 1, 1970.

Advantages of joining the proposed Fox Valley District included the high valuation of the proposed district to support a vocational school at a low cost to the taxpayers. A firm district is proposed which has formed its boundaries on school district lines rather than by county lines; the major portion of schools in Waupaca County have also voted to accept the proposed district; better opportunity for job placement of students attending due to the industrialization of the area; and the tendancy of local persons to use

Municipalities Conference Seeks $2 License Fee Hike

Post-Crescent News Service

MILWAUKEE — Chances are better than even that you will be paying $20 instead of $18 for your annual car license in Wisconsin after 1967.

The prediction comes from ranking members of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities and some state legislators attending the annual conference here.

However, if the license fee is to be boosted, it will come from some sort of legislation which will enable municipalities to tack on an additional $2.

It would be tied in with the state license fee setup, which many government officials say, is in need of revision.

License Increase

Mayor Eugene Hammond, Kenosha, chairman of the finance and taxation committee says the license increase is one of the recommendations of the league committee on finance and taxation.

With the theme of the three-day meet here on "Financing Municipal Government," Hammond outlined tax recommendations that could apply directly in most cases to the property owner the same as the sales tax credit refund.

"Our study shows that Wisconsin motor vehicles are the lowest taxed in almost all the states." Forty-two others levy higher fees, Hammond said.

He said the license fee hike would be a logical revenue raiser but made no estimate on the additional income.

Hammond said due to spiraling municipal operating costs including schools, "taxpayers are getting little or no relief from the $53 billion disbursed annually to communities as their share of the sales tax refund."

He said this was so after comparing what tax rates were prior to the time when the refund came into being.

Hammond said his committee would have recommendations before the general assembly Friday calling for a more adequate shared taxes and aids to local government.

"We have to expand the present state income tax sharing system to take the load off the local property owner," Hanson said. A cross section opinion poll of League delegates would indicate the higher license fee appears inevitable.

Jury Deliberating in Armed Burglary Case

Appleton Native Figures in Circuit Court Action; Verdict Expected Later Today

Twelve Circuit Court jurors at 11:15 a.m. today began deliberating the guilt or innocence of a 24-year-old Appleton native charged with attempted armed burglary of the Maritime Tavern.

The jury recessed for lunch shortly after noon. Their verdict, expected this afternoon, must be unanimous.

Two full days of testimony in the trial ended late Wednesday afternoon, with the calling of four defense witnesses, including Krull and Warren (Pepper) Schroeder, 19, who was to have stood trial with Krull on an identical charge but who changed his plea to guilty Tuesday.

Closing Arguments

An hour and 45 minutes were required this morning for closing arguments by the state and the defense.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer told jurors it was the state's position that Krull "aided and abetted" in the attempted burglary in that he drove Schroeder to the Maritime Tavern, then served as a "lookout" while the offense was being committed.

Allan Cain, Krull's attorney, argued that the state's entire case was developed around Schroeder, and when he changed his plea to guilty, the state no longer had a strong case.

Cain made unsuccessful tries to have the case dismissed Wednesday — one at noon and the other at the conclusion of testimony. Both requests were denied by Circuit Judge Andrew Parnell.

Not on Premises

Schroeder, called to the courtroom from the jail where he is being held in lieu of posting bond, while awaiting sentence, testified that Krull was not on the Maritime Tavern premises when the burglary attempt allegedly occurred early Aug. 21.

On examination by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, Schroeder said Krull went to a nearby cafe, while he (Schroeder) attempted the burglary, then fled when a policeman spotted him from a squad car.

Krull denied being involved in the burglary attempt with Schroeder, denied he remarked later that he saw Schroeder "get caught" in the headlights

Appleton Man Dies After Rescue Treatment

Elmer Hinzman, 51, 1506 E. Glendale Ave., collapsed at his home about 7:30 a.m. today and died after artificial resuscitation efforts by the Appleton fire department rescue squad failed. The rescue squad administered artificial resuscitation for 28 minutes before Hinzman was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Milwaukee Entertainer Pleads Innocent of Disorderly Conduct

A Milwaukee entertainer, arrested early Saturday morning after she allegedly was involved in a disturbance with an Outagamie County deputy, Tuesday pleaded innocent of disorderly conduct.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Kelier set April 12 for trial for Mrs. Cecelia B. Hardy. Her attorney indicated he would request a jury trial. The woman was freed under $150 bond.

She was arrested about 1:30 a.m. Saturday after authorities said she became involved in a disturbance with a deputy at Mr. Roberts.

Appleton police assisted in the investigation.

Speaks at Lawrence Convocation

Bishop Pike Rejects Faith in 'Crystallized' Church Dogma

Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike, who resigned a bishopric post Wednesday, says he will continue his efforts to bring the church "dragging and kicking into the 20th century."

"The church is affirming too many doctrines," he said. "Some of the things we're affirming just aren't so; others that are so aren't relevant, and others that are relevant are unimportant."

"Classical church doctrine," the bishop added, "is being corrupted by geocentric parochialism, by the ridiculous assumption that there are certain things."

Bishop Pike spoke at a convocation this morning at the Lawrence University Memorial Chapel and affirmed previously published statements attributed to him that he is a liberal — one of too few, he apparently believes — and a leader in the ecumenical movement.

Bishop Pike tendered his resignation at a talk in North Carolina Wednesday, preferring to continue preaching his doctrines rather than trying to "administrate" others into believing them. He had been auxiliary bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of California.

Three Doctrines

Bishop Pike said there are only three doctrines which he freely and absolutely believes: the existence of God, of eternal life and of a servantile life which everyone lives in.

There is entirely too much emphasis on traditional church doctrine, he said, rather than an attempt by individuals to examine data and make honest affirmations of faith from them.

He refuted attempts by others to assume things which cannot be proved. The existence of beauty, love, grace, virtue and the like might lead to the assumption that there is a universe, he said, and even that there is a God. "However I cannot go from there and assume that God is omnipotent, omnipresent, omniscient, omni-this and omni-that."

He added as an aside that he believes God to be all those things, but this should not be made a blind assumption.

Eternal Life

He compared the idea to an assumption that because it is assumed he has more than $5, he also is a millionaire. "This is what Christians today are doing," Bishop Pike said.

The bishop added that his feeling on the existence of eternal life. "The reason I do a "traditional concepts of heaven and hell which leave people in infinite bliss and interminable torment."

"After death I will be me," he said. "God is not going to suddenly remove the barriers and blocks which have been around me all my life and make me a free person. I will not affirm some of these unverifiable things."

He felt the servantile life is closely tied to his theories of eternal life. "The erason I do a thing," he professed, "is because I'm supposed to do it now and not in order to get to heaven. Now is the time." There should be no reason for adding on to one's actions all sorts of traditional church reasons, he said.

Considers Action

Bishop Pike has been accused of heresy by, among others, Bishop Henry Louttit of Florida. He said in a press conference before the convocation that he has been considering taking "legal or ecclesiastical" action against the Florida bishop for libeling him.

He added that the heresy

Fox River Line Announces New Bus Schedule

Appleton-Kimberly Services Daily From 5:45 a.m.-6:30 p.m.

Bus service from Appleton to the Village of Kimberly started today by Fox River Bus Lines, Inc. under authorization of the Public Service Commission.

The new service will result in a change in the W. College Avenue service which was initiated earlier this week under a temporary permit from the PSC.

Under the new service, which runs daily from 5:45 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., except Sundays and holidays, the bus will leave the intersection of College and Oneida Street in Appleton at 5:45 a.m., and go to Maes Avenue and Washington Street in Kimberly. It will leave Kimberly at 6 a.m., stopping at College and Oneida again at 6:15 and then will head west to the College Avenue extension, turning around at the W. College Avenue shopping center area at 6:30 a.m.

All Kimberly starts are scheduled on the hour throughout the day with the last one at 6 p.m. while all starts from the W. College Avenue turnaround are on the half hour, the last at 6:30 p.m.

Burning Leaves Busy Appleton Firemen; Get 7 Calls in Day

Appleton firemen were called to extinguish seven leaf fires during a 12-hour period Wednesday.

A run was made to the 300 block of W. Summer Street at 10:43 p.m. Upon arrival firemen noticed a second fire in the 400 block of W. Summer.

The department also rushed to leaf fires at:

Bennett and Oklahoma Streets at 19:03 p.m.; Erb Park at 8:39 p.m.; 1718 S. Peabody St. at 7:12 p.m.; Jackson and Taft Streets at 5:57 p.m.; Telulah and Calumet Streets at 5:16 p.m.; and 1122 W. Commercial St. at 10:50 a.m.

Causes of the fires were generally undetermined.

Pledges of Money Reach $2,000

Striking Migrant Workers Harvest Support From Wisconsin AFL-CIO

MADISON (AP) — Striking migrant workers in central Wisconsin's potato fields have harvested organized labor's support in their demands for better pay, housing and working conditions.

Nearly 70 migrants have been on the picket lines for nearly a week in the Almond and Plainfield areas. The Wisconsin AFL-CIO threw solid support to the warehouse workers Wednesday at its Madison convention.

Contributions and pledges of money from the parent organization and at least a half dozen locals approached an estimated $2,000. The help did not stop with the money.

By a rousing vote, delegates adopted a resolution condemning conditions under which migrants work and live, and established a unit entitled the "Farm Workers' Assistance Committee."

Sought Recognition

The resolution charged that migratory workers in the potato processing sheds were forced to go on strike to gain recognition and added:

"The intolerable working conditions and living conditions these and other farm workers are forced to endure are a disgrace to the progressive and prosperous state of Wisconsin which no longer can be tolerated by an affluent society which has the resources to wipe out intolerable and unsanitary conditions as well as economic and social exploitation of these workers."

The committee is directed to help farm worker organizational efforts.

The action came after an emotional appeal for help was delivered by Jesus Salas, a college student from Wautoma and militant leader last summer of migrant workers seeking more pay and other benefits.

Efforts Fruitless

Salas, who led an 80-mile protest march on foot from Wautoma to Madison in August, said efforts of migrants to get state help were fruitless.

"We were promised representation on the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor but we have been given none," he complained.

"This was nothing more than a political football," he added.

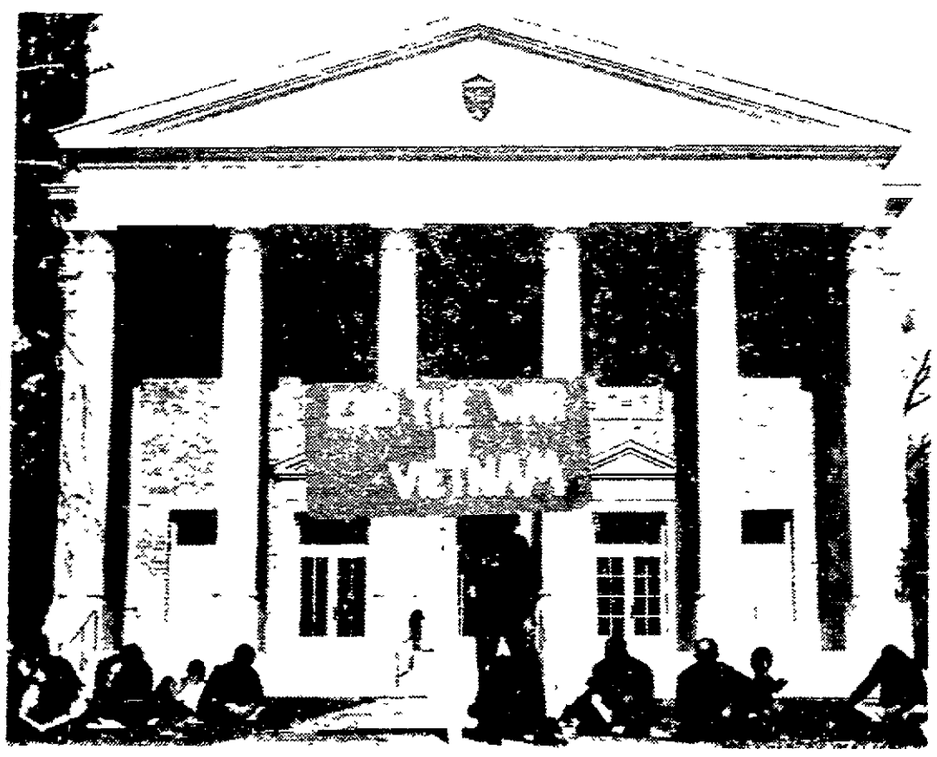

He said he was told that Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who makes appointments to the committee, would not be able to make selections until after the November election.

A special aide to Knowles has recommended a $22 a day minimum family wage for migrants. Knowles relayed the suggestion to the Industrial Commission. At his last news conference the governor said he had not heard from the commission.

'Shame' on State

In turning the speaker's stand over to Salas, George Haberman, veteran president of the AFL - CIO, called the workers' plight "a shame on the Wisconsin record that will be corrected if we support the strikers."

When Salas finished, Haberman turned over to him a check for $500. Checks and pledges from affiliates in $100 to $200 amounts followed. Delegates poured in bills as makeshift cardboard collection boxes were passed through the convention.

About 25 Lawrence University students conducted a silent protest against the Viet Nam war during a vigil in front of the school's memorial chapel Wedday afternoon. The vigil, according to a spokesman, will be resumed for one hour, beginning each Wednesday noon. The students—male and female—spent the hour Wednesday studying on the chapel lawn. It is hoped, the spokesman said, the movement will pick up more supporters next Wednesday. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Drivers Injured As Autos Collide Near Bear Creek

Ruth M. Meyer, 46, route 1, Black Creek, and William C. Bernetzke, 62, 1211 S. Sixth St., West DePere, were injured at about 5 p.m. Tuesday when the cars they were driving were involved in an accident at the intersection of State Road and Weyers Roads, Black Creek.

The woman injured reportedly received arm and knee injuries. Bernetzke sustained back and right arm injuries according to Outagamie County traffic reports.

The Black Creek woman told police she was driving west on Weyers Road, slowed at the intersection and did not see approaching traffic. Bernetzke was driving north on State Road.

Police estimated a total of $1,500 damage to the vehicles.

Fox Cities

New Map Available at Post-Crescent Offices

Availability of completely new, fully re-platted and re-indexed Fox Cities maps was announced this week by Fred W. Schweikher, promotion manager of The Post-Crescent.

The map, which includes detailed platting of Kaukauna, Combined Locks, Kimberly, Little Chute, Neenah, Menasha and Appleton, has been completely revised to include streets, avenues and developments constructed since the former maps were first produced in 1963. It also heavily outlines completed and proposed freeways through and around the Fox Cities.

The "Guide to the Fox Cities" includes alphabetical listings of the streets of each community and information regarding the numbering systems of the cities. There is even a designation as to the approximate location of the new Outagamie County airport as well as the airport's distance from U. S. Highway 41.

Prepared and produced by Clarkson Map Co., Kaukauna, for The Post-Crescent, the guide map measures 35 by 28 inches and its brilliant coloring makes it an attractive subject for framing.

Because of the higher production cost, Schweikher announced that price of the maps also had to be increased. The maps now sell for 75 cents with a $1 charge if mailed. A special discount will be offered on purchases of 100 or more maps.

The Fox Cities guide maps are available at the Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Appleton offices of The Post-Crescent and at the Twin City News-Record.

No Progress Made In Strike at Gilbert

Impasse Goes Into 37th Day; No New Date Scheduled

MENASHA — Hope for an immediate settlement in the 36-day Gilbert Paper Co strike continues to appear dim this morning following eight hours of contract negotiations Wednesday

Company and union officials along with Peter Simon of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, Green Bay office adjourned the talks at 5 p.m. and no new date for conferences was set

The six-man union bargaining committee and the three-man contingent from the company which includes two Gilbert representatives and one from Mead Corp Gilbert's parent company, were at the conference table in the Menasha Hotel from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., with a half-hour off for lunch

Sunday work, which was one of the major points in the recent Kimberly-Clark Corp walkout, is one of the issues facing the negotiators

Other items which have divided the two parties since the old contract expired on June 30 include a mandatory overtime clause, a retroactive clause, vacation work, an expiration date change for the contract, a management rights clause, as well as fringe benefits, wages and working conditions.

The strike was called on the day after Labor Day, Sept 6, and affects about 400 workers and their families.

Simon last met with company and union representatives on Sept 26 but no apparent progress was made in bringing the strike to an end

The contract between Gilbert Paper Co., a division of Mead Corp., and Local 477 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO, expired on June 30 Members of the union voted to reject the company's final offer on Aug 30 and the walkout began a week later

Picketing has continued on a 24-hour basis in front of the plant on Ahnaip Street since that time.

A union spokesman said about 250 members were involved in strike duty on three-hour shifts at the location. The Menasha Eagles hall is the strike headquarters for Local 477.

It is estimated that more than 10 per cent of the employes have already taken other permanent jobs in the area. Many others are holding temporary or part-time employment.

The economic effect of the strike hasn't been determined although some area businesses have reported a slight decline in sales of major items

The pickets receive $20 per week but many have found outside jobs to supplement their income. The shortage of workers in the Twin Cities has provided opportunities for the strikers but many feel the situation could change when seasonal employment drops off in the late fall.

Lucey Woos Support of City Leaders

Tells Convention Local Governments On Brink of Ruin

Post Crescent News Service

MILWAUKEE — Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey — attempting to woo support for his governorship bid from leaders of Wisconsin's cities and villages — didn't have all the answers for the questions here Wednesday.

"Wisconsin's local governments are on the brink of financial ruin," Lucey told delegates to the League of Wisconsin Municipalities conference at the Sheraton-Schroeder Hotel.

However, during a question period following his short address, the Democratic candidate for governor dodged inquiries on what he would propose and said he would have platform statements later covering tax and other problems

Must Find Revenue

Lucey echoed the statements of other speakers, mayors, aldermen and elected city officials from throughout the state, when he said the time had come to find alternate sources of revenue for local governments.

He agreed with several points made by Mayor Henry Maier of Milwaukee on income tax redistribution reform but did not give blanket endorsement to the mayor's proposals.

Lucey pledged that, if elected, local governments would have the support of state government, something he charged, they do not have now.

He advocated creation of a "state department of urban affairs," not for just helping cities obtain revenues but to also coordinate programs and provide counsel and technical help to municipalities.

Lucey said urban renewal has generally been considered a national or federal government matter, and claimed it has been ignored on the state level.

He also proposed creation of a high-level "Commission on Urban Renewal" to help cities get the most out of their resources.

Lucey said the state government should play a vital role in helping local government in the areas of urban renewal, comprehensive planning and development of recreation resources.

Claiming the present Republican administration has been lax, Lucey said, "State government can and must do more to support local governments. . . ."

Gov. Knowles will address the League Friday.

First Community Concert Will be Dancing Mosaic

New Dimension in Ballet to be Presented in Series Oct. 24

NEENAH - MENASHA — Ballet will take on a new dimension in the first concert of the Neenah-Menasha Community Concert series 8 p.m. Oct. 24 in the Menasha High School auditorium.

"Four Go Dancing" is a combination of classical ballet, the Charleston, the soft-shoe, the fox trot and jazz, woven into a tapestry of color, art and energy by Walter Terry, distinguished dance critic who will act as a narrator

An accolade of praise has been heaped upon the lead dancers, Michael Maule and Colleen Corkre, for their ballet dancing, choreography and musical comedy. Guest artists Thatcher Clarke and Jeanne-Marie Aubert have earned reputations in this country and abroad.

Michael Maule is considered one of the foremost dancers performing today. Studying dance at the age of six, Maule has starred in the New York City Ballet, the American Ballet Theatre and the Festival Ballet of London. His famous ballerina partners are a measure of his artistry. This year he appeared with the famed Patricia Wilde, and he has danced with Maria Talichief, Melissa Hayden, Alexandra Danilova, Marina Svetlova and Violette Vardy.

Colleen Corkre, his partner in "Four Go Dancing," began her training at four years of age and turned professional at 14.

In the three years, the team has danced it has toured Paris, Amsterdam, Copenhagen and Stockholm. A favorite of Broadway audiences, Corkre danced in "My Fair Lady," "Beg, Borrow or Steal" and "Happy Town." She is a favorite of summer theater and TV where she had been leading dancer in "Oklahoma," "Brigadoon," "South Pacific" and appeared in the "Ethel Merman Spectacular" and engagements on the Garry Moore Show.

French pianist, Jean-Paul Sevilla will perform in the second concert of the 1966-67 season on Feb 4 In 1947 he won the Prize of Honor at Oran, Algeria, the first of many awards he was to win including a double award one year at the Paris Conservatory.

Mezzo soprano Mildred Miller appears here on Feb. 28 Mendelssohn, Haydn, Brahms, Strauss, Rossini interpreted with ease by Miss Miller has a special charm whether she is singing in German, French or English The Metropolitan Opera star is warmly acclaimed for her voice and beauty whether performing Madame Butterfly in Tokyo or Carmen in Munich.

The final concert of the series brings the Kansas City Philharmonic to the Twin Cities. Hans Schwieger, conductor, has made the Philharmonic one of the most sought-after musical attractions in the nation.

Stormy Market Remains High

Tape Runs Late in Heaviest Trading; Fourth Day of Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—A turbulent stock market remained higher early this afternoon despite profit-taking Trading was the week's heaviest.

The ticker tape ran late as stocks pushed their recovery drive into the fourth straight session.

Many early gains were either pared or canceled. Losses of fractions to a point were spotted among gains that ran as much as 3 points or higher among glamor issues.

The follow through from Wednesday's rally was linked with hopes that this time the great stock market slide of 1966 had found a bottom. Analysts said, however, that last week's low would have to be "tested" before there would be any firm basis for such theory.

Dow Jones

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.68 at 762.85 The average backed away from a rise of 7.18 in the first half hour.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.9 at 282.3 with industrials up 2.4, rails up 1.2 and utilities up 1.1.

Gains of 3 points were held by Polaroid and IBM Raytheon and Eastman Kodak were up about 2 each.

American Can, which reported record quarterly earnings, was up a point or better.

Gains of a point or more were held by RCA, Sears Roebuck, Goodrich, Phelps Dodge, Eastern and Pan American airlines, Schering, Pfizer, Texaco and Baltimore & Ohio.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in heavy trading.

Fox, Wolf Rivers Close November 1

MENASHA — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announced today the navigation season on the Lower Fox and the Wolf River will officially close at midnight Tuesday, Nov. 1.

The Corps will shut down operations of the locks and movable bridges from De Pere upriver on the Fox to the mouth of the Wolf upriver to New London at that time.

The announcement was made by L. S. Kreger, chief of operations for the Chicago District of the Corps.

Freedom for Captive GI's Is Key Peace Term: Steiger

OMRO — The return of American prisoners held by the Communists must be "the first order of business" if an all-Asian peace conference is called, Assemblyman William A. Steiger said Wednesday.

The Oshkosh Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixth District remarked, "Hopefully, President Johnson's trip to Southeast Asia can lay the groundwork for an all-Asian peace conference" on the Viet Nam conflict.

Steiger added: "If an all-Asian peace conference can be called as first proposed by Republican Charles H. Percy of Illinois, the first order of business must be the return of American prisoners now held behind the Bamboo Curtain."

The candidate told an audience of firemen, "Those who have risked their lives for our country and who are now in North Vietnamese prison camps must be repatriated or accounted for by their Communist captors as a first step toward peace with justice and honor."

Nearly 100 Americans have been taken prisoner since the Viet Nam war began and only three have managed to escape. "At least five have died in captivity," Steiger said, "and the more than 275 Americans listed as missing in action may be in Communist hands."

Steiger pointed out that at the end of the Korean War, 944 American servicemen known to have been taken prisoner by the Chinese Communists were not recovered.

"Many of these men were definitely reported as being in Chinese prisons and the Communists brazenly ignored American protests and demands for an accounting," he said.

The figure of 944 was gradually reduced to 389 as evidence was produced from various sources that certain individuals had died during the period of hostilities. But the fate of these 389 remains a mystery to this day.

Steiger said he hopes a lesson have been learned and that "we make sure Americans captured by the North Vietnamese are released."

Appleton West Student, Teacher To Atom Parley

Robert Kohl, 804 N. Brewster, student at Appleton High School-West, has been chosen to attend the 1966 National Youth Conference on the Atom in Chicago Oct. 27-29. He will be accompanied by Frank Arendt, 1120 W. Elsie St., a high school physics teacher. The two are sponsored by Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Kohl and Arendt joined other top science students from three Wisconsin high schools at preview of nuclear power in Wisconsin Wednesday night at Stouffer's Top of the Marine in Milwaukee.

The meeting last night was preliminary to a broader conference in Chicago when leading national scientists will discuss "New Instruments of Science."

PAID ADVERTISEMENT: Authorized and paid for by the Steiger for Congress Committee, William D. Engler, Jr., treasurer, Clinton, Wisconsin.

There is a difference; the difference is outstanding

BILL STEIGER for Congress

Since first elected to the Legislature in 1960, Steiger has served in a leadership position. His fight for improved higher education, better election laws, clean water, and other progressive measures has moved Wisconsin forward.

Being a good listener is one of the marks of a good leader, and Steiger is always ready to listen to problems and face challenges.

Governor Warren P. Knowles has said, "I know Bill Steiger, and I respect him. I've watched him since the day he came to the Legislature. He quickly established himself among his colleagues as a man of stature and leadership."

Leadership and experience make the difference with Bill Steiger

The people seek Steiger for information about their government. They know his appraisal is frank and honest. His convictions are clearly expressed.

Steiger contends that one of our most serious problems is the high price of food. This inflation is a cruel sales tax that hits us all, but especially the elderly and the poor.

He knows his District and its people; his constituents know him and his readiness to serve them. Six years as a Wisconsin legislator have demonstrated this.

Political campaigns are more than ballyhoo, slogans, and TV commercials. Bill Steiger believes campaigns give a candidate a chance to meet voters, to listen and talk, and to exchange ideas. He has criss-crossed the 6th District to get to know as many as possible, on a person-to-person basis.

Bill Steiger is concerned with people and their problems

There are 400,000 people in the 6th Congressional District. Each deserves the attention and the mature response of his congressman. As a state legislator, Steiger always respected the views of his constituents. As a congressman, he will continue to do so because he cares.

Prominent congressmen, like House Republican leader Gerald Ford, recognize the potential of Bill Steiger; have met and conferred with Steiger; and value his insights on your district.

Steiger was named one of the Wisconsin Jaycee's "Five Outstanding Young Men of Wisconsin" in 1964. He received the Distinguished Service Award of the Oshkosh Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1965. His wife, Janet Dempsey Steiger, an outstanding Fulbright Scholar, campaigns with him constantly.

Bill Steiger is recognized as one of Wisconsin's most outstanding young men

Two Children's Cottages Planned For Winnebago State in 1971-73

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The construction of two children's cottages costing about $729,000, is planned at the Winnebago State Hospital during the 1971-73 biennium, the State Board of Public Welfare was told Wednesday.

The cottages which will house 45 patients, will be used for chronically and seriously disturbed children under 20 years of age in an effort to isolate them from adolescent patients in Hughes Hall.

The areas now used to house disturbed children in Hughes Hall will be converted for use by adolescent patients, the state board was told.

Projected Program

The plans were revealed as a part of the projected building program of the 1969 to 1973 period requested of the state welfare department by the State Building Commission.

Included in the projected program is an additional dormitory at the Home for Women at Taycheedah which is expected to cost $512,000.

The dormitory is expected to be built during the 1969-71 biennium, according to department projections.

The projects are a part of a building program totaling almost $8.9 million for 1969-71 and $16 million for 1971-73 approved by the board in the special meeting.

Largest Projects

Largest of the 12 projects listed is the construction of a $7.3 million adult reception and treatment center of the division of corrections which will be started during the 1969-71 biennium, and to be constructed during the 1971-73 period.

The treatment center, the second phase of a program started in the 1965-67 biennium, will raise from 300 to 800 the number of beds available at the center for the treatment and study of men committed under sex crime laws and a reception center for all male felons to determine the proper facility to which they should be sent.

Continual Pressure

The [illegible] will be due to [illegible] pressure on [illegible] the care and treatment of the mentally retarded and [illegible] according to the plan approved by the welfare board.

The approved projects will not have an effect on the immediate budget of the state, they must have approval during several steps of the funding process during the biennium in which they are projected. The approval was needed, however, due to a request from the building commission for long range projections for use in better forecasting of future state fiscal needs.

In August the board approved a $332 million building program for the 1967-69 biennium. The board Wednesday also approved a list of 94 minor projects between $15,000 and $100,000 for welfare institutions, totaling over $4.5 million for the upcoming biennium.

NEW LONDON — Luz Helan Baena Correa, 28, Bogota, Colombia, has been named the Foreign Language Teacher Aide for the senior high school for the 1966-67 school term.

She will work with the school's Spanish department from Nov. 29 to Jan. 21. Miss Correa is a secretary at the Republic Bank of Bogota.

Playing a guitar and folk singing are listed as two of her favorite pastimes. The FLTA program is conducted through the Wisconsin State University-Eau Claire.

Mrs. Donald Zahn, high school Spanish teacher, said she is still looking for housing for Miss Correa.

Utility Company To Give Grants

BRILLION — Scholarships totaling approximately $10,700 will be awarded by the Wisconsin Public Service Foundation to area high school graduates, according to L. G. Roemer, president of Wisconsin Public Service Corp. Awards will apply to semesters beginning September 1967.

During the first foundation grant program last year, 12 monetary awards ranging in value from $350 to $1,500 per year and four honorary scholarships were granted. Total value was $10,700 including small additional grants made to private schools selected by four of the winners.

Children of customers maintaining a voting residence in the firm's retail service area and children of employes are eligible to apply. Additional information is available from high schools in these areas.

90-Day Sentence Meted On Non-Support Count

Ken D. Wildt, 27, 531 Pierce Ave., Little Chute, was sentenced Tuesday to three months in jail after he pleaded guilty of non-support.

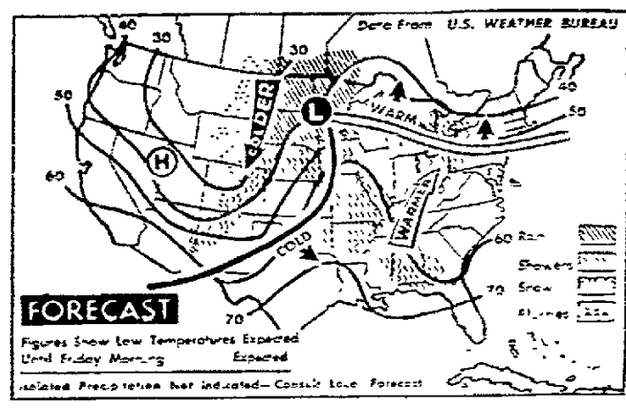

He was charged in a complaint with failing to support his wife, Janice, and three children ages seven months, three years and five years, from Sept. 1 to Oct. 6.

Wildt appeared before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Indifference of LBJ Helping Bobby's Boom

Ohio Speech by Senator Points Up Party's Problems

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

COLUMBUS, OHIO — Just why Ohio Democratic leaders are rapturous over Sen. Robert F. Kennedy these days has less to do with what he did and said on a visit to Columbus Oct. 8 than how he came to be here in the first place.

Its treasury empty after

Novak

years of factional fueding, the Ohio Democratic Party last summer began casting about for a speaker sure to sell tickets for a $50-a-plate campaign dinner. The first choice was not Kennedy but Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

However, Democratic National Committee officials informed the Ohioans that at any function where Humphrey appears, half the proceeds must return with him to the national committee. The desperate financial straits of the Ohio party did not warrant any exception to this rule.

Bobby Invited

Only then did Ohio invite Kennedy, who promptly accepted without dictating the disposition of the dinner's proceeds (which turned out to be in excess of $100,000). Although Humphrey was victim rather than author of the national committee's rule, the incident hurt his standing — just as it helped Kennedy's — among Ohio party leaders.

Indeed, Kennedy's remarkable strength among party leaders in pivotal industrial states such as Ohio is in great part the reverse function of President Johnson's and Vice President Humphrey's weakness among them.

Moreover, this helps explain the phenomenal popularity of Bobby Kennedy among rank-and file voters. The Bobby boom simply could not have happened had the Johnson-Humphrey team not been slipping.

There was a decided anti-Johnson aura to Kennedy's five-hour visit here. Few speakers invoked Mr. Johnson's name during the dinner at the state fairgrounds. Kennedy's own address attacked the you-never-had-it-so-good campaign theme of the President.

Plug Him for '68

The shaggy haired teenagers who turned up at the airport for Kennedy two hours in advance carried homemade signs saying "BFK in '68" "Lets put Robert Kennedy to work as President," and "Let us begin (again)."

To be sure, Democratic politicians have no such taste for any Kennedy presidential attempt against Mr. Johnson in 1968. But they are uncharacteristically open in proclaiming themselves for Kennedy for the time when there is no incumbent Democrat in the White House. At the dinner, Sen. Stephen Young evoked boisterous cheers when, turning to Kennedy, he declared: "We welcome you here tonight as a future President of the United States."

The party leaders here who so fully share Young's sentiments are turning to Kennedy in reaction to massive indifference from the Johnson-run Democratic National Committee. They complain privately that no help comes from Washington these days. Specifically, they are bitter about the sacking of the national committee of Kennedy-man Matt Reese (who set up a highly effective Ohio block worker organization in 1964).

A typical irritation: One congressional candidate in Ohio has been negotiating unsuccessfully for months with the national committee to get a routine letter of endorsement from the President.

Kennedy Jaunts Helpful

In contrast, Kennedy is building up his network of new frontiersman on his cross-country jaunts. Consider the inordinate amount of time Kennedy spent here boosting the campaign for congress by a 39-year-old Columbus lawyer-businessman named Robert Shamansky.

Shamansky's chances for victory in this rock-ribbed Republican country are minimal. But his primary election victory over the fossilized regular party organization makes him a rising force here. A Democratic National Committee worker during the 1960 campaign who wears the PT-boat tie-clip of the new frontier, Shamansky is all the more a Kennedy man after last Saturday.

The impression of a Kennedy boom is bolstered by his own veteran team of advance men. The big welcoming crowd at the airport was turned out by chartered buses sent to the Ohio State University campus. When local leaders planned an outdoor rally for Kennedy, chief advance man Jerry Bruno vetoed it on the grounds that too small a crowd would draw unfavorable national publicity.

Yet, no matter how shrewdly Kennedy sentiment is whipped up, his boom among party leaders rests upon the indifference toward them by President Johnson, which in turn hurts Vice President Humphery. Should Mr. Johnson begin to play the role of Mr. Democrat, the Bobby boom here and elsewhere could slow down.

Communist Refusal of Peace Proposal Not Taken as Final

Rusk Tells Army Way for Reds To Learn Provision Is in Talks

By GAYLORD SHAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says the United States hopes for "a more considered reply" despite the Communists' public rejection of latest American proposals for peace in Viet Nam.

Washington does not accept the turndown as final, Rusk said Wednesday night in a speech to the Association of the United States Army.

If the Communists are uncertain about the meaning of the new set of proposals for scaling down or ending the war, he added, "the way to clear it up is through discussion."

Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg outlined the U.S. proposals to the U.N. General Assembly last month. He offered a halt in the bombing of North Viet Nam if Hanoi would cut down its military operations in South Viet Nam, and called for a timetable for withdrawal of foreign forces from South Viet Nam.

Speech Denounced

North Viet Nam, Red China, the Soviet Union and the Viet Cong all have denounced Goldberg's speech, but Rusk said "we do not regard as final public and negative reactions from the other side to our latest proposals."

Earlier in the day, Rusk said the administration "would like to see some help from Moscow on Southeast Asia." He did not elaborate on this comment, made to reporters after he briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Rusk was asked whether there were indications the North Vietnamese were preparing for a major offensive. "We know there has been a buildup of North Vietnamese in and just outside the demilitarized zone "separating North and South Viet Nam, he replied, "and they are not there just as tourists."

Rusk plans to arrive in Manila three days before the opening of the Oct. 24-25 Summit meeting there, then accompany President Johnson on the rest of his Asian tour. Rusk's early arrival will enable him to hold informal talks with other foreign ministers, a State Department spokesman said.

Impact on Economy

As Rusk discussed the war's diplomatic side effects, another cabinet officer was reviewing its impact on the U.S. economy.

Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor said the President stands ready to request wage and price controls if needed to support the military effort in Viet Nam.

But Connor quickly added "There is no indication now that we will not be able to give our fighting men everything they need to prosecute our cause in Viet Nam and throughout the world just the way we are doing it now — without controls."

Connor addressed members of the American Ordnance Association.

Meanwhile, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he and other senators have been unable to obtain a firm estimate from the Pentagon on how much the war has or will cost.

Russell, although not defending Pentagon delays in furnishing a figure, said in an interview he could understand how difficult it is to know costs involving increased combat manpower, warplane losses and other factors.

Dim Prospects For Merger of NFL and AFL

Antitrust Group, Legal Counsel Fail To Reach Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to negotiate an antitrust exemption for a combined National and American Football League collapsed today, dimming prospects that the merger will be completed.

The failure of counsel for the leagues and the House Antitrust Subcommittee to agree on a proposed exemption law made it unlikely a bill can be passed before Congress adjourns.

The impasse was disclosed at a third session of the subcommittee with Commissioner Pete Rozelle. Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said alternative proposals suggested by the lawyers had all been rejected by the other side.

That left it up to Celler to put a bill through the subcommittee and he took a determined stand against hasty action. That appeared to kill hopes for passage of a bill before next week's expected adjournment.

Lawmen in Cincinnati Mass to Track Down 4-Time Rapist, Slayer

51-Year-Old Doctor's Wife, Mother of Nine, Latest Victim

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The most massive manhunt in the city's history is under way as authorities seek a rapist-strangler who struck Wednesday for the fourth time in 10 months.

In addition, this city of half-a-million persons is concerned about six other unsolved slayings — including the murders three weeks ago of a suburban couple and their small daughter.

City Manager William C. Wichman ordered Wednesday unlimited overtime on an emergency basis for the city's 950 policemen. He also pressed firemen into police duty.

The latest victim was Mrs. Alice Hochhausler, 51, wife of a surgeon and mother of nine children. Her body was found in the Hochhausler garage.

Drove Daughter Home

Police said Mrs. Hochhausler had gone to Good Samaritan Hospital Tuesday night to drive her daughter, Elizabeth, 22, home after she got off work. Mrs. Mochhausler had said she was afraid for her daughter, a nurse, who lives alone in an apartment, to be out at night by herself.

When Mrs. Hochhausler arrived back at her own home about midnight, she was attacked, police said.

Mrs. Hochhausler was raped and strangled with a cord from her bathrobe, which she had worn to the hospital, officials said. The body was discovered by her husband, Dr. Carl J. Hochhausler, who had gone to bed about 11 p.m. and did not know his wife was missing until he awoke Wednesday morning.

Individual Visits

Firemen will join police in street-by-street visits, advising housewives in methods of self-protecton and how to summon help when needed, Safety Director Henry Sandman said.

Like Mrs. Hochhausler, the other three victims of the strangler were in their 50s.

In addition to investigating the four stranglings, police are still seeking clues in the murders of Jerry Bricca, 23, his wife, Linda Jane, 24, and their daughter, Debbie, 4.

They were stabbed repeatedly and Mrs. Bricca was raped, in their suburban home. Their bodies were found Sept. 27. Bricca was a chemical engineer.

Indians Get $32 Million in Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government announced Wednesday it had spent nearly $32 million in antipoverty money during the year ending June 30 to help two - thirds of the American Indians living on federal reservations.

The amount spent in Wisconsin was $225,724.

Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, said the money was distributed in programs administered by his agency, the Department of Labor, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Small Business Administration.

There are some 600,000 American Indians in the United States with about 315,000 living on federal reservations in 23 states. The average family income among Indians is $1,500.

Jury Candidates Took Too Many Chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Sessions Judge Charles W. Halleck went through two jury panels of 48 persons Wednesday and could find only 10 persons who said they had never played a game of chance.

So Halleck had to put off a gambling case for a month, when a new group of prospective jurors will be available.

New AFL-CIO President

Schmitt Assumes Uncharacteristic Silence on Election as Union Chief

MADISON (AP) — The first official who has been executive vice president of the AFL-CIO since 1960, was to be installed today as president of the labor organization. He succeeds long-time leader George Haberman, who is now 69.

Schmitt, who leans toward the liberal side in contrast to the conservative aberman, has voiced previous criticism of the organization's administration.

He was quoted last summer as saying something was lacking for true representation and added that if elected he had some ideas he wanted to inject.

During the convention Schmitt has sat at the side of the presiding officer, Herman, but has taken little part in convention floor management. He kept a cigar clamped in his mouth and stayed silent.

On several occasions Schmitt was invited by newsmen to spell out his plans for steering the organization. But he declined.

His explanation was that he wanted to wait until he knew his fate for sure and until after delegates named a new vice president and the 16-member executive board.

Elected by Acclamation

"After that takes place, I may have something to say," he added.

Although he was elevated to the presidency by acclamation Tuesday night and then formally declared the top man Thursday, he withheld comment about his plans.

At one stage of the convention Wednesday, a speaker referred to Schmitt as the new president. He was given a prompt reminder that Haberman was still the top man and would be until Schmitt's installation.

Haberman was the president of the AFL before taking over the merged AFL-CIO leadership in 1958. Schmitt represents CIO interests. Haberman did not come out for Schmitt as his successor, but neither did he declare he wanted some one else.

Schmitt's silence may have stemmed from strategy to patch any rifts resulting from convention election races.

In the campaigning for a new vice president and executive board members, there were the normal and expected efforts on both sides of the twin movement.

Only George Hall of Green Bay, long time secretary-treasurer, had the backing of all.

Biotron, a Miniature Universe, Created for Research at UW

MADISON (AP) — Man has built a world in miniature on the University of Wisconsin campus.

In a $5 million building called a Biotron scientists have honeycombed 48 cubicles in which sound, heat, light, the wind and the rain are puppets of a computer.

The purpose is to study man's environment, from the choking smog of a city to his first tentative steps into outer space, in a laboratory-like atmosphere that can be controlled by the scientists.

In the Biotron, a desert may be next door to a tropical rain forest. A meadow may be down the hall from a fog - masked city. A woodland pond may be replaced by a bit of moon landscape.

At the will of the researcher's computer, the temperature, the humidity, the light, the air pressure, and the whims of weather can be changed each 10 minutes in any of the 48 rooms.

Environmental Biology

This is environmental biology, what the Biotron's master, Harold A. Senn, calls "the science of the next decade."

"Today," says Senn, "there is an increasing awareness of the problems of man's relation to his environment. Not only is there the problem of pollution, but there is also the concern with space exploration. We will be able to conduct studies in both these areas with Biotron facilities."

The Biotron, unique in science according to Wisconsin officials, will open at the end of this year. While basic research likely will be concerned with the life and growth of animals and plants in various climates controlled by the scientists, such problems as air pollution also will be examined.

"We can program the computer to add different gases to the air in some of the rooms, and so we can simulate atmospheric pollution to a degree," Senn said.

In space research, the Biotron can be used to simulate the conditions astronauts might find in the cabin of a space capsule or under a domed enclosure on the moon or Mars.

"We can also determine the tolerance of harsh conditions by living things on earth so that we can know what to expect in our search for extraterrestrial life," Senn added.

The Biotron will be made available to researchers from throughout the nation for special projects, Senn said. "hopefully the Biotron will never become entirely devoted to any single program."

When the Biotron is opened, the annual price tag for operations will be about half a million dollars. The around - the clock operations will draw fully 20 per cent of all the electricity used by the huge university, sixth largest in the country.

"It's expensive work," Senn said, "but we have to know what man is doing in his environment, so I feel this type of research is just as justified as going to the moon."

Latin American Dealings Hit By Diplomat

Retired Veteran Tells Administration To Move Cautiously

NEW YORK (AP) — A veteran of U.S. diplomacy has criticized tactics of the Johnson administration and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in dealing with Latin America.

Ellis O. Briggs, who was ambassador to eight nations from Korea to Brazil, warned the White House to move cautiously on plans for a summit meeting of President Johnson and the chiefs of state in Latin America.

"If the American government now rushes into another presidential outing," said Briggs, "without awaiting the accomplishment of something to ratify or to celebrate — something remotely commensurate with the hoopla involved in cranking up so gargantuan a fiesta — then the responsible Washington officials need to have their heads examined."

Spoke at Dinner

Briggs spoke at a banquet Wednesday night at the Metropolitan Club.

Briggs, 67, retired from the Foreign Service after 41 years in U.S. missions and embassies. From 1945 to 1956, he was ambassador in four Latin countries — the Dominican Republic, Peru, Uruguay and Brazil.

Without mentioning Kennedy by name, Briggs criticized the senator's three-week tour of five South American nations last fall.

Referring to the activities of the "youthful senator," Briggs said:

"In a reverse situation, an invading foreigner who presumed to harangue a North American audience about civil rights, the slowness of desegregation or inadequate taxes would be lucky to escape with his shirt on his back. He would almost certainly lose his bombachas" — Spanish for breeches.

Microfilm System Needed To Keep Up With Inventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are the most inventive people in the world and they've got the U.S. Patent Office swirling in acres of paper.

The end of American inventiveness isn't in sight but the Patent Office already has taken steps to ease its paper crush — by ordering the installation of a $2 million microfilm system for patent documents.

A record 66,586 patents were issued during the fiscal year which ended June 30 — the vast majority of them to Americans — and the figure this year is expected to exceed 70,000.

That's a far cry from the Patent Office's first year of operation when only three were issued — the first on July 31, 1790, to Samuel Hopkins of Pittsford, Vt., for an improvement in "the making of pot ash and pearl ash by a new apparatus and process."

Since 1836 when the current numbering system began, the office has issued 3,278,942 patent numbers — the latest Tuesday to Hoel L. Bowditch of Foxboro, Mass., for an invention called "industrial chart recorder with special inking pen."

One problem still nagging the Patent Office, in addition to the acres of documents it must keep on file, is the time it takes to process patent applications, which are being filed at a rate approaching 100,000 yearly. The average time has been reduced from 3½ to 2½ years with a goal of 18 months by 1970.

The office figures its inventories of patent copies cover more than two acres of storage space. It receives more than 25,000 orders daily for these copies from business, industrial, scientific and technical sources throughout the world.

John Giacomo Vice President Of AFL-CIO

MADISON (AP) — John Giacomo, a Milwaukee Steelworkers leader, was elected vice president of the state AFL-CIO Wednesday, defeating Carl Sorcic, a Milwaukee Carpenters Union official, by a ratio of three to one.

The election thus gave former CIO unions the two top posts in the labor organization for the first time since the two movements merged in 1958.

An unofficial count of ballots cast at the convention gave Giacomo 160,749 votes to 52,785 for Sorcic. The 900 delegates voted on behalf of the full 270,000 members of the labor group.

Giacomo is an ally of John Schmitt of Milwaukee, newly elected president of the AFL-CIO in Wisconsin, and succeeds Schmitt as vice president. Schmitt was elected president by acclamation Tuesday, replacing retiring president George Haberman.

Sorcic and Haberman are former AFL members.

I-S Favors Vocational Area for Valley

this metropolitan area more extensively for employment and a shopping center than the other cities being considered for such a school.

Adopted Resolution

At the same time the board adopted a second resolution firmly opposing the organization of vocational schools on county and town boundary lines and supported districts using school district lines for its boundaries.

Board members also reviewed architectural plans for the new vocational industrial arts building and decided to meet Tuesday, to go over plumbing, heating, and electrical specifications and prepare to let these items out for bidding. It is expected that the building can be built and ready for occupancy by the beginning of the second semester.

The district received formal notification from the attorney general's office that the $50,000 state trust fund loan, at 3½ per cent interest rate, had been approved and funds could be obtained when desired.

Seek Exclusion

The difficulty the high school has in competing in football with present conference members was also discussed extensively. It was decided that the school should remain in the present conference with the possible exception of football. For football purposes only, it authorized administrators to seek permission from the conference at its next meeting to be dropped from league competition. At the same time a request would be made to drop several games with larger schools so games could be scheduled with smaller schools — Wild Roe, Almond and Port Edwards. The next conference meeting is scheduled Nov. 9 at Manawa.

The fuel oil bid of Cities Service Oil Co. was accepted in lieu of a previously accepted bid after it was learned an error had been made in preparing the review sheet which board members used to compare and select low bids for gas, fuel and oil supplies at its September meeting.

Laundry bids for physical education towels were reviewed with the low bid submitted by Mrs. Orin Waller being accepted.

In other business, janitorial duties and wages were reviewed which resulted in some wage adjustment being made.

Appleton Youths Plead Innocent of Refusing To Pay for Pizza

Two Appleton youths pleaded innocent this morning on charges of refusing to pay for a pizza and allegedly taking another's pizza at the Pizza Palace.

James R. Laux, 19, 2515 W. Fourth St., and Willard N. Tillman, 18, 2510 W. Eighth St., appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. Bond for each defendant was set at $100 and the trials were scheduled for next Monday.

They were arrested early this morning.

Pleads Innocent on Revocation Charge

Earl C. Spreeman, 40, route 3, Appleton, pleaded innocent this morning of operating a vehicle after revocation of his driver's license in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

He was arrested early today in the Town of Freedom. Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered a $150 bond and set Spreeman's trial for Dec. 15.

Jaycees Complete Plan For Kaukauna Survey

Form Containing 56 Questions on Needs Of City Will Go to All Residents Oct. 22

KAUKAUNA — Jaycees are completing their plans for the community attitude survey which they will conduct in the city Oct. 22. At that time a form containing a series of questions will be distributed to all residents.

Purpose of the survey is to get views of residents on what they feel are the greatest needs of the city at the present time. To insure the significance of the survey, a majority of residents must complete and return the questionnaires.

The Jaycee project has been coordinated with the comprehensive planning program presently going on in the city. Mayor Gilbert Anderson feels results of the survey could be of tremendous assistance in future planning.

The Jaycees plan to utilize a computer to analyze returns. The questionnaire will have 56 questions which can be answered in six ways: excellent, good, average, below average, poor and don't know. Six other questions will ask general information.

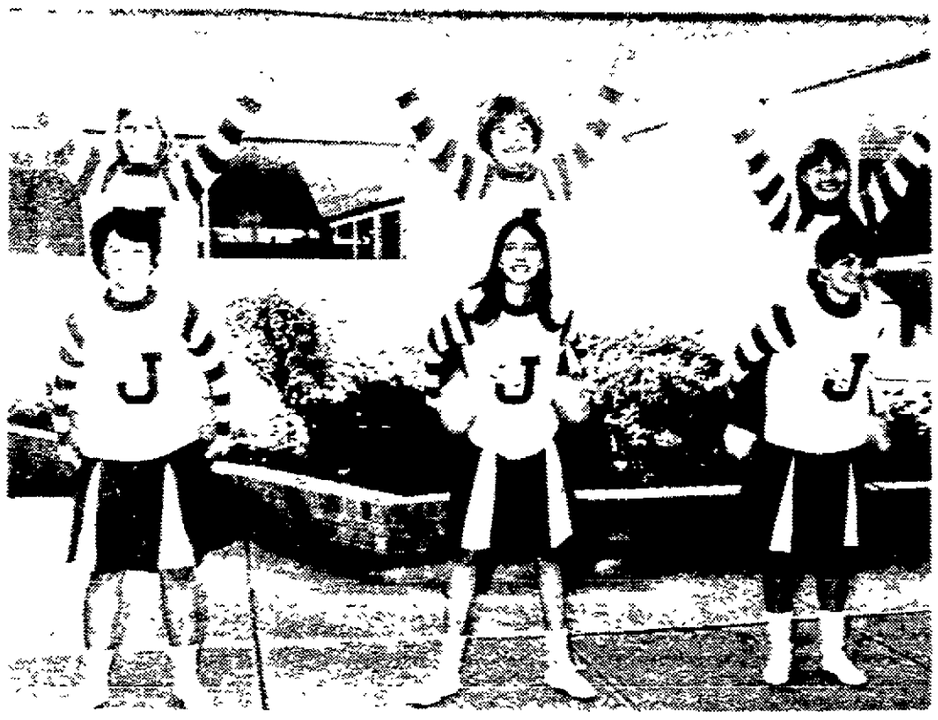

Survey questions will cover city services such as garbage collection, sewage plant, storm water drainage, water pressure, fire and police protection, zoning, welfare services, school facilities, business parking, health services, traffic and traffic control, street maintenance, recreational programs, parks and picnic areas.

Other questions will consider medical services, hospital facilities to other communities, vices, news coverage by radio and press, transportation facilities to other communities, swimming facilities, golfing facilities, baseball fields, public meeting places and motel and hotel facilities.

Questions on schools will include the staff, educational program, building and equipment. Also covered are library facilities, restaurants, cultural opportunities, shopping facilities, public rest rooms in business districts, facilities offering services and repair; job opportunities, community planning and development and general appearance of the city.

Specific questions will be asked on length of residency, education of head of family, number of persons in family, occupation of head of household, family income per year and the title of the person completing the form.

Donald Green is general chairman for the survey.

charge was in no way connected with his resignation.

His main reason for resigning, he said, was to use his time in renewing the church "while there still are people around to be renewed." He deplored the slipping of church attendances and the drop in seminary students, both in Europe and in the United States.

In Europe, he felt, the drop already has taken much of a toll and he hoped he could stop a similar decline here. "In a British church," he said, "there are fewer people in the congregation than there are in the choreography."

'Cro-Magnon Ideas'

He deplored also the decline in fresh ideas and a reliance on "a sect which affirms sort of Cro-Magnon ideas."

"We're not going to attract anybody to the church who has a brain and anybody already here isn't going to stay if we continue to crystallize all the doctrines."

Doctrines he refused to admit to include the idea that there are certain people who are the "elect" and will thereby go to heaven and, among others, that there ever was a virgin birth of Jesus Christ. He said he didn't intend "to mythologize it, but just take it and say it isn't so."

"I'm tired of apologizing for the church because of its unwillingness to accept modern ideas and reject crystallized doctrines. I prefer to just say it isn't so. Period."

Appleton Man Fined $35 for Intoxication

Open Meeting

Wages Topic of Talk Before Rights Council

Joseph Fagan, director of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission, is scheduled to address an open meeting of the Fox Valley Human Rights Council in Appleton Oct. 27, the same day a hearing on the state's minimum wage law will be held in Wautoma.

Fagan will discuss equal opportunity problems of the state with focus on the Fox Valley and the needs of migrant workers. He has been in frequent contact with Wautoma migrant labor leaders since August when an attempt began to organize the workers.

The public hearing on a proposed increase in the state's minimum wage law will start at 2 p.m. in the Wautoma court house. His address in Appleton is set for 8 p.m. at the First National Bank.

The hearing in Wautoma will be the last of six similar hearings in Milwaukee, Madison, Eau Claire, Rhinelander and Green Bay.

New rates, proposed by the Industrial Commission's minimum wage advisory committee, would increase the minimum wage rates for women and minors over 18 to $1.25 an hour and for minors age 17 and under, to $1.10 an hour, effective Jan. 1, 1967. The committee proposed that rates go up another step a year later to $1.45 and $1.25 respectively.

Current Rates

Current rates are $1.10 for women and minors age 16 and over, and 85 cents for minors 15 and under. In rural communities, population 1,000 and less, the rates are 10 cents an hour less. Under the new proposals, the difference between rural and urban areas would be eliminated.

Douglas N. Ajer, director of the commission's Division of Labor Standards said that the commissioners will hear from restaurant owners, domestic employers, agricultural employers and others most affected by a change in the minimum wage rates.

Humphrey Plans Stop At Oshkosh

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Vice President Hubert Humphrey will speak in Oshkosh and Sheboygan Oct. 23 according to Rep. John A. Race, D-Fond du Lac.

Race said Humphrey will deliver a major address at 3 p.m. that day at the Winnebago County Airport and then address a senior citizens rally, sponsored by the retired citizens' council of the United Automobile Workers at 8:30 p.m. at the Sheboygan Municipal Armory.

Race said Humphrey's visit to Oshkosh will be the first since the vice president's campaign for the presidency in 1960. Humphrey originally had been scheduled to speak in Oshkosh on Oct. 25 but only Wednesday cancelled those plans and announced he would not be appearing in the state.

City Library Board Seats Don Herrling

Don R. Herrling, an Appleton attorney, has been elected president for the 1966-67 year of the Appleton Public Library board of directors.

A member of the board for the past six years, Herrling has served as chairman of the finance committee, and has been secretary and vice president. He now is president of the United Community Service board of directors.

Also elected were Elmer A. Otte, vice president; Mrs. H. F. Hackworthy, secretary, and Edward V. Krueger, assistant secretary.

Other members of the board are David Bailin, Don C. Smith, Orlyn A. Zieman, Mrs. John Stevens and Mrs. F. Stansbury Young.

Dec. 1 Hearing In Narcotics Case

An 18-year-old Lawrence University sophomore from Northbrook, Ill., Robert J. Uhe, charged with illegal possession of marijuana, this week received a change of venue after he filed an affidavit of prejudice against Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

The case was assigned to County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren who set Dec. 1 as the preliminary hearing date. The hearing was to have been held Tuesday before Judge Keller. Uhe is free under $1,000 bond, which was continued.

Uhe was arrested earlier this month following investigation by Appleton police. He is alleged to have had marijuana in his fraternity room which was searched after a search warrant was obtained through Outagamie County officials.

Group Plans Oct. 20 Meeting at Manitowoc

The Wisconsin Society of Professional Engineers, Fox River Valley chapter, will meet at the Manitowoc Elks Club, Oct. 20.

Robert Miller, naval architect and chief engineer of Manitowoc Shipbuilding, Inc., will talk on naval architecture. A narrated film on construction of the "Ryerson" ore boat will be shown.

Guided tours will be available at Manitowoc Shipbuilding from 4:15 to 5 p.m. A social hour is set for 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p.m. of the squad car and said he has never owned a pistol.

Krull's wife, Mary, was called by Cain to testify, but then stepped down following a short conference between the judge, Cain and Schaefer. Krull and his wife are separated. They have one child.

Cain's fourth defense witness was Pamela Walters, 19, 803 N. Clark St., who testified she was with Krull, Schroeder, and another girl in several taverns early the morning of Aug. 21. She said she heard no conversation that night that indicated Krull might have been involved in the Maritime burglary attempt.

Cross-examination by Schaefer revealed that Miss Walters attempted to grab the telephone from her roommate, Naomi Hudek, when Miss Hudek called Appleton police about 5:20 a.m. Aug. 23. It was Miss Hudek's telephone call that led to Krull's and Schroeder's arrests.

Asked by Schaefer why she tried to interrupt Miss Hudek's call, Miss Walters replied, "I didn't think it was any of her business."

Reckless Driving Of Kimberly Man Brings $150 Fine

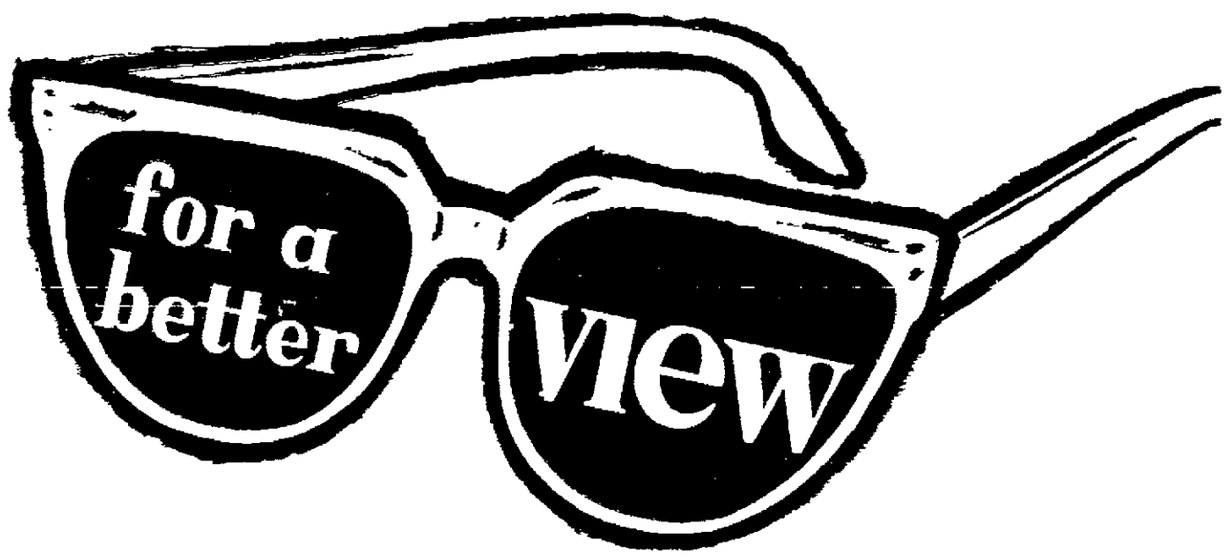

A Kimberly man who pleaded innocent of operating a vehicle while intoxicated during a May court appearance, changed his plea to guilty this morning on a reduced charge of reckless driving in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Gerald A. Weyenberg, 25, 327 S. Elm St., was fined $150 and costs or 60 days in jail by Judge Gustave J. Keller. He was arrested May 16 on County Trunk V in the Town of Grand Chute.

Kimberly Eyes More Land in Kuborn Plat

School Board Asks Supt. Hammann to Study Future Need

KIMBERLY — The board of education Monday night authorized Supt. Ray Hamann to investigate the need for additional acreage in the Kuborn plat for future school construction.

Action resulted from an inquiry by a real estate agent who had property in the area for sale. He asked if the school board was interested in obtaining acreage in addition to its present five acres. Hamann was asked to determine if additional land should be purchased, cost of it and the possibility of taking an option on it.

Hamann's recommendation will be reviewed by a citizen's committee and the board of education before action is taken.

Electric Rate Reduction

The Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. informed the board of a $2,260 rate reduction per year for use of electrical power. This, coupled with a rate reduction of $4,700 received last year represents a saving to the district of $6,960 in the past year.

Cost of heating, air conditioning, hot water, auxiliary power, lighting and all other electrical costs for the high schools will be reduced to about $28,000 compared to the $33,340 paid in 1964, Hamann said.

Hamann was also requested to secure information on a foreign teacher program and report back to the board. Delegates named to the Wisconsin Association of School Boards, Inc., at Wausau Oct. 22 were Harold Wentzel, Frank Gossens, Terry Biersteker and Hamann. The latter will speak on shared time at the meeting.

School Bus Complaints

After receiving complaints about persons not heeding warning lights on school buses, the board asked the state highway patrol to watch the situation on U.S. 10 and report its findings. The state patrol found no violations of passing and observed all driver's of buses abiding by the law in operating vehicles.

Low bid of $1,625 for a club wagon was accepted from Gustman Chevrolet. Four bids were received, high being $1,742. The price includes trade-in of an old vehicle. Low bid of Camera Exchange, Appleton, for $501 for a filmstrip projector was accepted. Three bids were received, high being $551. Low bid of Wright Industrial Supply of $378 was accepted for entrance mats. High in three bids was $450.

Explorer Post

The board approved formation of an Explorer Specialty Post, as proposed by Kimberly-Clark Corp., for junior and senior high school boys. It is open to boys interested in business, particularly in the pulp and paper industry. The objective is to provide an opportunity for study in and to learn about the paper industry and the business world.

Secondary goals are to provide a service to the community and to give the company an outlet for dissemination information about the pulp and paper industry.

Kimberly-Clark Corp. will sponsor the post with John Turner as advisor and Elmer Vander Velden as institutional representative.

2 Change Pleas In Court on Oneida Burglary

Two young Southern Wisconsin men, who were scheduled to stand trial this week on charges of burglarizing a Town of Oneida service station, have changed their pleas to no contest in Circuit Court.

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell ordered pre-sentence investigations for Michael Riccio, 18, Okauchee, and Wayne F. Meunier, 25, Sullivan, after they pleaded no contest and were found guilty of burglarizing Bob Appleton's Citgo Service Station July 3.

Judge Parnell did not set a date for sentencing. Riccio and Meunier were returned to jail in lieu of posting bonds of $2,500 each. They had been bound over to Circuit Court for trial following preliminary hearings in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on Aug. 12.

The young men were arrested following investigation by Outagamie County authorities. They were represented by court-appointed counsel.

Your Money's Worth

Stock Market Advice To Young, Single Man

BY SYLVIA PORTER

You're a young man in your 20s, single, you have done your military stint, have a steady job which pays you enough to live comfortably and save $10 a week. You have been putting $18.75 into a U.S. Savings Bond every month through your company's payroll deduction plan and the balance in a savings account.

You have no financial responsibilities and you think you're handling your savings entirely too conservatively. This is the problem you have submitted to the top research officials of a reputable New York Stock Exchange member firm.

You: What's the wisest program for me?

Answer: You'll soon have savings in cash and savings bonds equal to six month's income and that's enough basic protection. You should be starting to create a portfolio of good stocks.

You: Should I buy life insurance now?

About Life Insurance

Answer: You should buy some life insurance because of its low cost at your age and because in an emergency, you'll be able to borrow against the cash value of your life insurance at comparatively low interest rates. But since you have no dependents, you should not be emphasizing life insurance at this point.

You: Okay, I'm saving $10 a week or $40 a month. Now what?

Answer: The Monthly Investment Plan of the New York Stock Exchange is made to order for you, for under this system of systematic savings and investing, you can invest your $40 in stocks every month. Sign up for an MIP plan and tell the broker you choose what stock or stocks you want to buy. Your securities will be bought at the regular rates and as you receive dividends they'll be automatically invested for you. On your transactions, a broker will charge you the minimum commission allowed.

You: Why is this plan so good for me?

Answer: Because it will discipline you into regular investing. As a professional in this field, I am convinced that systematic buying of stocks, so that your dollar costs average out, is among the soundest of all investing methods. Many institutions which invest in amounts of tens of millions follow this systematic buying method in order to average their purchase cost.

You: What stocks might I properly consider?

Answer: The top favorites of about 182,000 MIP accounts now in force are: American Telephone, General Motors, General Telephone & Electric, and RCA. You might consider any of these.

You might also consider the growth stocks suggested to the married man in his 40s on Tuesday — such as IBM, General Electric, Merck. Among many others which are the right type for you are Eastman Kodak, Minnesota Mining, a top-notch local electric utility. Buy leading companies which are growing.

You: With only $40 a month to invest, should I just pick one stock or should I buy a little of several?

Answer: You may prefer to invest quarterly instead of monthly, but whatever your decision on this, pick out one stock and buy up to $1,000 of it. Then shift to another and buy up to $1,000. And do not interrupt your buying program except in a real emergency.

You: But what if the stock market declines sharply?

Answer: Then you'll be able to buy more shares for your money and you'll average out your dollar costs. Any time is the right time to buy stocks, assuming you buy good stocks. If your stocks rise after you buy, don't be tempted to start switching around, for you're building for the long-term. If they decline don't become alarmed, for you are buying strong stocks in basic industries. And I warn you, young man, not to expect too much, too soon from your investment. Give your stocks time to perform as expected.

Tomorrow: You're a woman in her late 30s, also single . . .

Children Tested for Vision Difficulties

Because 85 per cent of what a child learns comes about through his vision, and because the Appleton Junior Woman's Club believes each child should be able to start school with an even chance to keep up with his class, the second series of Vision Screening sessions was held Saturday at the YMCA.

The program was initiated for three, four, five and six-year-olds in the spring. It is aimed at pointing up vision difficulties in time for parents to seek professional care before the child begins school.

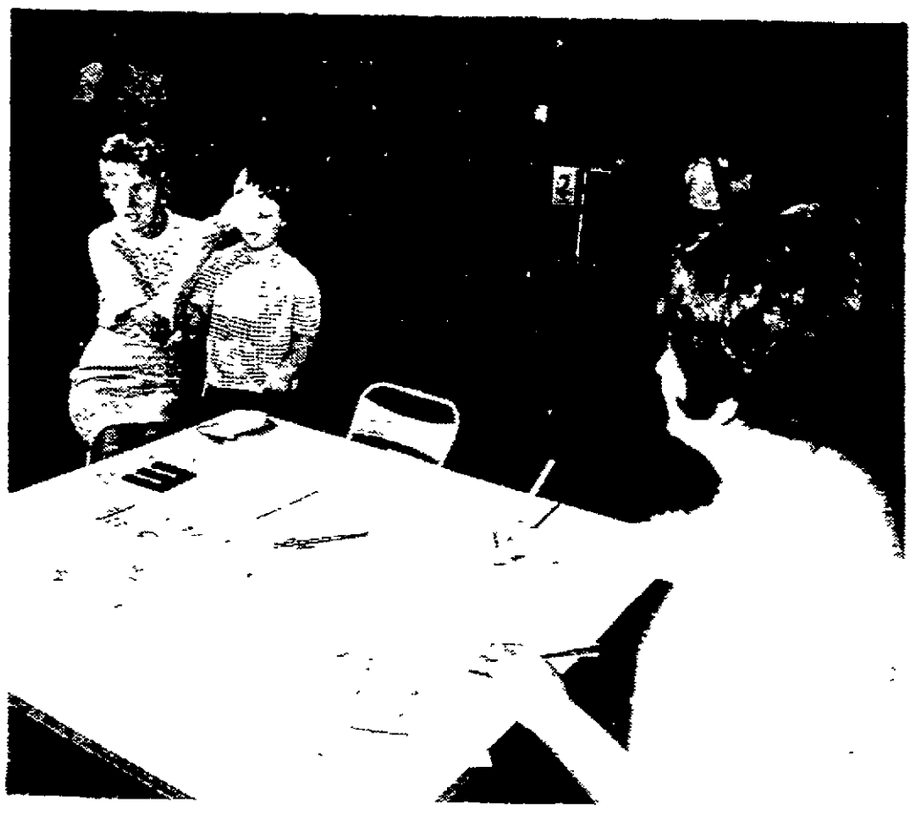

The second program in the current screening will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Y. There is no charge for the testing, carried out under the direction of the Outagamie County Medical Society, the Fox Cities Optometric Society, the Wisconsin Society for the Prevention of Blindness, and with the cooperation of the City of Appleton Health Dept.

Many people who attended the testing in the spring but found there was a waiting line came back Saturday. There are now more volunteers and six teams at work, so that parents who wish to take advantage of the program for their children do not have to stand in line.

The Testing Is fast and children soon find out they've nothing to fear. Above, Mrs. Alan Stoner records results as Mrs. Richard Davidson gives the test to Timothy Beschta. The children's eyes are tested individually to determine if one eye is given preference in use over the other one. At left, Mrs. Robert Donahue covers Lori Andrews' right eye as Mrs. William Plank Jr. records the test. (Post-Crescent Photos)

College Women to Attend Conference

Thirty delegates of undergraduate women's self-government groups from the Associated Coleges of the Midwest will meet on the Lawrence University campus Friday and Saturday.

Delegates from eight of the ten member colleges will be present, along with their deans of women. Only Monmouth and St. Olaf will not be represented, due to confilcts with their homecoming celebrations.

Co-chairmen of the conference are Lawrentians Miss Sally De Vaney, Minneapolis, Minn and Miss Hope Harron, Hartford, Conn.

Their committee includes Miss Sandra Butler, Peshtigo; Miss Nora Bailey, Chicago, Ill.; Miss Ruth Charlton, Neenah, Miss Marcia Wilson, Portland, Ore.; Miss Sue Skaros, Milwaukee, and Miss Joan Gillespie, Indianapolis, Ind. Miss Mary Faye Heinecke, assistant professor of physical education, is faculty advisor to the Lawrence Women's Association, sponsoring group.

Conference Speakers

Speakers at the conference will be Miss Carol Trautwein, assistant dean of women at Lawrence, who will discuss "Some Ideas to Challenge You," and Dr. Francis L. Broaderick, dean of Lawrence and Downer Colleges and holder of the Gordon R. Clapp professorship in American Studies. He will give the welcoming address.

A panel discussion on the role of Women's Associations on liberal arts campuses will present Miss Linda Crissy, president of the Asociated Women Students of Cornell College, and two Lawrentians — Miss Mary Ann Michael, Indianapolis, Ind.; and Miss Sue Taylor, Grosse Pointe Farm, Mich.

Miss Mary Morton, dean of women at Lawrence, and the Misses De Vaney, Harron and Bailey will preside at various discussion sessions.

Scholarship Competition Announced

The VFW Auxiliary has announced scholarships totaling $1,750 to be awarded to three top national winners in the annual scholarship program. Any student attending a private, parochial or public high school may enter.

Each student is required to fill out an application and a questionnaire asking for his opinions about the responsibilities of a young American citizen. Applicants must show genuine interest in family, community, national and world affairs, display a sense of responsibility, truthfulness, loyalty and sincerity.

All completed applications must be returned to local auxiliaries by March 15. State winners will be selected from top local participants. National scholarships are first, $1000 scholarship and gold medal; second, $500 scholarship and gold medal; third, $250 scholarship and gold medal, and 10 honorable mention citations. Winners will be announced at the national convention in New Orleans, La.

Application folders for the program may be obtained from local units or by writing to the National Scholarship Department, VFW Auxiliary, 406 W. 34th St., Kansas City, Mo. 64111.

Lodge Group Prepares for Friends Tea

Members from Chilton, Sturgeon Bay, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Omro, Oconto, Stevens Point, Clintonville, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Shawano, New London and Wisconsin Rapids have been invited.

Mrs. Wesley Wagner and Mrs. Lawrence Sweet have charge of the event. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Constant Captain, Mrs. Arnold Schilhable, Mrs. Robert Boettcher, Mrs. Alden Fiedler, Mrs. Richard Olson and Miss Esther Heiss.

Nurses Tell Plans For District Parley

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Joseph Klau was elected first vice chairman of the private duty section of the Wisconsin Nurses' Association at the annual convention last week in Milwaukee.

Plans were announced for a Nov. 15 meeting of district nurses at Appleton. Legislators of both Political Parties are expected to be present. Discussion will be held on contemplated reorganization of the licensing departments in the state. This legislation is of interest to registered nurses, members of the federated womens' clubs, League of Women Voters, PTA, members, professional and business women's organizations and others interested in health and welfare, according to Mrs. Klau.

In the past the Wisconsin Nurses' Association has been successful in promoting legislation to provide public funds for nursing scholarships and this program will be pursued at the Appleton session.

Convention Highlights

Guest speakers at the convention were Capt. Pearl Tucker, a United States Air Force nurse, "Aerospace Nursing;" Dr. George Hellmuth, director of comprehensive medicine at Marquette University, "The Nurse's Role In Returning the Patient to Society", and Miss Dorothy Kelly, R.N., editor of "Catholic Nurse." "Equating the Nurses' Economic Rewards With the Service Given."

Panel discussions and forums were held and special sections were concerned with "Hyperbaric Oxygenation," "Caring for the Patient Receiving Radiation Therapy," "Intranter Transfusions," "Nurses' Role In the Wisconsin Child Abuse Law," and "The Impact of Medicare on Nurses and Nursing."

Delegates from the Appleton area besides Mrs. Klau were Miss Mary Ann Warner, Neenah, and Miss Kathryn Martin and Miss Jerry Cooper, Appleton.

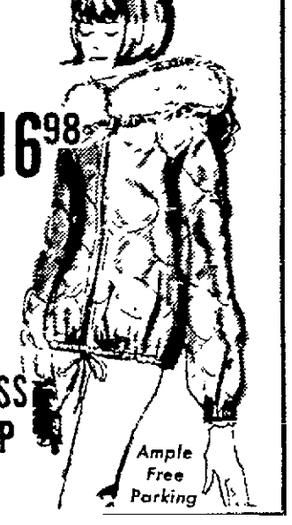

Sisal Rugs Are Favorites

Sisal rugs are becoming decorator favorites because of their texture, durability, and washability.

They can be brush-scrubbed on both sides with hot soap or detergent suds, then hosed off with a fine spray. Let them get completely dry before being replaced or rolled for storage.

Victim of Borrowing Warns 'Buy It, Rent It or Forget It'

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know you've gone over this territory before, but it is such a common problem — and such an exasperating one — I hope you will say it one more time.

Please tell neighbors not to ask to borrow things. I'm not talking about a cup of sugar or an onion. I mean garden and shop equipment and electric appliances.

This summer our lawn sweeper has been in every garage in the neighborhood except ours. We finally traced it to a neighbor two blocks away who in turn had loaned it to his church group.

Landers

Yesterday my hair dryer was returned — broken. The borrower said, "It didn't work so I brought it back." Well, it worked in my house before she borrowed it — and dropped it.

Please tell them once more, Ann: If you don't own it, buy it. If you can't afford to buy it, try to rent it. If you can't rent it, forget it. — Hopeful

Dear Hopeful: Don't expect miracles to flow from your good letter. The guilty ones never recognize themselves. The only solution for you and others who are imposed on in this manner is to say, and say firmly: "Sorry . . . no."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married into the nuttiest family on the face of the earth. What they consider a practical joke, people in their right minds regard as extremely rude.

We have a family place up north where the whole collection of idiots gather during the summer.

These nuts have a habit of waking one another up at any and all hours — by surprise. I wish I had a dollar for every time one of those clowns knocked me out of a hammock, tipped me out of a chair, or threw a pillow on my face when I was catnapping on the couch. If the person who is jarred out of a sound sleep doesn't laugh it off he is considered an odd ball with no sense of humor.

The whole family reads your column religiously. Please say something about family jokesters. — Joe

Dear Joe: Them's the worst kind. And you can forget about trying to persuade them to lay off. These types are incurable. My advice is to catnap in bed. And be sure the door is locked.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married a divorced man. He has three children by his first wife and we have three children.

The problem is that when his three children come to visit (twice a year) my husband buys them "hello presents," "goodbye presents" and showers them with attention.

Our own children resent this and I do, too. Don't you think a divorced man should do everything in his power to make his second family feel sure of his complete devotion? What can I do to make him understand this? — R.R.R.

Dear R.R.R.: It's natural for a mother to be primarily interested in her own three children, but I can tell you right now you'd better change your attitude because your husband is not going to change his.

I have a hunch your husband is plagued with guilt for leaving his first set of kids and he's trying his best to make it up to them (twice a year, yet!!). Let him alone. He's having a rough time.

Is a heavy drinker an alcoholic? How can you tell? Is there a cure for alcoholism? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help." Enclose with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Kiddie Carnival to be Featured At Golden Agers' Pancake Day

Children, never overlooked in the pancake and sausage department when the Appleton Golden Age Club has its annual Pancake Day, will be given special consideration in another way this year. Scheduled Saturday at St. Mary Catholic School, the event will feature a Kiddies' Carnival on the school playground, with rides, games, popcorn, cotton candy and clowns creating an October carnival air for the youngsters.

Another feature at the Pancake Day this year will be the Newcomers Club booth of Christmas decorations, including wreaths. This group will also sell 150 pounds of fudge from their covered wagon booth.

Community Pancake Day is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. William Johnson is chairman this year. Proceeds from the event are used toward the Golden Age Clubhouse mortgage.

VFW Auxiliary Tells Plans

Plans for the Hard Time Dance to be held at 9 p.m. Oct. 22 at the VFW Clubhouse were discussed by members of the Harvey Pierre Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary at their meeting Tuesday evening at the clubhouse. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Ernest Miller and Mrs. Marinus Van Weele.

Members discussed the presentation of flags to Boy Scout and Brownie troops.

The annual bazaar and chili supper is scheduled Nov. 2.

A membership contest will be conducted and a potluck supper held in February.

Tri-Hospital Bazaar Planned By Auxiliaries

GREEN BAY — "Early American Village," is the theme for the first tri-hospital bazaar, sponsored jointly by Green Bay hospital auxiliaries. It will be the major fund raising project of the year for Bellin Memorial, St. Mary and St. Vincent hospitals.

Mrs. Robert Jones has charge of the bazaar, to be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 22 at the YWCA. Over 500 women have worked on the project during the past year.

Booths will include Attic Treasures, Apron Park, Holiday House, Line Laundry, Handicraft Haven, Knitting Nook, Toy Shop, Candy Corner, Food Fair and Rug Parlor.

Wood 'Laundering' Delays Repainting

Repainting the exterior of a house may be delayable for a year or two by "Laundering" the wood siding with soap or detergent suds. Start at the bottom and work up to prevent streaking, using a scrub brush attached to a long pole to get at the second story. Then the soiled suds can be hosed off.

St. Bernadette Ladies Tell Officers, Program

Brother Agathangelus, St. Lawrence Seminary, Mt. Calvary, will speak on "Civil Rights" at the first meeting of the Ladies of St. Bernadette at 8 p.m. Oct. 24 in the school cafeteria. The group will also sponsor a pantry shower for the nuns that evening.

Mrs. Russell Lowe will head the organization this year, assisted by Mrs. Frank Gregory, vice president, Mrs. Robert Jacobs, secretary, and Mrs. Richard Theisen, treasurer.

Other officers are Mrs. Donald Huiting, first sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Donald Fabel, second sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Glen Taggart, organization and development.

Visit Hospitals

Hospital visitation members are Mrs. Frank Keuler, Mrs. Herman Strobl, and Mrs. Joseph Wisnet. Miss Joseph Schlanser will serve as personal formation and spiritual development chairman. Mrs. Ambrose Vandenberg has charge of family education, scouts and youth.

Chairmen are Mrs. David Petrie, community action and civil defense, Mrs. Peter Schaefer, sewing, Mrs. Edward Ponschock and Mrs. Herman Strobl, church cleaning; Mrs. Patrick Randerson, baby sitting; and Mrs. Francis Ascher, St. Anne group.

Mrs. Joseph Schlanser heads a pre-school religion class which she organized this year.

Ladies of St. Bernadette will sponsor a Christmas potluck supper and talent show Dec. 5. The Rev. James Van Den Hogan will discuss "Penance" at the Feb. 27 meeting. A mother-daughter Communion breakfast is planned May 7.

Woman Adds Drag Racing To Sports List

LINCOLN PARK, Mich. (AP) — Three years ago, Jo Ann Inglett was a cute 27-year-old mother of three who liked to swim, play golf, ice skate and bowl.

Today, Mrs. Inglett is a cute 30-year-old mother of three who likes to swim, play golf, ice skate, bowl and race across a drag strip in a machine called "Hoss" at speeds of more than 100 miles an hour.

"Pretty good for a girl who didn't know a spark plug from a carburetor a year ago," said her husband, Preston.

Family Day

His wife and their children, Bruce, 11, Sandra, 9, and Kathy, 8, went along. Mrs. Inglett packed lunch.

"I got tired of standing around watching," she said, "so I decided to try my luck."

In her first big race last Sunday, Mrs. Inglett won a two-out-of-three match race against a male driver, hitting 113.94 m.p.h. for the quarter-mile.

Her car has a supercharged, fuel injection, 289-cubic-inch engine with an automatic racing ansmission.

Sunday races are a family fuel injecuon, 289-cubic-inch engine with an automatic racing transmission.

Sunday races are a family affair and Mrs. Inglett still packs lunch. She doesn't drive the family car, except from the back seat.

"She started that the day we were married," Inglett said.

Practice Improves Teens' Conversational Ability

If the teenagers in your family find it hard to make conversation it may be because they are unsure of themselves. Help them stop thinking of themselves and get interested in others around them.

If teens can think about whatever is happening they will find it easier to forget themselves and get into the conversation. Everyone likes to feel popular and learning to talk effectively with others is an important skill.

Conversation is necessary and knowing what to say at the right time can smooth over an awkward situation, according to Viola Wilkinson, family life specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Speak and Listen

Good conversation is between two people. It is not a monologue, but a tossing back and forth of related ideas. Two activities are involved — speaking and listening. Therefore, one person doesn't do all the talking. The social trick is to politely get the other person to enter into the conversation by asking questions that require thought and not just one word answers.

Other basic ingredients are a pleasing voice and good diction. It helps to hear voice tone on a tape recording. Practice in speaking and help from a speech teacher is important if the pitch of the voice isn't pleasant. The difficulty may not be what is said, but the tone in which things are said.

Be Well Informed

Another ingredient necessary to good conversation is background knowledge and eagerness to learn. A variety of interests is an important asset. Enthusiasm is contagious. Help teens to relax and be themselves, they're probably more interesting than they think they are. This is especially true if they have a genuine liking for others. Concern for other people is always self expressive.

Sometimes it helps to have subjects for conversation thought of ahead of time. This will help to fill in the gaps. In off hours store up conversation ammunition on topics such as books, movies, TV, sports, nature study, people, current events, hobbies, school, dancing, new songs, travel, cars and aviation.

Learn to Disagree

Try to find out what is interesting to others. But, talk authoritatively only about familiar subjects.

Learn to disagree without being disagreeable — everyone has a right to his own opinion. To agree isn't necessarily being a yes-yes bore.

Manners are important, too. Breaking in when someone else is speaking is rude. And, the words "thank you, please, excuse me" are not old fashioned; they are social courtesies.

Accidental Discard Wins Game

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"A funny thing happened to me the other day," remarked the unlucky expert. "Just as I was about to make the winning play I got beaten by some stranger who pulled the wrong card out of his hand by accident."

Opening lead — ♠ J

The unlucky expert took the king of spades and the ace of diamonds, got to his hand with a high club and led his other diamond.

The idea was to finesse with dummy's ten as a safety play. If the finesse lost, the rest of the suit would be good. If it won, he would be sure of at least four diamond tricks. Four diamond tricks were enough to assure the contract.

Just as the unlucky expert was on the point of making his contract by taking the diamond finesse he noticed that West had played the nine of diamonds.

Big Change

"That changed everything," he pointed out. "The only reason to finesse is to guard against five diamonds in the West hand, and when West played the nine it was a cinch that he didn't have all the rest of the suit."

Unfortunately, West did have all of the diamonds. He later admitted that he had picked the nine of diamonds out of his hand by accident. This accident steered the unlucky expert away from the winning finesse.

After South had played the king of diamonds he was a doomed man. He tried for the clubs, but the suit broke badly. Nothing worked, and the unlucky expert once more had earned his nickname.

I kept a straight face as I sympathized with the unlucky expert. The stranger who played the nine of diamonds happened to be one of the best rubber bridge players in the country and makes more good plays by accident than the unlucky expert does on purpose. Not every stranger is a patsy.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 8 7 6, H K 10 5 2, D 4, C Q 10 9 8. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart. When you have a choice of four-card suits for a response, make the cheapest response. If partner has a heart fit, he can raise; if he has spades, he can bid one spade. He's comfortable. Either way, you will quickly discover whether or not you have a fit in either major suit.

Experts Commend Work Of Women Volunteers

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The good ladies of the community who used to carry baskets. Bibles and cheery word of uplift to prison inmates were considered something of well-intentioned nuisances — but harmless.

These days they're being taken seriously.

No longer are they called do-gooders; they're "volunteers in local level action programs." They can bandy sociological parlance with authority. They know the psychological mechanisms of the malefactor.

Experts Approve

Just Tuesday they received the warm approval of a group of experts.

Two sample comments:

"Volunteers coming in from the community have far greater impact on the prison inmates then people working there. Perhaps the most important tool in rehabilitation is the impact of one personality on another" — Martha E. Wheeler, superintendent of the Ohio State Reformatory for Women in Marysville, Ohio.

Can Accomplish Much

"Citizens' groups, if they don't spread all over the landscape and zero in on the workload, can accomplish a great deal" — Jim Fain, editor of the Dayton (Ohio) News and a member of the board of directors of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Miss Wheeler and Fain were two of a panel of speakers at an all-day symposium on "Woman's Role in Crime Control" sponsored by the National Council of Women of the United States. During the session the group's annual "Woman of Conscience" citation was presented to Judge Florence M. Kelley of the Family Court of the state of New York.

Institutional Population Decreasing

The professional of the group, Miss Wheeler, 45, an attractive, brunette with a law degree, said that the correction institution population is going down. "We're not sure what that means. Perhaps it's related to improvement of community services."

She said later in an interview that it's possible — "and I hope it's a reversible process" — that as the so-called emancipation of women continues female felons are going to go in for more male-type crimes, such as burglary, robbery and, breaking and entering.

More Aggressive Crimes

"There's already some increase in their involvement with aggressive crimes instead of the more devious ones they're usually associated with," she said.

National Officer Of Hadassah Speaks Here

Mrs. Victor Schlesinger, Boston, Mass., a national vice president of Hadassah, and Mrs. Norman Glicksman, Milwaukee, Great Lakes Region president, were guests at the Tuesday afternoon vocational education luncheon of the Appleton Hadassah Chapter. The women were speakers at the program, held at Moses Montefiore Social Center and attended by guests from Stevens Point, Oshkosh, Wisconsin Rapids, Milwaukee and Racine.

Mrs. Schlesinger told of the increasing emphasis on vocational education in Israel and the philosophy that youth should be prepared for citizenry. She also told how young men and women are being sent to Africa to help other nations and how Hadassah has received citations from African nations for its efforts.

Members of the organization discussed their Dec. 1 educational seminar and told of plans for the Jan. 30 board meeting.

Mrs. Alvin Ziven was luncheon chairman.

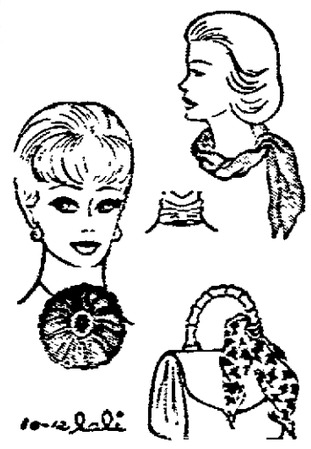

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Scarf Not Remedy

Scarves these days reflect the talent of fine designers. Materials and patterns are works of art.

Why then would any woman wrap a scarf like an old-fashioned chest protector? The accessory is meant to perform fashion, not medical miracles. When it is worn for warmth, it should be draped in soft, enhancing folds.

At the moment there are new and delightful ways to use scarves. Take the chiffon circle as an instance. In this season of frills at the neckline, it makes a frill-fraught jabot. Simply fasten it at your neckline with your best pin, gathering the center as you go.

In keeping with turtleneck fashions, narrow rectangles of bodied silk lend themselves to stock arrangements. The scarf is coaxed into soft pleats and wrapped around the throat, so that it can be knotted in the center front. Another high-rise tie is accomplished with a long float of chiffon, wherein the scarf is loosely rolled and put on to knot in the back with ends trailing.

But to relegate scarves to the neckline is to miss half their accessory value. Knotted low on the handle of a sporty handbag, large dry-textured squares look real zingy. Just try an ocelot print on a taupey leather satchel. Wow!

And do invent your own arrangements. In that way you put an individual stamp on your appearance with the least possible effort.

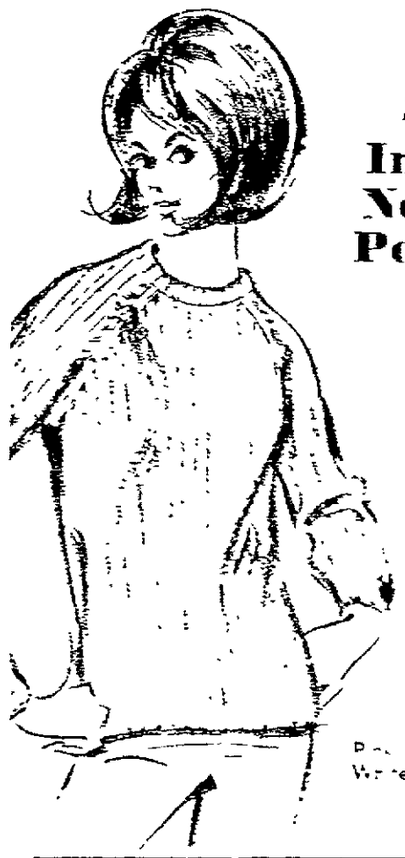

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enchance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Sunshine Homemakers Mark 20th Anniversary

POTTER — Rantoul Sunshine Homemakers observed their 20th anniversary Monday at a dinner at Salm's Hall. Organized in 1946, the club is one of five charter organizations in Calumet County. The others are Alcott Happy, Brillion, Good Cheer, New Holstein, Swampedge, Kiel; and Brillion Valley, Valley.

Mrs. Ted Krueger, first president, is still an active member. Other charter Rantoul Sunshine members are Mrs. Eldred Biedenbender, Mrs. Albin Endries, Mrs. Oscar Hillman, Mrs. Edward Hillman, Mrs. Isabelle Kasper, Mrs. Reuben Kleinsmith, Mrs. LeRoy Mathes, Mrs. Clarence Wenzel, Mrs. Roy Wenzel, Mrs. Herbert Wunrow and Mrs. Francis Spencer.

Projects

The Sunshine Homemakers have provided draperies and a stove to the Rantoul Town Hall at which they meet. They have also conducted the Rantoul Community Fund Drive, baked for the Calumet Memorial Hospital and Calumet Association for Retarded Children, provided birthday cakes for the Calumet Home for the Aged and conducted drives for Goodwill Industries.

Members of the club's kitchen band perform at Homemaker activities.

Mrs. Harlan Wunrow heads the group, assisted by Mrs. Wesley Strombe, vice president; Mrs. Lester Kasper, secretary; and Mrs. Alvin Schultz, treasurer. Mrs. Endries, Mrs. Armin Hernke, Mrs. Krueger and Mrs. Schulz had charge of the anniversary arrangements. Guests were Miss Joan Prochnow, Calumet County Home Economics agent, and Mrs. Irvin Kesler, president of the county organization.

Parents Tell Engagement Of Daughter

KAUKAUNA — The engagement of Miss Mary Ellen Kortz to Richard Heindl has been announced by her mother. She is the daughter of Mrs. Herman Kortz, route 1, Kaukauna, and the late Mr. Kortz. Parents of the bridegroom-elect are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Heindl, route 2, Kaukauna.

Miss Kortz is employed by Midwest Telephone Supply, Inc. Her fiance is with Badger Northland, Inc.

Colorful Wine Array Flavors Taste, Decor

She has a flair for wines that light up her table in red, white and pink!!

The clever, modern hostess can earn the accolades of her guests by offering three different wines at her luncheon and dinner tables — letting guests take their choice or enjoy them all.

It is so easy and budget-wise when she purchases the economy-size gallon or half-gallon bottles of California Burgundy (red table wine); a California Rose (a pink table wine); and a California Chablis or Sauterne (white table wines). They are satisfyingly fresh and delightful, as well as being easy on the family entertainment budget.

For easier service, the wines can be poured into carafes or pitchers and placed on the table. They create colorful table decor and add a joyful note of zestfulness and festivity.

Just remember the "red, white and pink" formula for entertaining: then sit back and listen to your guests say, "She has a way with wines."

Solutions Found for Old Problems

Today's mothers are younger than ever. This perhaps explains why the ageless battle of how to bring up baby is raging with new intensity.

At an average age of 21, today's new mother is bombarded with advice. She's cajoled by the women's magazines, lectured by child care authorities, assailed by manuals of every persuasion and viewpoint. And as a topper, she must contend with her own mother and grandmothers, not to mention the in-laws.

"In my day, my dear, we . . ." is the common lead off to a barrage of dire warnings and old-fashioned methodology in baby care.

And yet, the dilemmas are real enough: Which is better, bottle or natural feeding? Should dad take an active part in bringing up baby or is his role the Sunday stroll? Should you cater to a crying infant or go along with the crying-is-good-for-the-lungs school?

In the United States, babies are being born at the rate of 20 for each 1,000 population, according to the latest figures released by the U.S. Public Health Service. In 1964, 3,864,000 infants were born. Although this shows a slight decline in the birth rate of the country, one baby in your household can pose many problems to which there are many answers, but perhaps no solution.

Crying Infant

Grandmothers claim that mother's milk is convenient, always the right temperature, easy to digest, wholesome and helps give the child immunity to many diseases. They are right, of course. But bottle-fed babies also have been thriving for decades. In fact, latest theory is that formulas straight from the refrigerator can be conveniently given to hardy newborns with similar good results. And what's more, father, often in the background on baby care in grandmother's day, can step into the picture easily, thanks to bottle-ready feeding equipment. He, as well as the modern mother can supply the love that should attend the feeding.

As for the crying infant, strictness went out the window with the regid feeding schedules of the 1920s and '30s. The current trend is for mother to check to see whether a baby is hungry, needs to be burped or changed when he cries. If none of these is the cause, some baby experts advise letting him cry it out for five or 10 minutes before offering a soothing shoulder and a tour of the bedroom.

Among the most common infant problems are skin rashes. A baby's skin is particularly sensitive in the early months of life. He is subject to cradle cap, prickly heat, diaper rash and many other skin irritations.

Prickly Heat

Cradle cap is the scaly patches that form on an infant's scalp. Recommended treatment is a simple one — avoid water and soap. Clean the scalp with mineral or baby oil on a piece of absorbent cotton. Then comb off the crust with a fine-toothed comb.

Although grandmother may claim to be the all-time expert on raising children, a modern mother can confront her with this fact — heat rash was more prevalent in her time. Formerly, most mothers overdressed their infants in both summer and winter. As a result, prickly heat — clusters of tiny pink pimples — often raised their heads even in the coldest weather. Common cures are the use of light clothing, plus baby powder or corn starch on the affected areas.

Diaper rash is the chief demon and most common of the skin problems of babies. To avoid this discomfort, grandmother often boiled baby's diapers, then ironed them. Nowadays, diaper service or special rinsing agents in wash water can cut down the incidence. But no matter how careful a mother is, into each young life some diaper rash must come. The major factors that cause diaper rash are: ammonia, moisture and diaper chafing. Even grandmother with her home remedies, never could cope with this problem as well as today's mother who can reach for a number of products to prevent or cure diaper rash. Among recent advances are diaper creams that not only prevent or treat the irritation, but some are now stainless and wash away easily after an application despite forming an impenetrable film coating.

Extra Love

Other major areas of concern and consternation for mothers through the ages have been thumb-sucking and toilet training. In earlier days, thumb-sucking was to be discouraged as soon as it was noticed. Some well-meaning mothers tied a baby's arm or covered his hands or even applied vile-tasting concoctions to the fingers.

In the more relaxed baby-rearing atmosphere of today, the thumb-sucker is tolerated, not persecuted. Instead, doctors advise mothers to avoid frustrating the infant, and to give him an extra measure of love and attention and ample sucking time on bottles with small-holed nipples. As a last resort, some sanction pacifiers, which a baby normally will abandon at an earlier age than his thumb.

While the problems today are the same as in grandmother's times, the methods of coping with them differ vastly. Child rearing is an age-old controversy with no easy answer. Maybe mother knew best after all. Or did she?

Church Women Tell Delegates

Representatives to the Bethany Home meeting Oct. 30 at Waupaca were announced when First English Lutheran Church Women met Tuesday at Fellowship Hall. Rachel and Lois Circle members will attend the Waupaca parley.

Mrs. Charles Kohler was named chairman of the annual Christmas party, set for Dec. 13.

Plans were also discussed for fall fellowship dinners, scheduled Nov. 9, 10, 14 and 15.

Circle Plans Lecture Series On Humanities

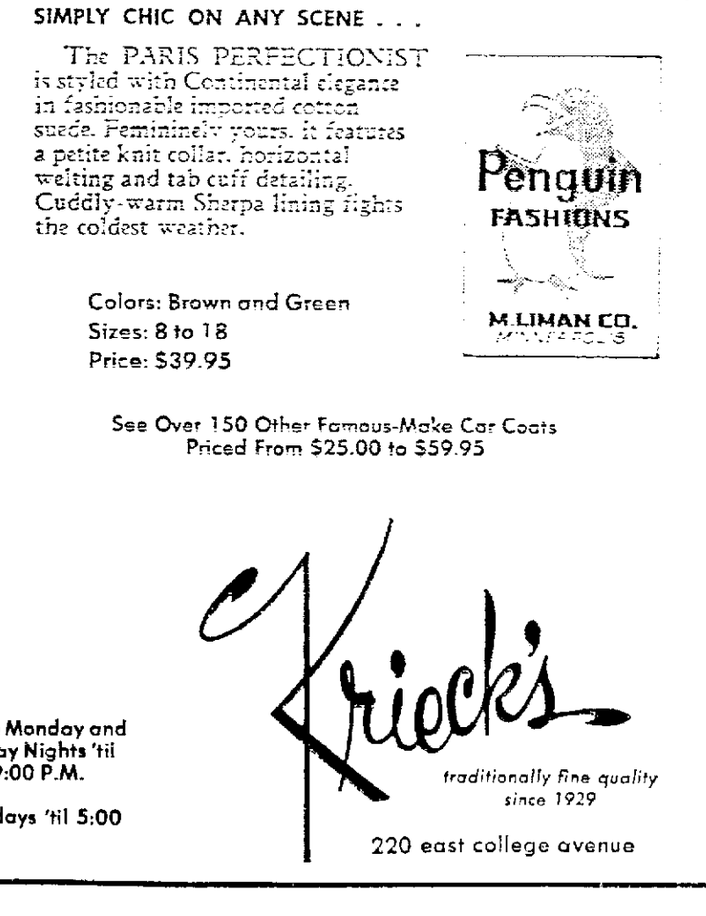

NEENAH — "Contemporary Humanities," a second series of lectures by J. Wilbur Vickery, assistant director of the University of Wisconsin, Green Bay Campus, will be presented Nov. 3, 10 and 17, sponsored by the Service Circle of The King's Daughters.

The contemporary novel will be considered in the first session, with discussion centered on Kafka's "The Trial." The film trilogy of "Through a Glass Darkly," "Winter's Light," and "Silence" will be featured in a study of "The World of Bergman." At the final gathering Vickery will discuss contemporary drama based on Genet's "The Balcony" and "The Blacks."

Sessions will be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Shattuck Room of the Boys' Brigade Building. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Donald S. Koskinen, Menasha, or at the door.

To Your Good Health

Takes Eating Liberties Peptic Ulcer Returns

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been bothered with ulcers for a year. I have gone on a strict diet for three months, but as soon as I take any small liberties the ulcers are right back.

I am a Canadian but saw an article in the paper that ulcers are being frozen in the United States. Is this done in Canada? — G.A.W.

I have no doubt that there are doctors in Canada who use this technique, just as it is not limited to any one place in the United States. But before we get into that, let's first explain peptic ulcers and their nature.

Peptic ulcers — stomach or duodenal — can vary greatly in severity. They may be acute yet in due time heal completely. Again they may be chronic, behaving placidly at times, then flaring up. It is not always easy to identify the exact factors involved.

So for general policy, it's a good idea to regard the condition as chronic, and to treat it — and respect it — as such.

Rarely does any single element of treatment achieve success. It takes a combination of diet, antacids or other medication, emotional control, avoidance of undue fatigue, sometimes other things. If you haven't read my booklet, "How To Heal Ulcers and Keep Them Healed," I think it will help you. Send 20 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy. Address requests to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper.

Certainly the average ulcer patient is tense and high-strung, and is his own worst enemy. Really effective treatment many times means that the patient has to revise his mode of living.

Such folks are often impatient, and impatience doesn't help ulcers. You, Mr. G.A.W., stayed on your diet for three months. Studies show it takes a month or two for X-rays to demonstrate that healing is in progress. So by taking liberties with the diet after three months you may have been jumping the gun, before thorough healing had occurred.

Now as to freezing, some physicians regard this as still an experimental technique; others belive it has a place when medical treatment has failed but they are not yet willing to resort to surgery.

Freezing is not a cure-all. It involves certain complications which have to be reckoned with. It also requires specialized equipment and training.

You haven't really given conservative treatment an adequate chance; you start taking "liberties" with you diet and undo what has been accomplished. My advice is to follow your instructions for perhaps a year or two. If by then your ulcers are stubbornly refusing to calm down, it is soon enough to see whether your doctor considers freezing in order. If so, he'll know where to refer you in Canada.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a barber. Is psoriasis of the scalp contagious? How can I explain to customers how to take care of it? I always see that my tools are clean after a job — I.R.

No, psoriasis is not contagious. I suggest that you tell any customers that it's a medical matter and that you can't advise them, except to warn them that it is difficult to treat. It isn't dangerous, but there is no known sure-fire cure. Sometimes one treatment seems to work, sometimes another. Sometimes nothing does. And sometimes it goes away spontaneously, especially in the summer. One should be sure, however, that the disorder is psoriasis and not some infectious disease of the scalp.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

HOW —In low piles so children cannot be hidden from motorists view, and close to the curb so as not to interfere with traffic.

WHEN —The City crews will pick up leaves when they are cleaning in your area. Crews will start North of the river at the East City Limits, as men and equipment are available, and keep circling in a counterclockwise direction as long as weather conditions permit until all leaves have been picked up.

WHAT —Leaves Only — brush and garden debris will clog our equipment and slow up the collection. Brush and garden debris are to be picked up as usual on your rubbish collection day.

NOTE —No Special Leaf Pickups Will Be Made as we are shorthanded and must concentrate our efforts. Requests for leaves for mulching should be made by calling 733-4939 or 734-4278 and will be filled when the crews are in your area on a first-come, first-served basis.

UW Center Conference Set Nov. 12

Extension Division Sessions to View Developing Aides

A University of Wisconsin Extension commerce conference on "How to Develop Your Subordinates" will be conducted Nov. 12 at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center.

The conference, to run from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., is aimed at foremen, supervisors and managers at all levels. Co-sponsors of the conference are the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, the Associated Industries of Oshkosh and the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce.

Morning conference sessions will consider "Results of Effective Training and Development" and "Principles and Approaches for Developing Subordinates." Concurrent afternoon workshops will be held for first level foremen and supervisors and for middle and upper level managers.

Conference Staff

Program coordinator is Donald L. Kirkpatrick, associate professor of commerce with the UW extension, Milwaukee. Kirkpatrick is former assistant director of the UW Management Institute and past president of the Wisconsin Training Directors Association.

Other members of the conference staff will be Norman C. Allhiser, director of the Management Institute, and Frank H. Reighard, statewide coordinator for UW Extension commerce programs.

Fee for the conference is $15, which includes materials, lunch and coffee break. More information about the program may be obtained by contacting the Center.

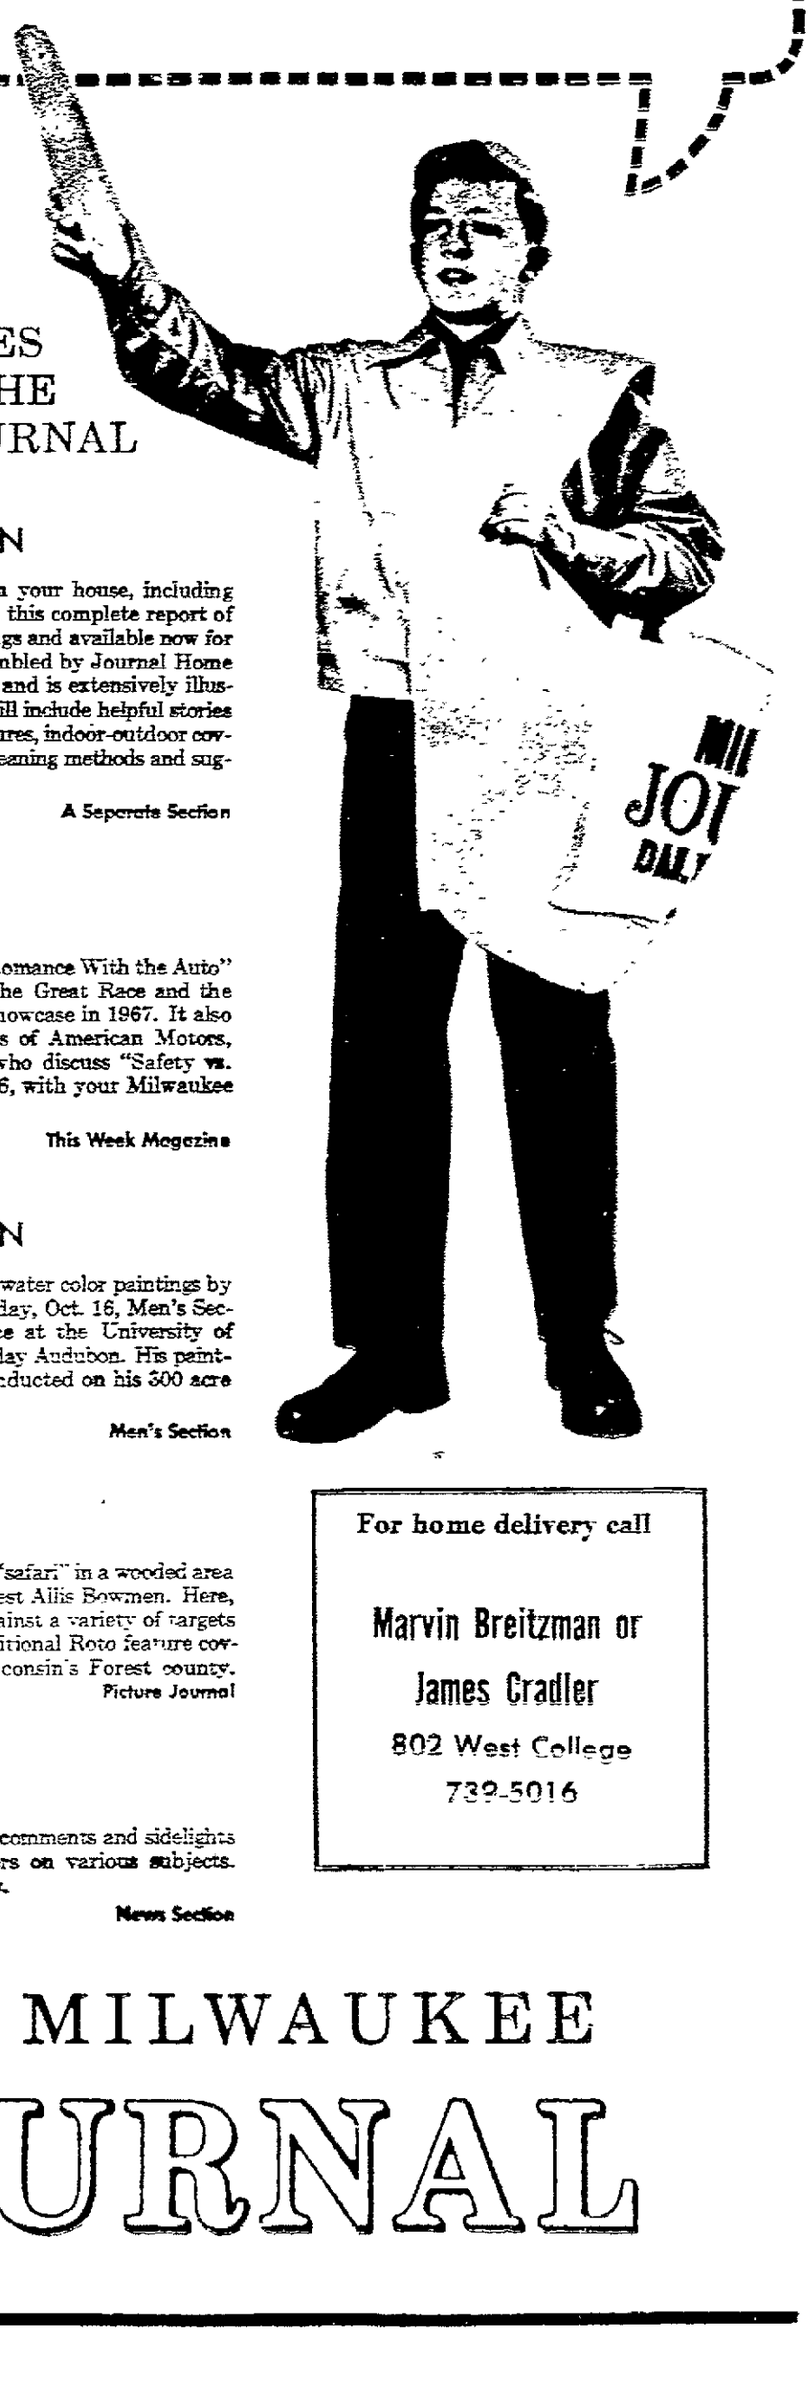

Negotiations OK'd for Foxes, Goodland Field By Outagamie Board

Supervisors of the Outagamie County Board Tuesday voted to form a committee to "negotiate with the Chicago White Sox" concerning the future of the Fox Cities Foxes and Goodland Field.

The matter was discussed upon the suggestion of Chairman Sylvester Esler who said, "I think we should take some steps to show them (the White Sox farm team) that they're welcome here."

The White Sox have recently shown a casual interest in purchase or leasing of Goodland Field for future use by the Foxes.

Hi! I'll be calling at your home to tell you about The Milwaukee Journal. There's a big contest going on and if I sign up enough new subscriptions, I will have a chance to win a trip to Florida.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE FEATURES COMING UP IN THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

SPECIAL CARPET SECTION

Rugs and carpeting for every room in your house, including kitchen and bathroom, are featured in this complete report of what's new and exciting in floor coverings and available now for your home. It's a special section assembled by Journal Home Furnishings writer Lois Hagen Manly and is extensively illustrated with color photos. The section will include helpful stories on area rugs, shaggy "animal look" textures, indoor-outdoor coverings, synthetics plus rug and carpet cleaning methods and suggestions. Sunday, Oct. 16.

U. S. in Need Of Rebuilding, Architect Says

Everything Built Since 1850 Lacks Grace, Stone Claims

NEW YORK (AP) —Edward Durell Stone, the architect, remarked in an interview that one of the enduring monuments of past American generations is the "monumental irresponsibility" of the architectural morass they left us.

"I think everything after 1850 has lacked grace," he said.

"In all history there has never been such monumental irresponsibility, expedience, things completely out of hand, built without plans. The whole country has to be rebuilt."

And where does that leave us, he was asked. "On the threshold of great things," he replied. "I think we're on the eve of a great renaissance."

What Stone would like to teach businessmen, city planners, engineers, contractors is that "a minuscule percentage of the cost of a building goes into the planning."

Strong Leadership

You need planning and strong leadership to rebuild cities, he continued. "It doesn't come from the people. The momentum must come from the top." The artist conceives, he said. "But it takes a Napoleon to build Paris."

The leadership was, he believes, developed in recent years.

"Well, President Johnson said that we must rebuild with beauty in mind," he said. "President Johnson said that. That's rather unusual for a president."

The nation's urban areas are now being replanned because "I think we're beginning to repent our ways." Why? "The times. It's been obvious for two or three decades. It's coming through to political leadership."

Work of Art

As Stone views the future, "There is no reason why every building should not be a masterpiece of art." But what about cost? "Buildings in the hands of skilled architects can be built economically."

Stone, whose grilled stonework distinguishes hundreds of government, educational cultural, medical and factory buildings, is now deeply committed to the urban development of which he speaks. He has numerous projects under way in St. Louis, Mo., Sacramento, Calif., Frankfort, Ky., Tulsa, Okla.

"I'm interested in projects of sufficient scope to produce an oasis." The oasis often includes a tower surrounded by space. This, he believes, is the perennial dream of architects: "A city of skyscrapers in a park-like setting."

Hundreds of Plans

Architecture to Stone is very much an art, but very much a business too. His name appears literally on hundreds of plans. He has 200 workers in offices here and Palo Alto, Calif.

His masterpieces include the American Pavilion at the Brussels Worlds Fair (1958), the U.S. Embassy at New Delhi, India, and the brand new National Geographic Society Building in Washington.

The very size of his operation brings criticism from some architects that proper supervision is impossible. Stone, however, replies, "I concentrate on the formative stages."

Circle Trips

This method permits globe girdling trips. Back at his office in a residential building near Central Park "I work like a general, with 8 to 10 colonels" to carry out plans which he constantly checks.

Stone, 64, is a heavy, patrician looking man with massive shoulders a bit bowed, who sometimes wears a Churchillian scowl when tired but more often a merry grin. Marching about his domain he sometimes dusts the red rugs with cigarette ashes or forgets his glasses or calls an assistant by a wrong name.

"I have no private life. Family? I've tried. You can't have everything." He has two grown sons and a youngster but is divorced.

"I live like the drunkard over the saloon. I live above the office and I drop down at night and leave notes. They (workers) say, 'The phantom strikes again.' But they know he's watching.

Appleton Store Goes to Receiver

Geenen's Dry Goods Co., one of the Fox Valley's oldest department stores, has been placed in the hands of a receiver. The store closed earlier in the year.

The receivership and notice to creditors was authorized by Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell on petition of Suz-ette Fashions, Inc., of New York, one of several creditors.

Creditors were advised to file claims with Hugo M. Pankratz, the court-appointed receiver, by Dec. 21. The store is located at 122 E. College Ave.

Outagamie County Delegates to the 10th annual Co-Op Youth Conference, sponsored recently by the Wisconsin Association of Cooperatives at Fond du Lac, were, from left, Marianne Zerbe, route 2, Appleton; Michael Hoffmann, route 2, Shiocton; Joan Schumacher, route 4, Appleton, and Dennis Bowers, route 1, Kaukauna. Sponsored by Outagamie Equity Cooperative, they are pictured with Art C. Brikowski, co-op general manager and convention chairman.

Wisconsin's Health

Counties Seek Solutions for Home Nursing Service Needs

BY E. H. JORRIS M.D.
State Health Officer

Before the medicare program began providing health services to the elderly on July 1 of this year we pointed out that the greatest lack of specified benefits to eligible persons would be the lack of home health nursing services in nearly three quarters of the area of the state.

At the same time we mentioned that Section 141.10 of the Wisconsin statutes enables county boards and city councils to authorize the establishment of home nursing services. Earlier this year the State Board of Health supervised the allocation of $190,000 in grants to localities to aid in establishing these home health services.

Ashland, Bayfield and Iron counties have tackled the question of home nursing services in a realistic manner. With a combined population of only 35,150 and an area of 3,257 square miles, the people have an awareness of their limited resources and they are investigating the advantages and disadvantages of a multi-county service.

Each of the three counties made an inventory this summer of its home health nursing service needs. The surveys were made possible by planning grants and survey plans were Charles Lemke, director of the Division of Research and Miss Geraldine Busse, R.N., assistant director of the Division of Public Health Nursing, both of the State Board of Health.

The surveys showed that on any given day in the three-county area about 1,650 persons would be home because of sickness, injury or minor ailments. They also indicated that approximately 5,100 residents of the three counties are 65 years of age or older. Furthermore, about 1,000 of them live alone and a minimum of 3,000 live in households in which all persons are 65 or older. These persons in general are least able to care for themselves and are most likely to need nursing services in their homes.

A tri-county committee is now at work to evaluate the gap between services available and services needed and consider related questions: Should separate county nursing services be enlarged, or should new agencies be encouraged? Should the service area be limited to a county, a city, or should it cover several counties? How large will the agency or agencies have to be? Should it be centralized? Or should personnel be strategically located throughout the area with one administrative office?

These and other questions will be considered and solutions will be found before the county boards of the three counties reach their decision. Professional help continues to be supplied by the State Board of Health whenever requested. Most important, the people of these counties are aware of their needs and are working to meet them.

Restriction on Exports to Soviet Allies Are Eased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department relaxed export restrictions today on about 400 non-strategic commodities for shipment to Russia and her Eastern European allies.

The move is in line with remarks made last Friday in New York City by President Johnson. He said export controls between East and West would be relaxed in a move to ease tensions and promote trade.

The action could also serve to isolate further Communist China and her Asian allies.

Commodities on which trade restrictions were relaxed, effective today, include textile products, some metal manufactures and machinery, foodstuffs, chemical materials and products, and a variety of manufactured articles.

These products can now be exported to Eastern Europe without prior specific approval of the Commerce Department. They will move under what the department terms a general license.

Red Guard Adds Military Duties

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China has reported that its fanatic Red Guards have been organized into a reserve force for its army.

"We are a contingent for both combat duties and for study and propaganda work," one Red Guard told Peking's New China News Agency.

The report said the young Red Guards in their nationwide purge had uncovered "weapons and secret accounts kept by the class enemies in anticipation of a hoped-for restoration." The report did not elaborate.

There have been unofficial reports recently that the Red Guards have been organized into military-style units. The Communist dispatch appeared to be official confirmation of

Belli, Model Wed In Japanese Rite

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — San Francisco lawyer Melvin Belli and fashion model Pat Montandon donned traditional Japanese wedding costumes today and were married in a Shinto ceremony here on Japan's northernmost main island of Hokkaido.

Belli, 58, and Miss Montandon, 34, pledged to love each other eternally. It is his fourth marriage and her third.

Belli defended Jack Ruby in the latter's trial on charges of shooting Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

North Viet Nam Misses Food Production Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Viet Nam failed to reach its food production goal this year, causing a "rather bleak situation," the U.S. Department of Agriculture's foreign service said Tuesday.

A report by the service said bad weather and labor shortages caused the failure. It said North Viet Nam had hoped to sustain "the modest production increases that occurred during the last two years of the country's first five-year plan."

Kimberly High Conducts Study

Student Council Holds Survey for Night Library Hours

KIMBERLY — In an effort to determine interest in school night library usage at Kimberly High School the student council completed a study which will be presenied at a board of education meeting Oct. 24.

Through interviews it was determined, 337 students were in favor of having the library open and felt they would use the facilities if available to them. Seven students indicated they did not care one way or the other and 43 felt they were not interested.

Reasons given by students for keeping the library open included lack of study time during the school day when the library facilities could be used, a limited amount of library material compared to the number of students seeking this material and lack of material and information at home which is needed to complete assignments.

When used to select prefered nights 99 indicated Monday and Thursday, 105 sought Wednesday and Thursday, 81 said Monday and Wednesday and 43 said Tuesday and Thursday. Hours recommended were from 6:30 to 9 p.m. or 7 to 9 p.m.

The board of education will decide following meeting with the student council. Evening hours at Kimberly were tried several years ago, but dropped due to lack of use.

Publicity Campaign Urged to Explain Voting Referendum

MADISON (AP)—Plans were announced Tuesday by the League of Women Voters of Wisconsin for a publicity campaign to explain a referendum on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

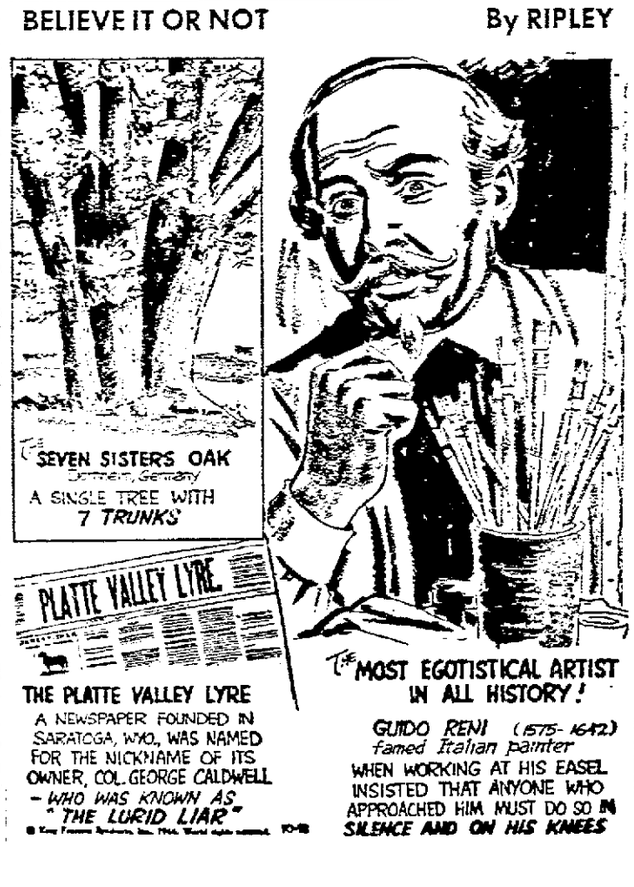

Mrs. F. A. Mote of Madison, the group president, said the effect of the referendum proposal would be to allow persons living six months in Wisconsin to be eligible for voting, instead of the current one year.

The question as phrased on the Nov. 8 ballot reads: "Shall Chapter 88 of the laws of 1965 entitle 'An act relating to the privilege of voting in Wisconsin' be adopted?"

"The question as it appears on the ballot gives no clue as to what the citizen is voting for or against," Mrs. Mote said.

She said no other public information has been made available on the referendum.

Jingo Considers Film Production Standards

Outlines Major Censorship Rules That Serve as Industry Guidelines

BY JINGO

The first article in this series on the revised code of the Motion Picture Association of America dealt with a declarations of principles. This installment gets more into specifics — "Standards for Production."

Second of Series

Among aspects considered when a movie is presented to the MPAA for approval will be the following guidelines.

"The basic dignity and value of human life shall be respected and upheld Restraint shall be exercised in portraying the taking of human life

Jingo

'Evil, sin, crime and wrongdoing shall not be justified.

'Special restraint shall be exercised in portraying criminal or anti-social activities in which minors participate or are involved.

"Detailed and protracted acts of brutality, cruelty, physical violence, torture and abuse shall not be presented

"Indecent or undue exposure of the human body shall not be presented."

The key in the above sentence is the word "undue." In the past, nude or semi-nude scenes were generally censored. The new code, however, will allow a more liberal exposure of the human body — especially females — than in the past. But what the MPAA considers in poor taste or unnecessary to convey the spirit of the film will be prohibited.

"Illicit sex relationships shall not be justified. Intimate sex scenes violating common standards of decency shall not be portrayed.

"Restraint and care shall be exercised in presentations dealing with sex aberrations.

Other Key Words

"Obscene speech, gestures or movements shall not be presented Undue profanity shall not be permitted.

"Religion shall not be demeaned

"Words or symbols contemptuous of racial, religious or national groups shall not be used to incite bigotry or hatred

"Excessive cruelty to animals shall not be portrayed and animals shall not be treated inhumanely."

The above guides are still strict, but the assortment of key words such as "restraint," "undue," "care" and "excessive" allow the MPAA to exercise an independent opinion on each film. In other words, the rules are not so strict as to cause an artistic, significant film to be classified in the same category as an obscene movie merely because subject matters are similar.

Regarding titles of films, the MPAA has stated, "A salacious, obscene or profane title shall not be used on motion pictures."

Advertising Guidelines

The guidelines continue on a similar plane regarding advertising of a movie.

"Illustrations and text shall not misrepresent the character of a motion picture."

This is particularly important. How many times has a movie been advertised so as to look as though it were filled with juicy scenes and thrill seekers have come away disappointed. Accurate advertising would save first place.

Other advertising limitations:

"Illustrations shall not depict any indecent or undue exposure of the human body.

"Advertising demeaning religion, race or national origin shall not be used.

"Cumulative overemphasis on sex, crime, violence and brutality shall not be permitted.

"Salacious postures and embraces shall not be shown.

Success for Jimmy Dean Long Road

Popular Singer at Brown County Arena Saturday Night

The success route for singer Jimmy Dean, who brings his stage show to the Brown County Memorial Arena Saturday night, was not an easy one.

The television star, well known and liked as a county fair performer in the Fox Valley, will present his variety show at 8 p.m. Saturday Tickets are available in Appleton at Berggren Bros. Sport Shop.

Jimmy Dean

Although his current success includes a rambling ranch house in Tenafly, N.J., and 75 acres of Virginia farmland, the singer with the easy voice and manner still is same "plain guy" from Plainview, Texas, his starting place.

Jobs Here, There

His route from a Texas farm to stardom did not crash the sound barrier. The trip took years of singing in what Dean calls "dives" and jobs at country dances. Sometimes he sang with a band and other times performed as a single.

There was a stretch with a group known as the "Tennessee Haymakers," which he remembers with something less than found affection More often than not, the traveling group had no money for lodging, much less for food. They slept in a beatup Chevy, all five of them, and took turns holding the bass fiddle out of the window.

The big break came with his phenomenally successful recording of "Big, Bad John" in the fall of 1961. His career was well on its way by then. Today, his records sell in the millions.

His career was launched, quite by accident, when he filled in for an ailing fiddle player for a quarter of the tips at a place called "Harry's Tavern" in Washington, D.C. He was in the Air Force at the time. Since his corporal's pay wasn't much, he gave it a whirl.

In Washington Area

After service, he remained in the Washington area, where he met his wife, Sue, and played the "dives" until he was picked up by an Arlington, Va., radio and television station. He stayed there for 10 years, emceeing his own radio and television shows

In the middle 1950's, CBS signed him and featured him on the "Morning Show" out of Washington for the next 27 months. This was followed by a Saturday afternoon show. Finally, the network brought him to New York to become the host of his own five-times-a-week midafternoon program.

From here on in, Dean's career moved into high gear.

Time Is Running Out For Batman

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7 — Channels 11-6-9 — Holy Sands of Time, but it's a wild sight watching Batman and Robin escape from the quickly-filling hour glass in which they are imprisoned. But time is not yet up for the Clock King's (Walter Slezak) caper, for he plans to rob Bruce Wayne's stately manor and also heist a Cesium clock (IF you don't know what that is, Batman will tell you).

6:30-7:30 — Channels 4-5 — There's enough plotting and counter-plotting on Daniel Boone for a modern espionage drama, but it's a good adventure for series fans, with plenty of suspense. George Washington sends a message to Boone (Fess Parker) saying he will accept Dan'l's invitation to visit Kentucky. Only Boone never sent the message. Then Michael Rennie rides into town as the man assigned to check the area to insure the President's safety and picks a fight with Mingo (Ed Ames).

7:30-8 — Channels 2-7-12 — Robbie is introduced to a visiting Italian lass and some old-fashioned Italian customs on My Three Sons. It's one of the show's formula plots, but that won't bother series regulars. While Robbie's friendship blooms into much more than he expected, brother Chip is going through initiation chores to get into a secret club. He gets a big shock when he is taken in the club and learns its "Awful Secret."

7:30-8:30 — Channels 4-5 — Star Trek adds a science-fiction gimmick to a classic Western tale about mail-order brides and women-hungry men. Three sexy, sinuous, slithering, sequinned women are brought aboard the Enterprise by Roger C. Carmel, a man who can't be up to any good wearing, as he does, a bushy mustache.

8-8:30 — Channels 11-6-9 — Bewitched is helped by a change of scenery. A wood nymph comes to the Stephens house to avenge the curse of Killycone Karney, placed on Darren the Bold in the 14th Century for slaying Rufus the Red. So Sam decides to play "Undo the Deed" to save 20th century Darren, going back in time to become a lusty barmaid fighting off Darren the Bold, and trying to avert a fight without her magic powers.

8-10:30 — Channels 2-7-12 — There's a great case in "The Victors" on The Thursday Night Movie, but the film is filled with all those endearing cliches about love in the bedroom and gut-spilling on the battlefield. The cast, international as the U.N., includes Albert Finney, Melina Mercouri, Eli Wallach, George Peppard, George Hamilton, Jeanne Moreau, Elke Sommer, Peter Fonda, Rosanna Schiaffino, Senta Berger and Vincent Edwards.

8:30-9 — Channels 11-6-9 — Marlo Thomas meets a very rich young man who "acts like a movie" on That Girl. He sends her flowers, buys out the theater where she is appearing in an experimental play, "A Preponderance of Artichokes" (she is a delight giving a one-woman performance of the show), and keeps taking her to expensive restaurants where the wine's vintage and price are the same.

* * *

9-10 — Channels 11-6-9 — A clever plot to steal negotiable securities and use a hired limousine to transport them out of the state is unfolded on Hawk, but the plot is not at all what it seems. It apparently goes wrong when the limousine is stolen, but does it? None of this fools intrepid Burt Reynolds for long, as he sniffs out the criminals' scent with the help of a boutonniere in a dead man's lapel. Robert Duvall and Murray Hamilton head the gang, but Carol Rossen, an "innocent bystander," is also important to the denouement.

Lady Lawyer, Jean Arthur, Gets the Axe

Comedienne Says She's Relieved Her First TV Try Over

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Arthur, fabled comedienne of the movies' golden years, quit 13 years of retirement to play a lady lawyer in a television series this year —and the show was one of the first to be axed.

So how does she feel?

"Relieved that I don't have to read any more of those awful scripts."

Miss Arthur, whose candor is as refreshing as it is uncharacteristic for this part of the world, told an interviewer she was "disappointed, of course" when CBS handed her the pink slip. But she's game for another try — with the right kind of show.

65th in Ratings

CBS' action came after the "Jean Arthur Show" wound up 65th among 90 shows in the Nielsen ratings

The series — awaited with anticipation by fans of the husky-voiced actress — marked Miss Arthur's return to a full-time career after retiring to California's Monterey Peninsula 13 years ago

The star of such film classics as "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "You Can't Take It with You" and "Shane," she came back to Hollywood last year to guest star in "Gunsmoke," then agreed to a series

How did it go wrong?

"I don't know," she said "I do know that I had nothing to say in the production matters. I tried to make myself heard, but I knew early in the series that things weren't going right."

Long a recluse, Miss Arthur has had the reputation for being skittish in her personal life, and local observers feared she would not be able to withstand the rigors of a TV series She fooled them by plunging into the work with the vigor of a starlet

"The Jean Arthur Show" will be replaced Dec 5 by the long-run "To Tell the Truth."

Fire Destroys Workshop-Shed Near Leeman

LEEMAN — Fire which broke out about 8 a.m. today destroyed a garage and workshop at the home of Harlan Greeley, about one-half mile north of here.

Authorities said the workshop contained carpenter tools valued at $2,000 and some small farm machinery. The loss was partially insured.

No one was home when the fire started. The volunteer fire department was called by a neighbor who saw the flames.

Union Official Beaten to Death In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A union official was beaten to death Wednesday night as he walked with his dog near his Flushing, Queens, home.

Police were searching for a well-groomed man wearing a shirt with a ruffled front who neighbors said stood over the victim and kicked him in the head before fleeing in a black and white auto.

The dead man was identified as James P. Fox, 62, business agent for Local 606, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Fox died at Flushing Hospital while undergoing surgery for head wounds.

The scene of the attack was a middle-class residential neighborhood of one- and two-family homes about 30 minutes from Times Square by subway.

Detectives said no motive was immediately apparent.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS
are a GROWTH BUSINESS

It takes more people to publish today's newspapers

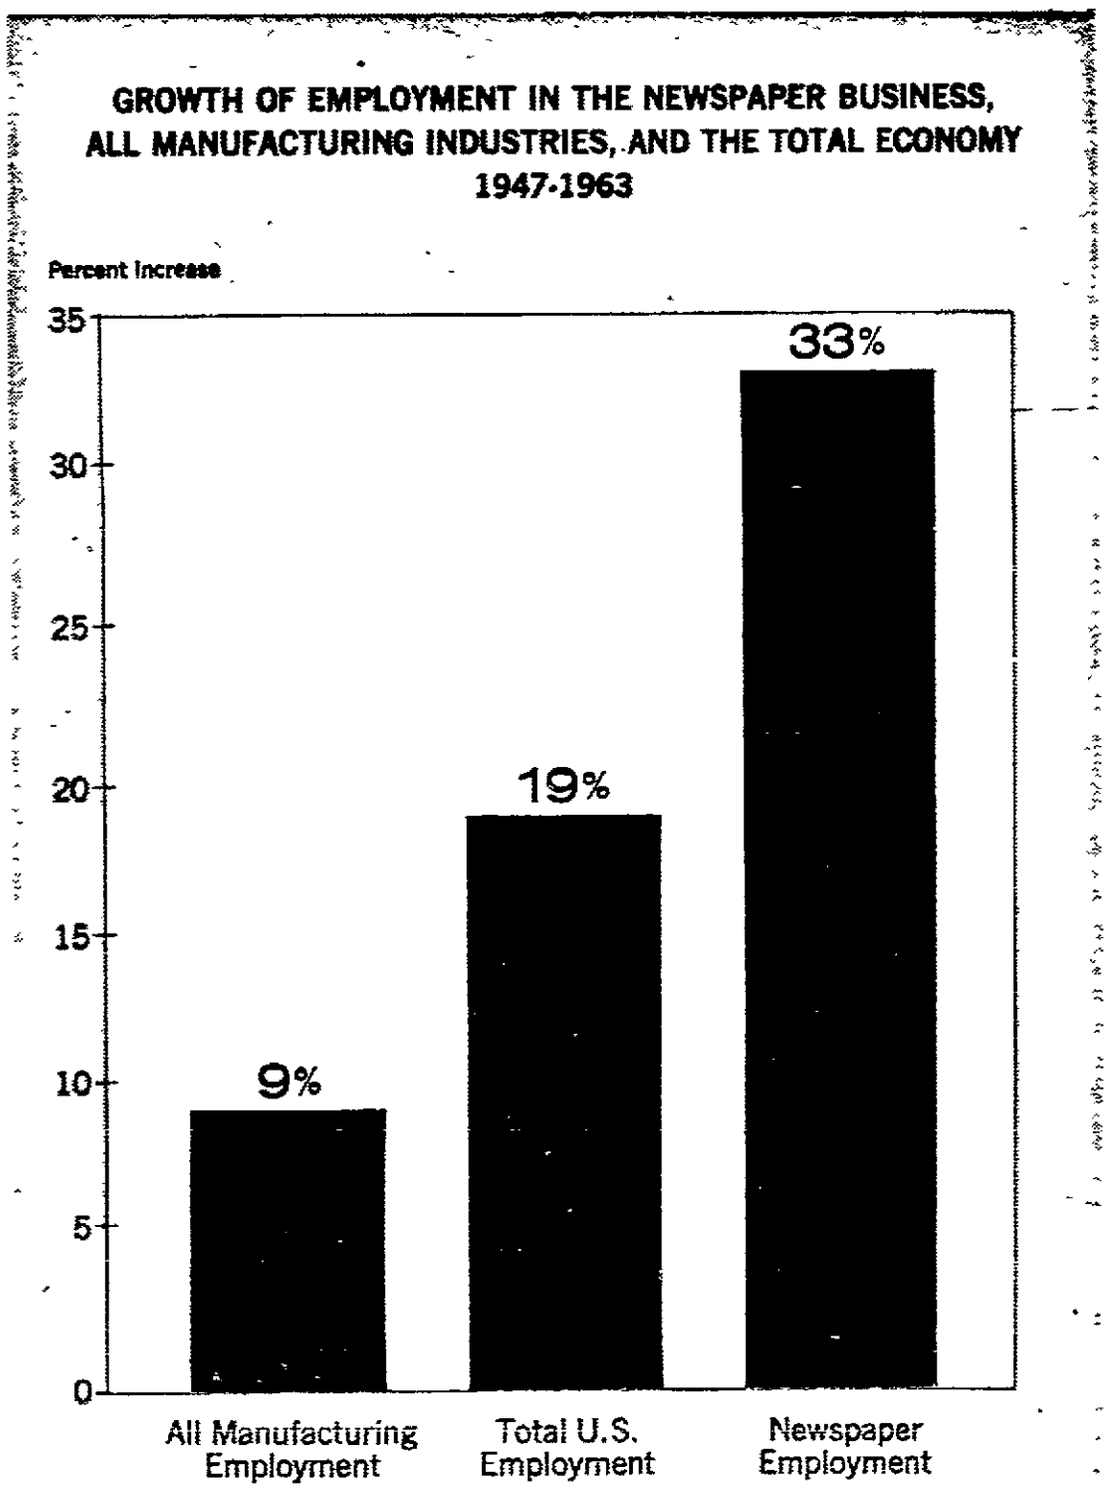

Any growing business needs more people... Newspapers are one of the fastest growing businesses in the U. S. today!

An average of 20,000 men and women now enter America's burgeoning labor force each week. From 1947 through 1963 the nation's economy absorbed 11 million additional workers. Total employment increased 19% in 16 years.

During the same years employment in the daily newspaper business increased by 33% ... to more than 329,000. By comparison, employment in all manufacturing industries rose by 9%, in retail and wholesale trade, 29%. Employment in the transportation industries dropped by 5% and in mining by 33%.

Increase in staff is but one reflection of the overall growth of daily newspapers since the end of World War Two. This growth is also reflected by marked increases in every other significant index—circulation, news content, advertising, newsprint consumption...and all are still growing.

Newspapers are growing for one reason: Only the newspaper covers the news fully and in depth. There is no substitute for the daily newspaper.

Source: Employment and Earnings for the U.S. 1909-64, U.S. Department of Labor. Total U.S. employment data are taken from the Statistical Abstract of the United States which uses the same source, Employment and Earnings

For more information on why daily newspapers are a growth business, write for a free copy of the new booklet, "The Growth of the American Daily Newspaper," an economic analysis published by the University of Wisconsin.

Fox, Wolf River Flood Control Study Okayed

The Senate Wednesday completed Congressional action on a $4 1 billion Public Works Appropriation bill which includes $10 000 for continuation of a flood control study on the Fox and Wolf Rivers

The flood control study has been underway for several years Local river basins' allocations have totaled $111.000 to date. Corps of Engineers officials have said that total project cost is estimated to reach $216.000 before the study is completed

Included in the $4 1 billion measure are funds for U S Army engineers and reclamation bureau to plan and build water projects throughout the country. The Senate Appropriations Committee approved the plan Oct 3, clearing the way for its final passage this week by the House of Representatives and Senate

30 Days in Jail, $100 Fine Meted Hit, Run Driver

A 19-year-old rural Antigo youth whose car was involved in two hit and run accidents on U S 45 Sunday, has been sentenced to 30 days in the Outagamie County jail and was fined $100 and costs

William G Schroeder was sentenced after he pleaded guilty of driving after his license was revoked. County Judge Gustave J Keller fined the youth $50 and costs on each of the two hit and run counts to which Schroeder pleaded guilty If Schroeder fails to pay the fines he will serve an additional 48 days in jail

Outagamie County police said Schroeder's car struck a mailbox, guardpost and tree about 8 p m Sunday near the Dugout Bar, then continued toward New London and struck the rear of a parked car near the Dog and Suds Drive-In

Schroeder's car was halted near Marion by Clintonville and Waupaca County police

Neenah Continues Domination of AP Prep Football Poll

Appleton Ranked in Eighth Place; Denmark Rated Third in Little Ten

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Neenah continued to dominate the weekly Associated Press "Big Ten" high school football poll today while Greenwood, Durand and Denmark fought for position in the "Little Ten."

Neenah (5 - 0) maintained its lead over second-place Wisconsin Rapids (5-0) in the balloting by Wisconsin sports writers.

Greenwood (6 - 0) held on to first in the "Little Ten," the rankings for the state's smaller schools but Durand (6 - 0) and Denmark (6-0) continued to apply pressure to the Cloverbelt Conference kingpin.

The week's only casualties were among the major schools. Milwaukee Boys' Tech, fourth a week ago, fell out of the elite after being surprised 20 - 19 by Milwaukee Pulaski.

LaCrosse Aquinas, fifth last week, lost to Wisconsin Rapids Assumption (5-0) and was also eliminated from the select 10. The Assumption victory moved the Wisconsin Rapids parochial school from sixth to fifth place.

Deerfield (5-1) lost in the "Little Ten" and fell from fifth to 10th place.

Neenah strengthened its prestige with a 47-0 win over Menasha while Wisconsin Rapids also impressed with a 20-6 conquest of Merrill.

Madison Edgewood (5-0) massacred Delafield St. John 47 - 0 but still fell from third to fourth place. Schofield (5-0) idle last week, moved from seventh to fifth place.

Sixth was Madison LaFollette (4-0) the surprise of the Big Eight after its 14-7 victory over Racine Park. La Follette was ninth last week.

West DePere, tied for 10th last week, was a 41 - 0 winner over Bonduel and the Phantoms (6-0) moved to seventh. Appleton (4-1) held still in eighth place after whipping Fond du Lac 13-0.

Whitefish Bay, tied for 10th last week, was ninth after a 32-13 beating of Shorewood while Wausau, 4-1-1 against a tough schedule, moved into 10th on the heels of a 48-7 drubbing of LaCrosse Central.

The top four powers in the "Little Ten" racked up a cumulative score of 252 to 24 in games last weekend.

Got 625 Yards

Greenwood (6-0) got 625 yards while raking Loyal 50-0; Durand (6-0) wrecked Flambeau 85 - 6; Denmark (5 - 0) slaughtered Freedom 68-6 and Grafton (5-0) humbled Random Lake 40-12.

Suring (6-0) moved from sixth to fifth with a 3-2 win over Peshtigo. Milton Union (5 - 1) advanced from seventh to sixth after beating Waterloo 22-7.

Colby (5 - 1) moved up from eight to seventh with a 34-6 victory over Owen-withee.

Weyauwega (6-0) crushed Iola-Scandinavia 39-0 to advance from 10th to eighth place and Cochrane - Fountain City stayed put in ninth despite a 28-13 feat of Blair.

Deerfield (5 - 1) lost to unbeaten Marshall 20-6.

Lawrence Soccer Team to Make Its Home Debut

Aiming for its first win of the season, the Lawrence University Soccer Club will have its home opener at 3:30 p.m. Friday when the Beloit College booters invade the Lawrence field.

The Vikings opened the season last weekend by absorbing an 8-3 setback at the hands of Ripon.

Other games on the Lawrence schedule this season include Ripon here, Oct. 22, 9:30 a.m.; at St. Norbert College, Oct. 25, 3 p.m.; University of Wisconsin here, Oct. 29, 9:30 a.m. and at Marquette University, Nov. 5, 1:30 p.m.

FRVC Harrier Test Here on Saturday

Terrors Eye Repeat of 1965 Triumph at Pierce Park Course

Appleton High School's Scott Schultz, who has covered the Pierce Park Cross Country course within five seconds of be last year's conference winner, will head a contingent of seven Terror runners Saturday morning into the 1966 Fox River Valley Conference cross country meet.

The varsity meet begins at 10:30 a.m., which will be preceded by a junior varsity meet at 10 a.m.

The Terrors will be hoping to repeat as league titlists after whipping the nine other schools in the conference last year. But Appleton is sure to have its work cut out, since each of the top five finishers from coach Herb Simon's crew of a year ago graduated, including the boy who copped conference honors at Kohler, Geoff Garrett.

Strong Challenges

Coach Simon looks for the strongest challenges to come from Manitowoc, Fond du Lac and Oshkosh in this year's run. Manty's Dennis Hozbach should from invading schools, having come in second to Garrett last fall. Fond du Lac boasts the fifth place finisher, Rick Wollner, and the Indians have seen great improvement from a youngster named Preston who finished in the 27th spot.

Schultz has to be considered a top threat to win the test, as the Appleton junior has already taken three firsts in the five in which Appleton has been involved. More importantly, he has won two of the contests on the Pierce Park course.

Along with Schultz will be fellow juniors Ken Vokrol, and Carl Kahler. Randy Thomas will be the only starting senior on the varsity, while Greg Foker, Randy Bohon, and Tom Sommers make up the sophomore contributions.

Xavier, St. John Clash in Key FVCC Game Saturday

Lourdes Puts Title Chances On Line Against Marinette; Zephyrs Tangle With Pennings

VALLEY CATHOLIC CONFERENCE	W	L		W	L
Lourdes	3	1	Pennings	2	2
Premontre	3	1	St. John	2	2
Xavier	3	1	St. Mary	1	3
Marinette	2	2	Springs	0	4

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The most hotly-contested Fox Valley Catholic Conference football race in years reaches another of a continuing series of climaxes Saturday, when two key clashes are programmed.

Defending champion Appleton Xavier, which gained a share of the 1965 lead for the first time in last weekend's hectic goings-on, faces St. John at Little Chute at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Oshkosh Lourdes' Knights, the previous sole leaders who absorbed their first defeat last Saturday, meets Marinette Central in Oshkosh Saturday night.

Green Bay Premontre, which currently shares the top spot with Xavier and Lourdes, alone appears to have easy sailing. The Cadets face winless Springs at Fond du Lac Saturday.

Menasha St. Mary and Pennings launch the action at DePere Friday night.

6 in Running

No fewer than six teams still harbor title aspirations, with the season already past the midpoint. Besides the three leaders, the contenders are St. John, Marinette and Pennings, all with 2-2 records.

Xavier, which passed an impressive and ever-dangerous Marinette team into submission, 20-12, last Friday faces another tough chore Saturday as it continues its quest for a record sixth consecutive FVCC title.

The Chuters, under new coach Avitus Ripp, are considerably improved over the St. John team which was thumped, 33-0, by Xavier last season. In fact, this Chuter team bears resemblance to the 1964 unit, which was coached to a co-championship by Bill Fitzpatrick.

"Torchy" Clark-coached Xavier, which has never lost to St. John, edged the Chuters, 13-7, in that '64 battle which has come to be regarded as a FVCC Classic. It took two major goal-line stands by the Hawks in the waning minutes to preserve the victory and a title share.

The Dutchmen and the Hawks have met three common foes. They both beat Springs and both lost to Lourdes. However, Xavier

Police Guard Gates During Badger Drills

Burt Continues to Work With Ryan, Boyajian at QB

MADISON (AP)— Wisconsin's football team held another secret drill Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's Big Ten game with Northwestern at Camp Randall Stadium.

Coach Milt Bruhn said practices all week would be guarded by uniformed campus policemen and gates would be closed. He did say that for the second straight day Chuck Burt was at his old quarterback spot along with sophomore John Ryan, who will start on Saturday; and junior John Boyajian.

Limited Action

Burt, who was starting quarterback last season, has seen limited action so far as a split end but he is regarded as the Badgers' most accurate passer.

Bruhn said his club should be in good physical shape for the Wildcats, with possibly one exception. Tackle Tony Loukas, bothered by a knee injury, continued to limp in the workouts.

Fullback Wayne Todd had treatment in the student infirmary Wednesday for what Dr. Allen Ryan termed "an inflammation of the lymph gland in the region of the appendix."

Dr. Ryan said Todd should be able to play against Northwestern. Kim Wood and Tom Jankowski alternated at Todd's spot.

Retiring Jazy Sets New 2,000 Meter Mark

PARIS (AP) — France's Michel Jazy set a world record for the 2,000-meter distance with a time of 4:56.2 Wednesday night.

Jazy turned in his performance at suburban St. Maur during a sports jubilee organized in his honor. Jazy recently announced he was retiring from the track.

The previous record for the distance was 4:57.8, set by Norpoth of Germany at Hagen last Sept. 10. Four years ago, on June 14, 1962, Jazy had set what then was a record of 5:01.6.

Blackhawks Tip Columbus, 7-3, In Exhibition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League defeated the Columbus Checkers of the International League 7-3 before a crowd of 3,100 Wednesday night in the first professional hockey game ever played in this city.

Chicago star Bobby Hull scored three goals as the Black Hawks jumped to a 7-1 lead before the New Columbus team outscored them 2-0 in the final period.

LA Angels Sign Four Coaches

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Four coaches were signed Wednesday for the 1967 season by the California Angels baseball club, which dismissed its coaching staff at the end of the 1966 season.

They are Bob Lemon, Billy Herman, Don Heffner and Mike Roarke.

Heffner and Herman have managed major league teams, while last year Roarke was a Detroit Tiger coach and Lemon lead Seattle to the Pacific Coast League pennant.

Bays See McRae Sunday

Packers, Colts Have Hand in Creating Two NFL Players of Week

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The Packers and Colts had the unsavory distinction of creating players of the week last Sunday.

They are, from west to midwest, George Mira of the 49ers and Bennie McRae of the Bears.

Mira pitched two touchdown passes against the Pack and kept the bay defense off-balance in the 49ers' 21-20 victory. McRae intercepted two John Unitas passes and gave Jimmy Orr a fit.

The Packers won't have to consider Mira until Dec. 4 when they meet the 49ers in Milwaukee . . . but they must be aware of the other guy since they face the Bears in Chicago Sunday.

Contend With Dowler

McRae this time will have to contend, for the most part, with the Packers' flanker, Boyd Dowler, except when the Bays flop their wide receivers — in which case it would be Carroll Dale or Max McGee.

McRae, in response to the AP recognition, passed along a few company secrets in discussing his job on Orr.

"I let them get a step on me," Bennie said, "and I guess they thought they could get away. I let them think they had a good thing going and then beat them to the ball."

This is an old trick used by defensive backs. They "lay off" a receiver, tricking the passer into believing his receiver is open. It will work many times on young and inexperienced QBs (which is why it's virtually impossible for rookies to take over a major league club) . . . but on a guy like Unitas? Man!

Batted Down 3

Both of McRae's interceptions were aimed at Orr and the Bear defender batted down three throws. He made one of his interceptions in the end zone and returned it to midfield.

McRae said he received valuable information on Orr from two Colt castoffs, end Duane Allen and QB Fred Custardo, explaining:

"Orr goes on his own. He doesn't have to follow conventional patterns. Knowing that sort of helped me. I had an insight on his thinking as well as Unitas'. Orr is the most unconventional receiver in the league and one of the finest. I have great respect for him and he gets me up for a game more than any other guy."

Dowler has had tough sledding against McRae in the past two years catching one in 1965 for six yards (in Chicago) and four for 60 yards (two in each city) in 1964. The Packers won three of the four games — two in 1964 and the first in '65. McRae made one interception in the four games — in the 31-14 Bear victory in Chicago last year.

Pass to Spots

The Dowler-McRae duel looms as one of the key fights in the game, although (and this is important) Bart Starr will pass to the spots that the Bears leave open. In other words, Starr doesn't pass to individuals: he passes to situations.

In the Bear opener here in 1965, won by the Pack 23-14, Starr completed 11 of 20 passes for 221 yards and eight of the completions went to the backs —Jim Taylor 4, Paul Hornung 3 and Tom Moore 1. Bob Long caught 2 and McGee 1.

Starr's passing his passes around has resulted in a balanced attack and, of course, the club's success under coach Vince Lombardi. And it's also the reason why the Packers rarely have a receiver among the top 10 in the league.

WSU-O Faces Platteville This Weekend

Mighty Whitewater, leading the Wisconsin State University Conference football standings with four victories in as many games, is idle this Saturday — which is good news to the other eight members of the loop.

Second-place River Falls, 2-0-1, entertains Eau Claire, winless in three starts: La Crosse, 2-1, plays host to Stout, 2-2; Platteville 1-2-1, is at Oshkosh, 1-3, and Superior 1-3, is at Stevens Point, 2-1.

Whitewater overshadows last week's action by blasting Superior 45-7 as Platteville dumped Stout, the defending champion, 28-21.

Managing of Goose Flock Brings Stormy Protests

Federal Officials Halt Horicon Shooting

HORICON (AP) — The goose hunting season at Horicon had ended today but the stormy battle over federal officials' efforts to manage the flock was brewing anew.

The season came to an abrupt halt Wednesday, confirming state conservationists' fears that federal attempts to haze the geese from Horicon National Wildlife Refuge would fail and would result only in a slaughter on opening weekend.

An estimated 17,400 Canada geese were killed to top the quota of 14,000 for the seven-county Horizon zone in the first 2½ days of the hunt, federal game officials said.

20 More Days

Under federal plans, Canada geese can be shot in the rest of the state for 20 more days after the quota is reached. The closing of the season for the other 65 counties now will be Nov. 3.

Conservation officials were wary that the early end to hunting in the Horicon area would encourage geese to remain until late in the fall and would result in widespread farm crop damage because of a lack of sufficient food on the Horicon refuge.

Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., blamed the federal officials for the short season and said, "It was the hazing that caused the high kill."

He said, "I feel their hazing program was a mistake and they will admit this themselves."

Early Objections

State officials had objected early to the federal plans to try to scare the geese from the muddy marshes of the refuge before the hunting season began.

State threats to arrest federal game wardens shrank eventually to court efforts to halt the hazing. The legal struggle is still being waged, but prospects for a court barrier to the noisemaking methods were soon smashed.

The hazing was begun in an effort to send more birds into the Mississippi River flyway and improve hunting in the Cairo, Ill., area. Federal officials said Horicon had been overpopulated last year with a flock of 120,000 on a refuge meant for 50,000.

Despite firecrackers and buzzing airplanes, the gaggle this year had grown to 93,500 at last count.

Disperse Birds

Gov. Warren P. Knowles had argued the hazing would only disperse the birds into nearby cornfields and cause a wholesale slaughter on the very first weekend of the hunting season.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in closing the season after only one weekend, said about 8,400 Canada geese were registered as killed in the immediate Horicon area Saturday afternoon, Sunday and Monday.

They estimated that 11,300 birds had been shot in the region, counting birds bagged but

Winter Limelight on Robinson

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Robinson began living the ood life Wednesday as the winter-long rites of idolization formally began for the World Series hero triple-crown winner and almost certain American League Most Valuable Player.

The Baltimore outfielder was presented the sports car, given annually by Sport Magazine to the World Series hero, at a luncheon

After that, there was an evening performance of Mame, whose last-minute tickets usually go to the wives and daughters of presidents. Sunday, there is a television show and after that another dinner and another award and so on until the start of spring training

Will Miss Family

"I guess I won't see as much as I'd like to of my family or my new house in Los Angeles," Robinson said while siging autographs "I'm going to see as much as I can, though."

Robinson lifted his pen from luncheon programs long enough to sign several contracts and forms given him by Frank Scott, whose business is to get star athletes the maximum dollar for off-season appearances

Looking on somewhat wistfully as Frank willingly signed everything in front of him, was Jerold C Hoffberger, chairman of the board of the Orioles, who, if Robinson has his way, will have to pay a substantial sum for that same autograph

"I guess I'll get his autograph," Hoffberger said. "Sometime. . ."

"He's an easy man," Robinson said of Hoffberger, "easy to rub elbows with, but, I don't know, he won't let me get at his money."

$100,000 Bracket

Robinson said he hasn't had time to think seriously about next season's salary, but that $100,000 would be a good place to start when negotiations begin in January

"They probably won't offer it right away, though," he said with a grin.

Robinson is only the second hitter to win the automobile. Of the other 11 winners, only Bobby Richardson, of the 1960 New York Yankees, was not a pitcher

Al Silverman, editor of the magazine, said that before the final series game there was no clear-cut winner. He said he told Oriole Manager Hank Bauer to put in Moe Drabowsky, the pitching star in the first game, and give him a chance to do well again.

"Then when Frank hit that home run," Silverman said, "I said to myself, 'Please, Hank, please don't put Drabowsky in'."

Better Than Gogolaks

Tiny Cypriot Soccer Kicker Awes Falcons

ATLANTA, Ga (AP) — A 22-year-old Cypriot, who less than four months ago never had seen a football except on television, may show the National Football League a thing about kicking

Garo Sarkis Yepremian, who boots left-footed soccer style, demonstrated his technique Wednesday to Atlanta Falcon coach Norb Hecker. Hecker was impressed.

"He's not very big — 5-foot-8 and 165 pounds," said Hecker, "but he was knocking them in consistently from 55 yards in a pracuce session"

Lacks Diploma

Hecker, whose new Falcons are winless in five league games, said, "We'll take another look at him and then make a decision."

Garo is offering himself to the pros after a difficult and apparently unsuccessful attempt to enter Butler University in Indianapolis, Ind., where he has been living with his older brother Krikor.

Garo doesn't have a high school diploma, which he attributes to the conflict between the Turks and Greeks when he was on Cyprus

The diploma factor apparently soured Indiana University on accepting him. So he tried Butler

Butler's assistant coach Bill Sylvester, who tried to recruit Garo for the Bulldogs, said, "If he demonstrates he can carry university work, then he can be accepted as a student working towards a degree."

He has to take high school equivalency tests before he can study at Butler. Chris Theophanis, Butler's public relations man, said this was the biggest problem for the Cypriot.

Garo, who speaks Armenian, Greek, Turkish and English, had moved to London with his parents — father Sarkis and mother Azadouhi — about two years ago.

From London

Four months ago, Krikor Yepremian, 26, Indiana University's soccer captain in 1963, sent for Garo

Krikor showed his brother how to kick a football. It wasn't long before Garo was splitting the goalposts with booming shots from the 50-yard range.

After he started working out with the Butler team, it was reported Garo was kicking successfully from 65 yards.

"He's better than the Gogolaks," said Krikor, comparing Garo with the Hungarian-born Pete and Charley Gogolak, now proven booters in the NFL.

Harrier Takes Wrong Turn, Ends Race Downtown

GREENFIELD, Mass. (AP) —On the day of the great navigator Christopher Columbus, give a thought to the navigation problems of cross-country runner Ed Moriarty, who got to the finish line by bus and car.

Moriarty, from Holyoke High School, took a wrong turn during a run Wednesday over the Greenfield High School course He ended up in downtown Greenfield in running togs.

Unabashed, he took a bus to Greenfield High School and principal Robert Vail drove him to the finish line.

By that time the race had been over an hour and coaches and runners from both teams had gone back over the course looking for the stray.

Priddy, Pitcher for Giants, Gets Married

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Bob Priddy, San Francisco Giants pitcher, and Mrs. Marylin Ryan of San Mateo were married Wednesday at a Reno wedding chapel. It was the second marriage for each.

This Was One of the Largest geese reported taken last weekend when Wisconsin's brief season opened. Pete Vanden Brook, 719 S. Memorial Drive, bagged this 11-pounder which had a wing-spread of just over five feet. Pete got the honker near Rosendale. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Angry Florida State Coach Calls for Electronic Gadgets

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Coach Bill Peterson said Monday electronic devices should be used to help officials make decisions on controversial plays such as the one which beat his Florida State football team last Saturday.

Speaking to the Atlanta Touchdown Club, Peterson said he realizes there is no way Florida State can be declared the official winner of its game with Florida "but I have declared that we were the winner and it's official for our boys."

Florida State lost to its intrastate rival 22-19, when an official ruled that a pass into the end zone by the Seminoles with 17 seconds left was caught out of bounds.

"I know it is a judgment call and there is nothing I can do about it," said Peterson, who brought a film of the play and five newspaper photographs which he said showed the receiver should have been credited with a touchdown.

"With all the electronic devices we have in football, why don't we have video tape or something like that to help officials on a close play."

Cassius Preps for Williams Title Go

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay started training Wednesday for his next title fight He went three rounds with a sparring mate, something he's never done before in an opening workout.

"He had to," said trainer Angelo Dundee. "He only has a month and two days to get ready."

Clay fights Cleveland Williams Nov. 14 in the Astrodome at Houston, Tex.

Clay, who weighed in at 215, went three rounds with Jimmy Ellis, a 190-pounder who gave the champion a good pounding

Don't Quit; Just Switch Your Tactics

Marked Change in 1966 Hunting Conditions Throughout Wisconsin

BY DAVE DUFFEY
Post-Crescent News Service

SHAWANO — What a difference a year makes!

A hunter doesn't have to be very smart to note a drastic change in hunting conditions. But if he expects to put a few upland birds in the bag, or at least shoot a few holes in the air behind some fluttering woodcock or rocketing ruffed grouse, he'd better adapt to the change.

Last year, the low spots in the upland habitat in this area contained water accumulated from heavy September rains. Rain came too late to help much with the duck hunting. This year it's even worse. There's no water. Dried up potholes and ditches, high and dry cattails, slough bottoms baked hard as concrete bring about a feeling of desolation to a hunter.

Kick Up Dust

Take a favorite spot. Where last year a man waded at the risk of slopping over his hipboots or miring himself in a pair of waders, dogs swam and lunged through water and muck now leather shod feet kick up dust and when the panting dogs find a really deep hole to loll and lap in they emerge caked with mud. The change between the 1965 and the 1966 season is marked and discouraging.

But does that mean a hunter must quit? Maybe. But for others it indicates a change of tactics and all is not gloomy.

The upland hunter must find water. This means small streams and creeks. Ruffed grouse and woodcock will be found near the water borders. If he locates properly the hunter may find some faster shooting in a shorter period of time than in a wet year when birds are widely scattered Furthermore, he may pick up some bonus shots at puddle ducks who are forced to use the edges of fast flowing streams when their favorite potholes are dried up.

Slogged Through

Last year, some of the "intermediate" upland cover, that which is rather low land but not actually marsh, was too wet to harbor birds The cover a man in leather or low rubber boots either avoided or resolutely slogged through, ignoring the discomfort of wet feet, can now be easily negotiated. Expect to find birds in it.

It is just such a place where a man may stumble onto a flight of woodcock which tries to use the same place, briefly, year after year, even though local birds have forsaken it for the moisture they require to last out the months they spend in one area. If it's within a quarter mile off a logging road or unsurfaced town road, such a spot may be a refuge for ruffed grouse pushed hard by road hunters who teach the birds they'll be relatively undisturbed in places where tire tracks are unknown

This year, if a man is just a casual shooter, he might as well hang up his gun. But if he's a hunter, proud of his ability to find birds where others fail, the 1966 season is a real challenge that will keep him out seeking when the more sensible, but less dedicated, have returned to their beer and television.

Redskins Add To Collection Of Ex-Giants

Looney Latest Castoff Joining Washington Club

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins chapter of the Society of Ex-Giants is growing rapidly. With a new member accepted last week, it's now a foursome.

"We eat together," said fullback Steve Thurlow, who the Redskins acquired from the New York Giants four weeks ago. "Of course, among the topics we discuss are the Giants."

The Redskins and the Giants meet in New York Sunday in a National Football League game.

The newest member of the Washington ex-Giants Club is fullback Joe Don Looney, who came to the Redskins from New York by way of Baltimore and Detroit.

The oldest member is linebacker Sam Huff, who has been a Redskin for three years. The fourth is Jim Carroll, who came to Washington along with Thurlow.

Joe Don Member

Looney, No. 1 draft choice by the Giants for 1964, has moved into the same apartment building in suburban Virginia as Thurlow, the No. 2 pick by the Giants in 1964. Both drive to practice with Carroll.

"We all hope we have a good day on Sunday," said Thurlow. "I like all the guys on the New York squad but that makes you want to beat them all the more. You get more pleasure out of winning over guys you know real well.

"The Giants aren't a bad club," he said. "They've just been getting some bad breaks."

Coach Otto Graham expects a tough game Sunday.

"They have finally found themselves," Graham said "They should have won the ball game Sunday and they're going to be a little upset that they lost it."

New York lost to St. Louis 24-19 in the waning minutes of last Sunday's game.

Thurlow believes he will be ready mentally for the game. Even though he admits he has been having a difficult time learning the Washington system.

Things Different

"We do things differently here than we did in New York," he said. "The numbering of the holes is different, so it has been taking me a little longer.

"Another problem is that this is the first time I've run at fullback. I have always been a halfback and now I have to learn new cuts.

"But I'm getting there."

Thurlow believes Looney, who also admitted to having a problem in learning the system, will be ready.

"It's nothing to learning the plays," Looney said. "It's learning the numbering system that's the difficult part"

Cove Scores Win in Touch Grid League

KAUKAUNA — Cove Tavern recently edged Local 3841, 18-12, in the touch football league. The winners scored on a Bob Van Wychen-to-Ed Gast pass and passes from Chet Dietzen to Van Wychen and Ken Bay. Both tallies for the losers came on passes from Bob LaPlante to Jan Albers.

NOTES and NOTIONS

John L. Pawlowski

The 49ers stunned this predictor, as well as the Packers, but the six other scattered deviations from the "X & X" form sheet were less shocking and did nothing to damage the season's average. In fact, the .816 pace (31 of 38) inched the over-all average up to 78.4 per cent (134 right, 37 wrong and 3 ties).

Packers over Bears — In view of the Bears' revitalization, this pick is made with trepidation. Physically, there is little to choose, since both defenses have turned in inspired performances and both offenses can make the big play. From less tangible standpoints, the Packers may have the edge because the West Coast misadventure stamped out any last bit of complacency that might have been present and they're due for some retaliation against the Bears who have "handled" them for the last 2½ games they've played.

Wisconsin over Northwestern — For the third time in five games, the Badgers are playing a team that's in their own "talent league" — and they've done all right thus far in such meetings.

Lawrence over Knox — For the first time, the Vikes won't be playing a top contender. If they play anywhere near their level of the first three weeks, they'll still be unbeaten by 4 p.m. Saturday.

Appleton over Manitowoc — On the theory that an outstanding defense can stop an outstanding offense on most days, we'll give a slight nod to the Terrors. This figures to be close all the way — the kind of game that a break could decide.

Xavier over St. John — Speaking of close contests, here's another that could go either way. The Chuters have offensive capability this season to topple the Hawks, but Xavier has gained confidence with recent wins over dangerous Pennings and Marinette teams and it may pay off in this tough game.

Fox Lutheran over Milwaukee University School — The Foxes are taking on another big assignment, but in view of their past showings, they have the potential to rack up an important win.

Neenah over New London — The Buildogs pulled one of last year's shockers (a 13-13 tie with the Rockets), but the law of averages says powerful Neenah can't be slowed down again this time.

Kaukauna over Clintonville — The Ghosts, second only to the Rockets in M-E power, have too much for the improving Truckers.

Kimberly over Menasha — The potent Papermaker defense will chalk up another victim.

Pennings over St. Mary — The Squires, who finally hit their expected form against St. John last week, have too much strength for the Zephyrs.

Little Nine Conference — Denmark over Brillion, Freedom over Shiocton, Hilbert over Omro, Wrightstown over Reedsville, Winneconne over Hortonville.

Central Wis. Conference — Manawa over Amherst, Waupaca over Marion, Wittenberg over Iola-Scandinavia.

Other NFL games — Dallas over St. Louis, Baltimore over Detroit, Minnesota over Los Angeles, Pittsburgh over Philadelphia, San Francisco over Atlanta, Washington over New York.

Other FRVC games — Oshkosh over South, Fond du Lac over Southwest, West over East, North over Preble.

Other MC games — St Olaf over Beloit, Ripon over Coe, Carleton over Cornell, Grinnell over Monmouth.

Other games — Chilton over Valders, Kewaunee over Bonduel, West DePere over Seymour, Premontre over Springs, Marinette over Lourdes, Shawano over Two Rivers.

Bulldog Frosh Tip Hortonville For 4th Straight

NEW LONDON — Ted Feurig broke off two touchdown runs in the first quarter and the Washington School freshmen held on for a 14-0 win over Hortonville Wednesday at Hatten Stadium.

Feurig put the Bulldogs on the scoreboard with a 34-yard run around left end following a New London recovery of a fumble at its own 49.

Pete Meiklejohn sneaked over for the extra point.

The Bulldogs recovered the kick off on the Hortonville 29-yard line and then moved for four-yards on the first play. Feurig circled left end again for a 25-yard scoring jaunt. Meiklejohn tallied the point after on another sneak.

Coach Les Emerich's Bulldogs recorded their fourth straight shutout of the season in the game.

Jack Lloyd Cards Ace on Reid Course

Jack Lloyd sank a hole-in-1 on the 135-yard sixth hole at the Reid Municipal course earlier this week.

He used a 9-iron. Others in his group were Roy Hella and Hank De Roche.

Major Stock Car Event

Ford Teams Favored In National 500 Race

CHARLOTTE (AP) — "Those Ford boys are hungry. It has been a long time between paychecks, and they're out for bread and butter."

That was the way one veteran stock car racing official summed it up Wednesday after ace drivers Fred Lorenzen and Gordon Johncock teamed in new Ford Fairlanes to win both front row spots for Sunday's National 500, a $75,000 event that normally doesn't claim the attention in the auto racing world that it is now getting.

"The word came down from Dearborn: Win at Charlotte and win big," said the track veteran. "They've got everything in their arsenal here and they're the people you've got to beat."

Overhead Cam

Other sources said Ford is trying to decide whether to campaign their Fairlane series cars with wedge-type engines next year, or whether to use their expensive single overhead cam engine which has been approved for the stock car tracks in 1967.

The National 500 and the American 500 at Rockingham Oct. 30, are said to be the testing grounds from which a decision will come later from Dearborn.

And, most sources believe, Chrysler Corp. is looking across the fence to see what Ford comes up with for next year before deciding its own future in the sport.

If such be the case, Ford surely has put its talent on the line at Charlotte Motor Speedway this week. Lorenzen is the sport's all-time money winner, and he has won the last three races he has started at Charlotte.

Johncock, a 24-year-old Hastings, Mich., driver, finished fourth at Indianapolis Memorial Day. Other drivers in the Dearborn stable are A. J. Foyt, two-time Indianapolis winner; Cale Yarborough; Dick Hutcherson and Darel Dieringer.

Factory Teams

Ford pulled its factory teams off the stock car tracks in April after a dispute with sanctioning bodies over use of the overhead cam engine. It returned in August after the engine was made legal for 1967.

Lorenzen posted a six-mile average of 150.533 miles per hour to win the pole position and Johncock was clocked at 150.407 for the other front row spot. It will be the first time in two years that Fords have occupied both front row spots in a major race.

The other first day qualifiers were Curtis Turner in a Chevelle, 150.083; Richard Petty, 1966 Plymouth, 149.058; Buddy Baker, 1966 Dodge, 148.719; Yarborough, 1966 Fairlane, 148.443; Paul Goldsmith, 1966 Plymouth 147.963; and Earl Balmer, 1965 Dodge, 146.510.

Waiting in the wings to try for the eight spots open today were such notables as Foyt, Hutcherson, Dieringer and Ned Jarrett, all Ford drivers; Plymouth's Jim Hurtubise, Jim Paschal, Marvin Panch; and Dodge's Lee Roy Yarbrough, David Pearson, Don White and Sam McQuagg.

Impressive Build-Up of Ducks Noted on Prairies in Canada

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP) — Warm weather and a good food supply have slowed migrations and led to an impressive build up of waterfowl on the Canadian Prairies, Ducks Unlimited reported Wednesday.

While there has been some movement of early-migrating species such as blue-winged teal and pintail, scattered light frost has not been severe enough to move birds off even the smaller ponds.

"Although only minor migrations have moved in from the North, the build-up of waterfowl across the Prairies is really impressive. The larger lakes and marshes in Saskatchewan and Alberta and, to a lesser degree, in Manitoba are holding the largest numbers of waterfowl seen in many years," says Angus Gavin, general manager.

In Alberta, the concentration of ducks from the Red Deer River south is described as one of the best of the past 10 years. This applies to all species, although mallards have not reached the peak of the early 1950s.

In Saskatchewan, waterfowl are widely dispersed throughout the prairie marshes and lakes. Manitoba reports a significant increase in the Lake Manitoba basin and Winnipegosis area.

Purdue Soph Tops Scorers

Perry Williams Has 9 Touchdowns for Total of 54 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — Perry Williams, a Purdue sophomore who is supposed to be a defensive back, leads the nation's major-college football players in scoring.

According to statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, Williams' 54 points, obtained exclusively on touchdowns, makes him the leader. Last week, Williams was tied with Lenny Snow of Georgia Tech, but Williams scored twice again against Iowa while Snow was blanked by Tennessee and fell to a tie for second with Cabot Knowlton of Penn.

Williams was originally recruited as a defensive back and played exclusively on defense for the Purdue freshmen last year.

Jack Clancy of Michigan leads the nation's pass catchers with 35 receptions good for 479 yards. Doug Flansburg of Washington State, is second with 33 catches for 351 yards.

76er's Take NBA Exhibition Loop Crown

Philly Challenges Boston Supremacy; Lakers End Up Last

The Philadelphia 76ers, expected by many to end Boston's long reign as champions of the National Basketball Association in the regular season that opens Saturday night, won the pre-season NBA mythical crown.

The 76ers, led by big Wilt Chamberlain, finished with a 10-3 record in the exhibition schedule that ended Wednesday night with the New York Knicks beating Baltimore 121-105 at Hartford, Conn., and the new Chicago Bulls downing Detroit 113-99 at Kokomo, Ind.

Dick Barnett and Butch Komives each scored 21 points in leading the Knicks to their fourth straight victory. The defeat dropped the Bullets to the bottom of the exhibition standings with a 2-10 record, a half-game worse than Los Angeles.

L A Last

The Lakers, favored to repeat as Western Division kings, finished with a 3-10 mark including seven straight defeats.

This is how the teams fared in their pre-season tests: Philadelphia 10-3, Cincinnati 9-5, Detroit 9-6, Chicago 6-3, San Francisco 5-4, New York 6-6, St. Louis 7-8, Boston 6-8, Los Angeles 3-10 and Baltimore 2-10.

Don Kojis, with 25 points, led the Bulls over the Pistons. The Bulls were behind 52-36 at halftime.

West Hurt

In other developments Jerry West, Los Angeles star, was found to have suffered a torn spring ligament Tuesday night, and will miss the Lakers' opening game at Baltimore Saturday. Billy McGill, 6-foot-10 former Utah All-America, was released by San Francisco.

In addition to Los Angeles at Baltimore, Saturday night's other opening games find San Francisco at Boston, Detroit at Cincinnati, New York at Philadelphia and Chicago at St. Louis.

Butch's Captures Touch Football League Honors

KIMBERLY — Butch's Pizza (5-0) won the championship of the KRA Touch Football League by trouncing Jerry's Lanes, 28-0.

Kamp's Bar (3-1-1) finished second; followed by Jerry's Lanes (3-2); Dud's Inn (2-2-1); DX Service (2-3) and Vic's Hillside Bar (0-5).

In the final game, Tom Peerenboom fired two touchdown passes to his brother Hank to lead Butch's.

Dud's and Jerry Kamp's Bar battled to a 13-13 deadlock with Ron Smith and Joe Bolwerk scoring for Kamp's.

The league tournament gets underway tonight at 6 p.m.

Research Chemist Wins Third Straight 15-Kilometer Race

MANCHESTER, N H (AP) — Research chemist Ralph Bushmann of Andover, Mass., won his third consecutive Columbus Day 15-kilometer race here Wednesday.

He covered the 9.7 mile course in 47 minutes, 38 seconds, topping second-place finisher Glynn Woods of the Boston Athletic Association by one minute, 52 seconds.

Dave Dunsky of Northeastern University was third, trailing Woods by six seconds.

Hanging Garden Envelope! Thumbtack It to the Wall

BY CAPPY DICK

A hanging garden that seems to be growing in a long, brown envelope is today's fun-project for boys and girls.

Use Artificial Vines

Materials needed are the envelope, some black wool yarn, a thumbtack and a few green artificial vines. If the vines have clusters of red berries attached to them, the contrast with the green will increase the there are no berries, bits of color can be applied by typing short pieces of red yarn here and there on the vines.

Stuff the envelope with the black yarn to represent soil and insert the ends of the vines. To hold them securely so they will not slip out, the ends may be taped inside the envelope before the yarn is tuffed into it.

Attach the envelope to the wall of your room with a thumbtack as the boy has done in the picture.

Officials Put Lid on Hunt At Horicon

not tagged. The total estimate for the broader, seven-county zone was placed at 17,400

The decision halted hunting in Dodge, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Columbia, Jefferson, Juneau and Winnebago counties.

Hunting can continue for ducks and for blue and snow geese.

Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., earlier Wednesday had urged Interior Secretary Stewart Udall to consider ending the hazing operations

Frightened Away

He joined Kastenmeier in saying the hazing was largely responsible for the heavy kill because birds were frightened away from the protection of the refuge.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a statement at Washington that closing of the Horicon Refuge and the seven-county area after only one weekend of shooting "proves that the federal policy, however, well intentioned, was a failure.

"State authorities report a kill of 9,600 geese last weekend Federal officials set the figure at 17,400 statewide. Obviously both cannot be right.

"In view of this and because of the ridiculously short hunting season period, I am asking Secretary Udall to immediately increase Wisconsin's quota by 100 per cent.

"Based on last weekend's hunting, this would permit only a few days more hunting But it would give Wisconsin hunters a chance at the geese before they settle in the surrounding farmers' corn fields

Argued Vigorously

"The Interior Department argued vigorously that too many geese were congregating at Horicon and its plan was to prevent this But how can this concentration be eliminated if hunting is stopped after three days?

"The hazing apparently was a failure. If the geese were scattered from the refuge by the hazing and with the season now closed, the damage to be expected to corn crops is horrendous"

John S Gottschalk, director of sport fisheries and wildlife for the department, said the hazing efforts appeared to have been partially successful.

"There are nearly twice as many Canada geese in the southern Illinois area this time of year," he said.

But he also said that excellent hunting conditions in the Wisconsin area and a hunter reaction of "get 'em while we can" combined to produce the heavy early kill.

stopped Pennings, while St. John fell to the Squires.

St. John has a 3-2 mark, overall, with its other wins coming over Kimberly and Premontre The 21 13 victory over the Cadets looms larger than ever in view of Premontre's current 3-win surge Xavier, with a 5-1 overall record has recorded its other wins at the expense of St. Paul (Minn.) Hill, Rhinelander and Marinette.

Xavier has averaged 19 5 points in conference play, while the Chuters have averaged 16 3 Defensively, the Hawks have a wider edge — with an average yield of only 6 3 points (best in the FVCC) while St. John has allowed 17 5

From the total-defense standpoint, St. John holds the edge — having permitted 163 yards per game, compared to 183 5 for Xavier. They rank second and third, respectively, to Premontre (146 yards). The Hawks have the best defense against passing, having been nicked for only 54 5 yards per game.

Marinette Leads

Offensively, Marinette continues to lead, with an average pick-up of 312 yards a game Xavier is second, with a 287 average, and St. John ranks third, with 215 5 The Hawks have the most productive aerial offense, having gained 153 yards per FVCC start

Xavier's John Wenning is also the individual league leader, with 32 completions in 64 tries for 562 yards. St. Mary's Mike Heroux also has a .500 average (37 for 74) but has gained 473 yards. St. John has thrown the most passes — 101, with 40 completions. Lee Weyenberg has hit the mark 35 times in 83 throws, for 382 yards. Dennis Locy, the league's top field goal kicker, has spelled Weyenberg at QB on occasion.

Locy ranks third in league scoring (with 21 points) and "Oscar" Schuler is third in rushing, with 267 yards in 60 tries. The Graff brothers have been Xavier's top gainers, with "Bubsy" getting 226 yards in 37 tries and Terry 147 yards in 36 carries.

Xavier's Tom Heinritz is tied with Marinette's Steve Sequin for the most pass receptions — 14.

Zelinske Nearly Assured Post as Chief of Wardens

MADISON (AP) — State conservation officials were almost assured today of being able to elevate their open favorite, Walter Zelinske, to chief warden after a three year legal struggle over the post

Both Zelinske and his court room rival, conservation pilot Kenneth Beghin, are among five finalists whom state personnel officials named today as successful in passing written tests for the job.

After points for seniority and scores on oral interviews are added to the exam results, conservation officials can make their choice among any of the top three applicants for the job. Zelinske's experience is almost certain to give him a score in the top three.

Zelinske, who is now assistant chief warden, was named to the No. 1 enforcement position in the State Conservation Department after a 1963 test enjoy draft beer at home!

DRAFT BEER REFRESHMENT. Meet the Hamm's Tapper. Two and one-quarter gallons of honest-to-goodness draft beer in the unique all-aluminum Tapper. The Tapper is a great new idea; it's easy to handle, easy to carry and features a completely self-contained draft beer system.

Beer drinkers know the wonderful taste of Hamm's draft beer . . . and this is it. This is beer as beer should taste . . . fresh from the tap.

GREAT FOR PARTIES. Invite the neighbors over. Show 'em the Tapper . . . the latest thing in beer drinking enjoyment. The Tapper is right at home at any party because it's so convenient . . . and better beer you've never tasted.

FITS IN YOUR REFRIGERATOR. This is real draft beer and draft beer must be kept under constant refrigeration. Just put the Tapper in your refrigerator and it's ready to go. It stores easily and there is no "tapping" or pumping. Just a pull of the tap knob and you've got real draft beer at home. The Tapper will deliver that famous Hamm's draft beer flavor—glass after glass after glass. And what a welcome home refresher after a tough day.

CONVENIENT. Just measure up your thirst and draw a Hamm's to match it. Each Tapper contains the equivalent of 36 eight-ounce glasses or 24 twelve ounce bottles or cans of Hamm's.

If the fine taste of draft beer means something to you, better pick up a Hamm's Tapper today!

National Emergency — or Politics

A conference between Senate and House representatives arranged a compromise on the amendment to the defense appropriation bill which would authorize President Johnson, without declaring a national emergency, to activate reserve and national guard units or to call individuals who have not had active duty.

In opposing the amendment, Wisconsin Congressman Melvin Laird pointed out that neither President Johnson nor Defense Secretary McNamara has asked for the authorization and that the amendment makes no allowance for former service such as the 82nd Division's year of active duty during the Berlin crisis. The points are well taken. But presumably there is even more behind the opposition from Republicans. If the war situation in Viet Nam is so serious as to require national guard and reserve help, why shouldn't the President have to declare a national emergency?

Secretary McNamara has steadfastly insisted that there is no need for a reserve call at this time. But Secretary McNamara has been so consistently wrong in his prophecies about Viet Nam and American needs that this statement cannot be given too much weight. Information in recent weeks about our plane losses over North Viet Nam indicate that some amount of blame is being placed upon the Department of Defense for not inaugurating a building program sooner. Secretary McNamara recently increased next year's production of tactical aircraft by 280 planes but, according to Navy and Air Force figures, a full inventory of aircraft which will occur when the production rate exceeds the loss rate, will not occur until next year for the Navy and the middle of 1968 for the Air Force if our loss rates remain the same.

The need for trained personnel is even more serious. Estimates that there would be four combat-ready divisions in the United States by last month have had to be revised since the divisions still are being used in great part for recruit training purposes.

The Navy has just announced that some Navy pilots serving in Viet Nam will have to put in double the normal tour of duty in the combat area. The Military Advisory Command in Saigon almost simultaneously announced that certain army officers will also have to stay in order to "carry out the war's objectives."

And one of the factors which has influenced these decisions is the rate of resignations among pilots in particular. A recent article in Aviation Week and Space Technology, by an anonymous Air Force pilot serving in the Vietnamese theater, said that "the true professional soldier is dissatisfied with his job. It is not the problem of pay or advancement, but rather the manner in which he feels he is being used . . . The war here in Viet Nam has become a political football, an exercise in glowing reports, outstanding new records and promises of the 'turning tide.'"

We now have more troops in Viet Nam than we had in Korea during that conflict. And while reports from Saigon insist that the morale of Americans over there is exceptionally high, the resignations suggest that it isn't universal. If the professional military men are disillusioned, what about the draftee who didn't want to go in the first place?

The reserves and national guard are supposed to be held in readiness for use only in case of emergencies. But except for basic training and some efforts to step up training procedures, most of the "active duty" service in the reserves and guard are exercises in apathy. In time of peace they may have a purpose, but in time of war — and we are at war — it is difficult to determine what the purpose is.

We can sympathize with Congressman Laird's wish to put the Johnson Administration on the spot and require the declaration of a national emergency before reserve and guard units or individuals are called up. And perhaps the matter should be widely debated rather than becoming merely an amendment to the defense appropriations bill.

But if the Administration is intending to wage a hotter war in Viet Nam — and indications certainly point that way if the current rash of negotiating talks bogs down — the Americans already fighting deserve all the help they can get including whatever know-how and training the reserve and guard units can supply. At the very least they could take over some of the recruit training programs now loaded upon divisions trying to become combat-ready.

Was This Trip Necessary?

Government regulations have a way of perpetuating themselves. And this is particularly true, it seems, in nations with long traditions.

In England an Order in Council is required for various serious government decisions generally stated in the laws and acts applying to areas of control. The Prices and Incomes Act gives the British Government the power to enforce a wage freeze such as was declared last week. But such action has to be done as an Order in Council. This means a quorum of the Privy Council, which used to perform duties handled since the 17th century by the Cabinet, must meet with the Queen.

Obviously this usually is not very difficult. But when the need for wage freeze came up, Queen Elizabeth II was 500 miles away at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. Even in this day of the common man — and woman — a queen is not summoned. So instead four Cabinet members were sent by plane to Balmoral.

At the castle they were ushered into the Queen's presence. They told her of the order. She said "I approve." All of this is spelled out in protocol and custom. The Cabinet members bowed and were ushered out, took the next plane back to London and the creaky machinery began to move.

This makes even our political conventions look remarkably progressive and efficient by contrast.

Russians Learn About Night Clubs

Back in 1964 the Soviet Union put out a pamphlet for distribution among participants to a world youth forum held in Moscow, and attended mostly by young people from Communist countries. The pamphlet sought to answer questions and give sidelights on Soviet ideology.

One of the matters discussed was the absence of "night clubs" in Russia. "The night clubs of the bourgeois world have nothing in common with the development of the intellect. They are, as a rule, steeped in sex, alcohol and gambling," ran the section on such affairs. Russians were not interested because they like to spend their leisure time in "study, sport, reading books, favorite hobbies and meeting our friends."

But for one reason or another some Russians apparently would like a peek at that sex, alcohol and gambling. And officially Russian night clubs are "In".

The Soviet Ministry of Culture, which deals with such things, suggested in its newspaper that Russian resorts were badly in need of modernizing. "Service with a smile" should be the motto and it would provide "night clubs for lovers and quiet evening gathering places for family people." The thing that seems to have affected the writer was the surliness of waitresses in most Russian resort restaurants.

So after all, there are a couple more things which Americans and Russians have in common. And if ever East and West do meet it may be in a night club complaining about the service.

Post Features Candidate Doolittle

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Oct. 11, 1856.

Inasmuch as Mr Doolittle is expected to speak here in Appleton this evening, (Thursday, Oct. 11, 1856) we devote the inside of the Post almost entirely to his doings. In short this is meant to be a Doolittle number.

The following is taken from the Racine Advocate published at Mr Doolittle's home, and prepared by a man who has known him intimately for years.

Why did Mr Doolittle desert the Republican party?

This question is often asked by a few who have, in the past, had great confidence in Mr Doolittle's integrity, and who now, when every day is accumulating the proof of his premeditated treachery, still feel reluctant to turn their backs upon him.

Mr. Doolittle, himself, claims that he has not changed, but that the whole Republican party has deserted his principles and policy and left him alone with a few copperheads and rebels to guard the sacred treasure for which a quarter of a million patriots in the first flush of manhood laid down their lives, and the nation mortgaged the homes and patrimonies of their widows and orphans for $8,000,000,000.

Whether Mr Doolittle has or has not changed is best shown by his public record.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Oct. 9, 1941.

Germany's mighty drive newly launched against Russia was viewed with concern by the British, who saw no hope of easing the pressure on their Russian allies by re-opening a western land front in Europe. Berlin that day claimed the Russian armies were surrounded as they sent wave after wave of mechanized divisions toward Moscow.

Delford Hanke was elected president of the Washington High School Band at New London.

Mrs. Irving Cohen was named chairman of the board of directors of the Moses Montefiore Ladies Aid Society. Mrs. Joseph Bailin was chairman of the dessert-bridge to be held later in the month at the social center.

Mrs. Fannie Spencer and Mrs. Gertrude Leman were membership co-chairmen for the Appleton unit, American Legion Auxiliary.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Oct. 11, 1956.

Mrs. Oscar Remke, Appleton, was re-elected president of the state Valparaiso Guild during a convention that week in Sheboygan. Mrs. A. L. Lehman of Appleton was the state chaplain.

Dr. James W. Erchul was appointed full-time pathologist at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He previously held the same position at a Monroe hospital, and also served two years in the Army Medical Corps as pathologist at William Beaumont Army Hospital, El Paso, Texas.

Members of the homecoming dance publicity committee at Appleton High School were Anne Boronow, chairman, Andrea Park, Jane Ottman and William Casper.

The newly organized travel study group of the Appleton AAUW was to meet that week at the home of Mrs. Glenn Pelton.

Money for Mortgages Isn't Federal Handout, Writer Says

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Once again there has appeared on these same pages an editorial claiming preferential treatment for the home building industry. The editor claims that the $4.7 billion recently authorized for use by FNMA in the secondary mortgage market is a government handout and is in effect encouraging the building of private homes while the repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit on new plant and equipment is an unfair discouragement to private industry which will, among other things, result in higher rent levels because of higher apartment costs.

The $4.7 billion authorized for the purchase of FHA and VA insured mortgages by FNMA in the secondary mortgage market will make possible the writing of additional mortgages by the financial institutions holding such mortgages. Although FNMA is not authorized to buy mortgages on multiple family units, the purchase of single unit mortgages undoubtedly frees funds for multiple family mortgages. Three billion dollars of the total funds authorized must be borrowed on the open money market by FNMA. If FNMA is successful in borrowing such funds the result can only be to make the money for conventional mortgages only more scarce. The majority of all morgages written in this county and especially in this immediate area are conventional.

I would agree that the repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit is unfair on the grounds that such credit was promised to industry as a long term tool to be used for future investment planning. However, for the editor to claim the mixed benefits of the FNMA authorization as a handout and ignore completely the fact that the home building industry has borne almost alone the brunt of the efforts made thus far to diminish the inflationary pressure on the economy is unfairness of the lowest level.

Housing starts for the last six years (including multiple family) have averaged approximately 1.5 million per year. As of now housing starts are at the rate of only 1 million per year with every indication that bottom has not yet been reached. This low level of 1 million starts per year has only been duplicated in recent years during the business recessions of 1957-58 and of 1960. Such a level of activity does not meet demand.

No other industry has been faced with the shortage of money that faces today's home building industry. Consumer financing has been readily available and continues to be so. Big business has continued to expand and has been able to secure funds to do so at higher rates but with little or no difficulty. But the editor of the Post-Crescent claims a handout is being given to the home building industry. If such be the case, we in the industry pray that we receive fewer such favors in the future.

If Parents Don't Do Job, Law Must Step In

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I agree that it is the parents' duty to set curfew hours for their own children. I further agree that there is no need for a siren to sound off at curfew time nor do I believe monthly or annual "after hour" cards should be issued. It is unnecessary and unconstitutional.

However, there is a need for curfew hours and all parents do not know their children well enough to know whether curfew hours are necessary, because they do not pay enough attention to their disciplinary needs and too much attention to their childs' wants. Most of us as parents are too free with our children.

A great majority of parents do not know from one minute to the next where their child is and care less. They only know that the house is peaceful and that's the way they like it.

Parents today all too willingly give the car keys to Jr. or Sis with the words "Have a good time and be careful." They don't ask where they're going or tell them what time to be home. These are still children, true not babies, but not adults either, and they still need discipline. If parents refuse to give it or enforce it then it's time the police enforced it. Most certainly police should escort youngsters home before 11 p.m. and they are still youngsters until age 21. It was good enough for my dad and good enough for me.

When I was a senior in High School, I couldn't go out every week night and only one weekend night. Week nights I had to be in the house by 10 p.m. and weekends 11 p.m. Before I left the house my parents had to know where I was going and meet the person or persons I was going out with. I remember I always felt like a criminal too. One other thing my folks thought nothing of checking up on me either. How many of you reading this letter right now would do this?

Well believe you me, I appreciate my parents now more then ever.

I'm 29 years old now and raising two of my own children exactly the same way. Sure we have different situations in life now, we live in an atomic world, but children are still born the same way and their needs are still the same as 20 years or 50 years or 100 years ago.

If parents can't find the time in their own lives to look to the needs of children, then it's high time the law stepped in. There's too much disrespect for the law now, let's not encourage it. We need it.

I am not suggesting that all children are vandals, but when "the cat's away the mice will play". Nobody's perfect.

Perhaps if a few people were embarrassed by a policeman bringing a child of their's home, they would begin to enforce a few rules around the home.

Wisconsin Report

State Setting Records In Highway Travel, Building and Fatalities

John Wyngaard, Madison correspondent, is on vacation and has arranged for a series of guest columns to be published during his absence. Contributors will include prominent figures in Wisconsin governmental and political affairs.

BY G. H. BAKKE

MADISON — The year 1966 is a truly record-setting year for highway transportation and your Wisconsin Highway Commission.

By year's end, highway travel will have broken all previous records for miles of travel, passengers and freight transported. Record numbers of drivers and vehicles have assaulted the highways for work and play.

Not all of the accompanying statistical records are happy ones. Intensive and concentrated efforts have been required to keep accident records, too, from becoming record breakers. It is of little consolation as we watch rising accident and death numbers to realize that accident and death rates per 100 million miles of travel will probably actually decrease again following a general yearly downward trend that has been going on for 40 years.

Many other firsts of the year strike a happier note, and we are proud to call them briefly to attention since they bode well for the future of highway transportation in our state.

Recognizing that the great increases in highway travel are appearing on the major traffic-carrying highways of the state, the Legislature increased the gasoline tax by one cent, the proceeds of which will be used to accelerate construction on the Interstate, arterial, and designated freeway highways.

Because of this additional revenue, this will be a record year in number and dollar volume of contracts let. The previous high year was in 1958, in the early years of Interstate Highway construction. Wonderful as this additional highway capacity will be to the impatient and harried motorists, many worthwhile, highly justifiable, and needed projects will still be awaiting financing in some distant future.

LONG RANGE

The Commission completed the first functional long-range highway plan based on 1990 traffic projections. This plan, developed with the sophisticated methods used in major urban transportation plans, is the first attempted by any state. The plan will govern the goals of the future relating to freeway systems, financing priorities, capacity, and access controls. Wisconsin also became the first state to aggressively and progressively commit itself to work with regional and local planning groups to implement the results of these extensive planning efforts.

Under the new Federal highway beautification program, the first salvage yards were screened, and the first roadside scenic enhancement projects were initiated. The Wisconsin - pioneered scenic easement acquisition program was stepped-up and the initial steps were taken to develop the Capital Parkway concept for the Madison-Milwaukee leg of Interstate 94 were taken. Final compliance under the Interstate System sign control law for completed sections of the Interstate System were attained.

40,000 SIGNS

Remaining as problems in the roadside beautification program are some 400 salvage yards and over 40,000 outdoor advertising signs along the primary highways of the state.

Although some newly descriptive terms may not sound familiar, we believe that taxpayers will understand, in this day of orbital rendezvous, when we say we will have an "on line," "real time" information system. Banks of information, including cost data related to "coordinate points" on our highway system, will be available for instant recall from the computer to people in management positions in need of the information to more effectively carry out their responsibilities. It is our attempt to give operating divisions of the department the information needed to watch costs more carefully and provide timely information to more effectively manage their increasing work loads.

The same equipment will be used increasingly to set grade lines, calculate earthwork, determine slope settings and write right-of-way descriptions from aerial photos, thus eliminating the use of extensive field surveys. We say this is the "mile a minute" design of a highway. All of these things will be made easier by a newly developed computer language more adaptable to engineering uses in which the department was happy to have played a small part.

By the fulltime use of these fabulous new systems and techniques, it is our hope that we can continue to give Wisconsin taxpayers more and better highways for their money and to prepare for ever increasing work loads in the engineer-short days predicted for the future.

No Training for Most Important Facets of Life

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Isn't it richly ironic that the two most important facets of human life — politics and parenthood — are the only ones for which no special training is provided, or even thought necessary?

The first lesson a child should be taught is how to laugh at itself easily; without this ability, all manners are a mockery, and politeness hardens into mere priggishness.

Harris

To feel the temperament of a city, you have to see it late at night; but to know the character of a city, you have to smell it early in the morning — Paris, for instance, smells of freshly-baked bread, New York of stale tobacco.

My favorite sign of the month, hand-written over a display table in a neighborhood drug store: "Junk for Reducing." We realize how rare such commercial honesty is only when we unexpectedly run across such delights.

A family I don't care to know better is one in which the daughter is called "Sis."

Speaking of families, it is a sentimental myth that a "good son" will make a good husband; in most cases, a dutiful son's excessive — if unconscious — attachment to his mother is a major factor in marital conflicts.

And, with the elections coming up next month, this is a good time for candidates to mull over John Galsworthy's sage advice: "There is just one rule for politicians the world over: Don't say in power what you say in opposition — if you do, you only have to carry out what the other fellows have found impossible."

Much of the fear and uneasiness of patients would disappear if hospitals replaced the traditional drug odor with a deodorant suggestive of spring flowers; we have scarcely begun to explore the psychological possibilities of smells in human life.

People who praise "simplicity" in art ought to ponder Henry James' observation: "Simplicity in art is like zero in a number; its importance depends on the figure it is united with." There is considerable difference between the simplicity that has gone beyond sophistication, and the simplicity that has not yet arrived at it.

2 Congressmen Cast Votes on Bill Provision

Remainder of State Delegation Negative On Callup Measure

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Only two members of the Wisconsin congressional delegation voted for an amendment to the Defense Appropriations conference report, approved Tuesday, which gives President Johnson the authority to call up the National Guard and Army Reserve until June 30, 1968.

Voting for the amendment, which passed 305 to 42, were Reps. Henry S. Reuss and Clement J. Zablocki, both Milwaukee Democrats.

Voting against it were Reps. Lynn E. Stalbaum, Racine, Robert W. Kastenmeier, Watertown, and John A. Race, Fond du Lac, all Democrats, plus Reps. Vernon W. Thomson, Richland Center, Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, John W. Byrnes, Green Bay; and Glenn R. Davis, New Berlin, all Republicans. Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, R-Mercer, was not recorded.

"Affect Millions"

Charging that the legislation could affect "millions of American lives," Laird, a member of the appropriations conference committee, urged House members to vote against it.

He said the same consideration should be given the Guard and Reserves in the present circumstances as was given them during the Berlin crisis.

The Wisconsin congressman complained that the amendment granted the President the authority to call up the reserves for a period of a year beyond June 30, 1967, the end of the present fiscal year, the period for which the money measure provides Department of Defense funds.

This amendment gives the executive department even more authority than it requested," Laird objected.

Proponents of the amendment replied that without it, President Johnsen would not have the power, even in an emergency, to call more men to active duty.

WANT AD INFORMATION

CLOSING TIME

Want ads accepted to 4:00 p.m. the day before day of publication. For Monday—Before noon Saturdays. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturdays.

CORRECTIONS OR CANCELLATIONS

Want ad corrections or cancellations accepted to 8:30 a.m. for the same day publication. For Sundays—Before 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

IMPORTANT

Composition costs will be charged, if an ordered ad is cancelled before publication.

After an ad is ordered, it cannot be changed before one publication.

When cancelling an ad, demand a "kill number." No claim is recognized on ads cancelled without it. The number of days ad is published determines the rate of such ads.

ADJUSTMENTS

The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for verbal statements in conflict with its established rules, policies or rates.

All claims for adjustments or refunds must be made within 7 days after expiration of ad.

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which make the advertisement less valuable, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Post-Crescent assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

NOTICE

The Post-Crescent is exercising all precautions to avoid publishing any fraudulent or misleading advertising. However, if any ad appearing in the classified columns of the Post-Crescent can be proven fraudulent or misleading, we would appreciate your informing us immediately.

$400.00 PER MONTH SALARY PLUS LIBERAL COMMISSION
WITH OR WITHOUT EXPERIENCE

This is your chance to break into the lucrative field of direct selling and still enjoy the security of a salary. SELL BY APPOINTMENT ONLY, products that are exclusive and patented without competition.

TO A $100 A WK. PERSON WHO SHOULD BE EARNING THREE TIMES AS MUCH

If you are stalled in your progress by a slow moving organization, we want to meet and talk with you. Long ago we learned that salesmen are the most important cogs in any organization. If a salesman is happy and prosperous, he can sell anything, let alone exclusive products. If you are seeking a company who worries more about their salesmen than anything else you'll find it here.

Treasury May Become Source of Old Age Pay

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal to increase Social Security benefits by some $2.2 billion a year has revived talk that some source besides the payroll tax on employers and employes must be found to help finance the massive old age, disability retirement and health care system.

The obvious candidate is the general treasury.

Dipping into the treasury for any substantial part of Social Security funds would be almost unprecedented. With minor exceptions, the programs have been financed throughout their 30-year life by a payroll tax levied in equal proportion on employers and employes.

Voter Resistance

But there is a growing feeling that there is a limit on the amount of tax that payrolls can bear without provoking both business and general voter resistance. And the Social Security Administration is on record as recognizing and even sharing this feeling to some extent.

The tax, increased sharply when medicare was instituted, now is 4.2 per cent each on employer and employe. It is calculated on each worker's wages up to $6,600, a maximum tax of $277.20 on each. On Jan. 1 the rate goes up to 4.4 per cent and then by stages to 5.65 per cent by 1987.

Moreover, while the law does not now provide it, it is taken for granted that the wage base in time will be increased, too.

Payrolls also are taxed, on a scale varying from state to state, to pay for the unemployment compensation system. This tax is on the employer only.

Those who argue against further payroll tax increases have more to their case than understandable reluctance to be tapped. They say the Social Security payroll tax is a regressive tax. A man who earns no more than $6,600 pays it on his full income, while one who earns more pays on only a portion.

Last May 11, in testimony not much noted at the time, Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball told a Senate-House Economic subcommittee that the administration was studying Social Security benefit increases but that the problem of financing them was "the big inhibiting factor."

He went on, "We have come to a place where further increases in the contribution rates run into increasing resistance. Personally, I believe that they could be somewhat higher than they are. But how much is a question.

"I would like to take the opportunity to say that we will also give, and are giving, serious consideration to whether the Social Security system might in part also have a general revenue contribution which has a generally more progressive base than the present method of financing, and perhaps a combination of present financing and general revenues would be better."

Admmistration sources have estimated that about three-quarters of the proposed $2.2 billion additional benefits could be financed by present Social Security revenues — an estimate promptly challenged by Republicans.

But even if it proves accurate, there would remain more than $500 million to be financed. It would not be surprising if Social Security officials, and many members of Congress, were to ponder whether this is perhaps the time to shift some of the burden to the general revenues.

Thilmany to Construct Warehouse

$430,000 Facility To be Shipping Center at Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — A building permit to construct a warehouse at a cost of $430,000 was issued to Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. Wednesday by Gene Ditter, building inspector.

The 422 by 315 foot structure will incorporate 139,230 square feet. It also will serve as a shipping building. It will have 108,400 square feet of usable storage space and area to park 10 semi-trailers and 15 to 16 boxcars to facilitate all-weather loading.

Side walls will be of steel paneling while the front will be of brick and concrete construction. Five large loading door entrances will be provided. The new facility will enable Thilmany to confine more inventory to the home plant rather than leasing space outside the city.

It also will help reduce rental and handling costs involved due to lack of existing warehouse facilities. It should help improve customer service and enable the firm to centralize warehousing of all finished goods and shipments from the lower mill.

Oscar J. Boldt, Appleton, is general contractor for the building. Architects are Abendroth and Associates, Milwaukee.

PROTECT YOUR HOME AND YOUR HEALTH

From the Destructive Effects of Dry Winter Air With An

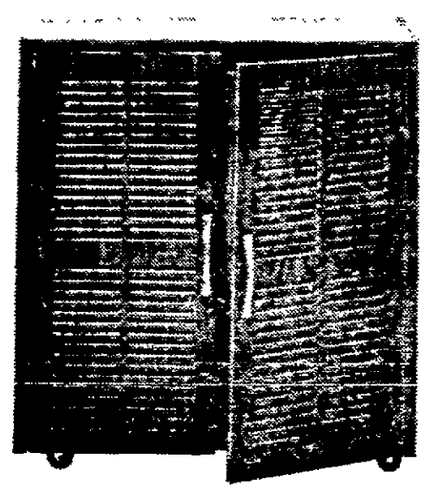

OASIS® PORTABLE HUMIDIFIER

You wouldn't leave your best furniture out in the hot, dry summer sun. It would dry and crack in no time flat.

Warm super-heated air from your furnace can do just as much damage.

Normally dry winter air, heated from 30 to 70 degrees, may have relative humidity as low as 15%. Air this dry needs moisture. It evaporates moisture from furniture, plants, wallpaper, rugs and carpets as well as your nose and throat. You'll notice furniture, loose and cracked ... wall-paper, sagging ... fabrics become brittle ... your skin, dry and sallow ... hair, dry with split ends ... nose and throat parched and dry.

Now you can eliminate problems caused by dry winter air with an OASIS Humidifier. The exclusive Humidrum adds about a half gallon of water each hour to the air. Just set it and forget it. It works around the clock to protect you, your family and your precious belongings from Winter dryness. See an OASIS Humidifier today.

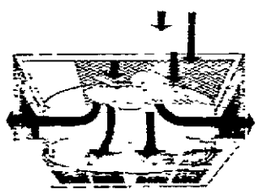

HERE'S WHY MOST FOLKS CHOOSE OASIS:

- Relieves Parched Dry Nose and Throat
- Prevents Furniture from Drying and Cracking
- Eliminates Unpleasant Static Electric Shocks
- Cuts Fuel Bills
- Handsome Furniture Styling
- Lightweight, rust-resistant, aluminum cabinet
- Durable, Quiet, ... Engineered for Years of Service

New Revolving Humidrum Design

The new Oasis portable humidifier provides proper humidity efficiently and economically. The secret is in the new Humidrum. Revolving slowly through the generous ten-gallon water reservoir, the drum picks up water on the outer sleeve of absorbent urethane. Dry air, drawn in from the back by quiet operating two-speed fan, is directed outward by the drum face through the wet outer sleeve. The air picks up moisture and passes out through the louvers into the room. Moisture is added to the air without unpleasant direct drafts on occupants.

Easiest to Fill... Easy to Clean

Doors swing wide to make reservoir easily accessible. Fill with hose, furnished with unit, or use any convenient household container.

Easy to Understand Automatic Controls

Humidistat control is easily set for any desired degree of humidity. Fan switch provides two speeds, high and low, stops entire unit in "off". Red light provides warning that unit is shut off because of low water level in reservoir. Amber light indicates when power is on, whether unit is operating or not.

Aluminum Cabinet

Vinyl-on-aluminum cabinet is light in weight, scuff and mar resistant, easy to keep clean. Furniture type casters make it easy to move from room to room.

Rust Resistant Inside and Out

Polypropylene reservoir cannot rust, is easily kept clean. Drum frame protected with heavy coating of vinyl. Interior of cabinet is rustproof aluminum.

Trouble-Free Operation

The new Oasis is engineered for many years of service. Powered by a simple drive system. Humidrum sleeve is made of long lasting polyurethane, needs only occasional hand rinsing to renew.

Crash of Air Force Stunt Plane Claims Native of Appleton

Maj. Frank Liethen, Thunderbird Executive Officer Is Victim

Maj. Frank E. Liethen, 36, executive officer of the United States Air Force Thunderbirds, was killed Wednesday when two of the red, white and blue F100 Super Sabre jets collided while practicing aerial acrobatics over the Nevada desert at Indian Springs.

Also killed was Capt. Robert H. Morgan, 32, Pendleton, S.C., pilot of the plane in which Liethen was a passenger. Morgan ejected from the plane after the collision but his parachute didn't open soon enough. He hit the desert and was killed with his plane seat still strapped on.

Maj. Frank Liethen

Liethen, who was in training to join the Thunderbirds team, rode the plane to the ground. He was killed in the explosion when it hit. The two planes had twisted in a spiral to 6,000 feet over the Nevada desert, then streaked toward each other upside down at 150 miles an hour. They snaked around one another 20 feet apart — then closer. They hit and there was a shower of metal. Witnesses said at least one of the jets caught fire.

Other Pilot

The pilot of the second plane, Capt. Robert D. Beckel, Walla Walla, Wash., coaxed his jet back to Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas.

The Air Force said it was a "tribute to his flying skill" that he landed the plane, which had a damaged wing.

Morgan and Liethen were the seventh and eighth Thunderbird fliers killed in the tricky maneuvers.

In 13 years the Thunderbirds

Harry H. Salzman

City Policeman Dies in Texas

No. 2 Man on Appleton Force; Served Since 1936

Harry H. Salzman, 60, 931 Packard St., inspector in the Appleton Police Department since 1964, died Wednesday afternoon while visiting a daughter in Lufkin, Texas. He had a history of heart trouble.

Salzman, who held the department's No. 2 position, had more years of service than any other man on the force. He joined the department in 1936, was promoted to sergeant in 1941, to lieutenant in 1943, to captain in 1958 and was named inspector in 1964. He served as acting police chief for a while in 1962.

He was born July 2, 1906 in Shawano County and was graduated from high school in 1925 and from county normal in 1926. He attended numerous police schools, including the Police Administrator's School in Madison in 1963.

He was employed as a baker for nine years before joining the police department.

Survivors are the widow, a son and two daughters.

Funeral arrangements were pending at the Brettschneider-Trettin Funeral Home.

Heavy Spending Pressure Likely to Reduce Figure Greatly in Next 8 Months

MADISON (AP) — The $68.4 million budget surplus for the first half of the current biennium announced by Gov. Warren P. Knowles is expected to be rapidly deflated by higher spending pressures in the next eight months.

The Republican governor, campaigning for re-election, released figures Wednesday from a state agency report boosting the projected estimate of left-over cash by more than $10 million.

This would give the state an $18.6 million cushion in its general treasury at the end of the present spending period June 30, 1967, Knowles said.

Difference Common

The huge difference between the surpluses after the first half of the biennium and at the end of the two-year period is customary in Wisconsin, said Wayne McGown, director of the Bureau of Management.

He said the only surprising thing was the $10 million extra that is expected to be left over.

State agencies usually spend more in the second year of the biennium than the first, McGown said, but the Legislature has to provide a tax program on a two-year basis.

"The higher surplus that results at the end of the first year is used to meet the higher expenditures of the second year," he said.

Need Surplus

McGown pointed out anticipated revenue for the present fiscal year would not be able to meet the soaring costs of state agencies unless there was a surplus.

"Without the new taxes approved by the Legislature this session, we would be in the hole at the end of the biennium," he said.

Knowles, in making the announcement, said the decrease in the surplus at the end of the biennium will be partly due to the Legislature which passed several spending bills during its spring session without providing new revenues to finance them.

Among those proposed which the governor signed into law were an $11.2 million program for aid to local schools, a $1.9 million tax relief for the aged appropriation, a $4.2 million civil service pay plan hike, and deficiency appropriations of $3.2 million for the State Department of Public Instruction and $1.5 million for old age health assistance.

Johnson Heads For More Talks For Democrats

President Appeals For Reverse Voters' Racial Backlash

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, drawing large crowds on a campaign tour of New York City, headed for more stumping today after issuing an appeal against white backlash.

Addressing an Italian-American audience in Brooklyn Wednesday night — it was Columbus Day — Johnson reminded his listeners that "it hasn't been too many years since Italian-Americans have felt the raw pain of discrimination right here in America."

In his first appeal of this sort since "backlash" began figuring as an election-year issue, Johnson said:

Helping Hand

"For those other Americans who are now feeling that need for fairness to all, regardless of religion, ancestry or race, I ask those of you who have crossed over the river to extend to them a helping hand."

The response was cheers from the dinner audience in Brooklyn's Hotel St. George.

Johnson stayed overnight in Manhattan so he could meet today with Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist prime minister of Laos.

En route back to Washington, where he holds an afternoon news conference, Johnson scheduled a campaign appearance at Wilmington, Del.

10-Minute Speech

Johnson spoke only 10 minutes — it was his shortest speech of the day — then left the dining hall but turned the spotlight over to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who had been billed in advance as the speaker of the evening.

It was the first time since the

'Serious Obstacle'

Soviets Say China Could Stop War

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin angrily charged today that Red China has prevented world communism from putting "a quick end" to U.S. military actions in Viet Nam.

He spoke at a Soviet-Polish friendship meeting in Sverdlovsk, in the Urals.

"Had American imperialism encountered the joint rebuff of all countries of socialism, their united policy, then it is doubtless that a quick end would have been put to its outrages in Viet Nam and the aggression would be cut short," he said.

Serious Obstacle

"China's position has become a serious obstacle in the struggle for this sacred cause."

Kosygin was quoted by the official Soviet news agency Tass as saying Moscow was providing Hanoi with "considerable additional assistance" to meet "the needs created by the new phase of the American aggression."

"Military personnel for the armed forces of North Viet Nam are being trained in the Soviet Union," he said.

Big Service

Kosygin accused Peking of rendering "a big service to American imperialists, to all the enemies of socialism, to the enemies of peace and progress."

Summarizing part of Kosygin's speech, Tass reported:

"The Soviet prime minister said the events in China associated with the so-called 'great cultural revolution,' and other recent developments indicated that the Chinese leaders were proceeding further and further along the road of division, and were causing serious damage by their policy to the struggle for socialism, for the freedom of the peoples, to the cause of peace and international security."

Five Killed in Plane Crash

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A troop-carrier plane from Dyess Air Force Base here crashed and burned Wednesday night in a brushy pasture. Five men apparently were killed.

A passing trucker pulled one survivor from the wreckage on the 6666 Ranch about 75 miles northwest of Abilene.

Ground Action Quiet

McNamara Flies Over Battle Area Pounded by Attacks by Big B52s

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers pounded the demilitarized zone again today and a few hours later Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara flew along the southern edge of the zone, inspecting the rugged Marine battlefront and taking a look at North Viet Nam.

On the fighting fronts, only small ground actions were reported, but U.S. airmen gave North Viet Nam no respite from destructive bombing. Three American planes were reported shot down, one in the north and two in the south.

White Horse

The last 2,000 of South Korea's White Horse Division arrived in South Viet Nam to swell the Korean force to 45,000 men, the second largest of the six foreign contingents fighting alongside the South Vietnamese.

A record number of captives in Operation Irving pushed enemy losses last week to 2,129 killed or captured—compared with 1,342 the week before—while allied combat dead or missing increased by a third to 314, the allied commands reported. The U.S. Command said 91 Americans were killed, 604 were wounded and 17 were missing, compared with 99 dead, 642 wounded and 12 missing the week before.

McNamara wound up his four-day visit to Viet Nam with a helicopter and plane tour of several battle sectors after spending the night on the 7th Fleet carrier Oriskany.

Returns to Capital

The Pentagon chief flew for 50 minutes just south of the demilitarized zone where for more than two months U.S. Marines have fought to stem the infiltration of North Vietnamese army regulars into the south.

McNamara returns tonight to Washington.

Only a few hours before the secretary viewed the demilitarized zone from his helicopter, B52s flew in from Guam to bomb the much-battered buffer area separating North and South Viet Nam.

The eight-engine bombers, making their 15th raid on the demilitarized zone since July 30, unloaded tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, bivouac and storage areas in the southern half of the six-mile-wide zone, the U.S. Command said.

The plane lost over the north was a Navy A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Oriskany. It was the 398th plane reported lost over North Viet Nam.

Ask Corrective Legislation

Valley City Officials Support Maier Tax Inequity Drive

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — City officials from the Green Bay and Appleton regions intend to follow in Milwaukee's footsteps and ask the State Legislature to correct tax distribution inequities.

This was assurred here today by the comments of mayors and council members attending the annual conference of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Milwaukee Mayor Henry W. Maier Wednesday asked other cities in the state to join to fight "tax islands" which he claimed are draining cities of their tax base.

Maier told confernce delegates suburban and township infringements are no longer just a Milwaukee problem, and representatives of other cities agreed.

Green Bay Mayor

Mayor Donald Tilleman, Green Bay, said his city found itself in the same situation as Milwaukee and praised the stand taken by Maier.

"At this point it is our intention to include some sort of a referendum question on the ballot in November, if it's not too late, to let the people voice their protest against the present income tax sharing formula," Tilleman said.

"It is not fair for these 'tax islands' to be getting large shares of the income tax redistribution when it should be going to the cities in which these people earn their living," Tilleman added.

Campaign Issue

Tilleman said the present tax redistribution formula should become a campaign issue.

"From what I have seen of our situation and what has been said here at the conference by other city officials, I say Green Bay, Appleton and the others in the Valley are in the same boat with Milwaukee and should do something about it," Tilleman said.

Tilleman said if a referendum could not be put on the ballot next month, it would then be up to city officials to point out the inequities to the public.

"I am confident Green Bay will join Milwaukee on some sort of an action program," Tilleman said.

"There just has to be more revenue for cities and this can only come about through an improved state income reapportionment program."

Mayor George Buckley, Appleton, who will be completing his first six months in office next week, said there was no

Even Dems Confused

Humphrey's on Again Off Again Visit Is On

MADISON (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is on his way to Wisconsin again in a campaign flip-flop that has left Democrats dizzy with efforts to unsnarl speaking schedules.

The latest development in the now-you-see-him, now-you-don't mixup of campaign arrangements came Wednesday when Humphrey's office in Washington confirmed that he would visit Sheboygan Oct. 23.

That announcement followed by only one day the official cancellation of Humphrey's Wisconsin trip planned for Oct. 25.

Aides to Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, the Democratic nominee for governor, were told that President Johnson's flight to the Far East would keep Humphrey in Washington and make it impossible to fulfill the proposed trip to Whitewater, Madison and Sheboygan.

Surprised Lucy

The new date for a visit was a surprise even to Lucey's staff, which has been handling the top-level campaign plans. And at Democratic state headquarters down the street, one official said, "I didn't even know the Vice President had been planning to come the 25th."

Lucey's office learned of the Oct. 23 appearance from newsmen who obtained confirmation of a report from aides to Rep. John A. Race, D-Wis., that the Vice President planned a Sheboygan appearance on behalf of the freshman congressman.

A lieutenant to Lucey was unable to commit the nominee immediately to being able to attend the Sheboygan showing and said, "We've already got quite a full schedule for that day."

The Vice President will be coming to the aid of Race in his efforts to keep a seat seized from the Republicans in the landslide of 1964.

Follows Nixon

Humphrey will be following in the footsteps of former vice president Richard M. Nixon, who spoke in Sheboygan for Race's Republican rival, Oshkosh Assemblyman William Steiger, last month.

Humphrey's original cancellation was based on directions from President Johnson to stay mostly in Washington while the chief executive is gone Oct. 17

Darlington Man Dies in Collision

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a young Darlington man in a two-car collision on a rain-swept highway Wednesday night pushed Wisconsin's record-setting traffic fatality pace to 850 for the year.

At this time in 1964, when the all-time high of 1,059 deaths recorded, the toll was 836, and a year ago on this date 786 persons had died.

Donald D. Hendrickson, 23, of Darlington died in a Monroe hospital Wednesday night shortly after the car he was driving was involved in a crash with another car on a wet highway near Monroe. Robert E. Tschudy, 49, a Monroe alderman who was in the other car, was hospitalized overnight with injuries.

No Food Increase

World Population Up 70 Million, U.N. Says

ROME (AP) World population rose by 70 million in the past year without an increase in food to feed them. The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization said today there was an average of 2 per cent less food for everyone on earth.

This raised fears that the gap between population and food production would increase and that mankind is moving deeper into its worst hunger crisis.

FAO's report on the state of food and agriculture for 1965-66 found serious reductions in food output in parts of the world where malnutrition already is worst.

Complacency Dispelled

"Any remaining complacency about the food and agriculture situation must surely have been dispelled by the events of the past year," said Director General B.R. Sen.

"But for good harvests in North America, world production would almost certainly have declined. In fact, in each of the developing regions except the Near East, food production is estimated to have fallen by 2 per cent in total and 4 to 5 per cent on a per capita basis.

"The poor harvests of 1965-66 are all the more serious since they come, not in the midst of plenty, but after a long period in which production has only barely kept up with the rapidly mounting population.

"When millions of people are already inadequately nourished there is little if any

Opposes Districts Formed by County, Town Boundaries

IOLA — School board members voted Monday to submit a resolution requesting the Iola-Scandinavia district be placed in the Fox Valley Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education District.

Board members have previously reviewed various proposals and attended hearings relative to Wisconsin statutes, which require all school districts to be in a vocational district by July 1, 1970.

Advantages of joining the proposed Fox Valley District included the high valuation of the proposed district to support a vocational school at a low cost to the taxpayers. A firm district is proposed which has formed its boundaries on school district lines rather than by county lines; the major portion of schools in Waupaca County have also voted to accept the proposed district; better opportunity for job placement of students attending due to the industrialization of the area; and the tendancy of local persons to use this metropolitan area more extensively for employment and a shopping center than the other cities being considered for such a school.

Adopted Resolution

At the same time the board adopted a second resolution firmly opposing the organization of vocational schools on county and town boundary lines and supported districts using school district lines for its boundaries.

Board members also reviewed architectural plan for the new vocational industrial arts building and decided to meet Tuesday, to go over plumbing, heating, and electrical specifications and prepare to let these items out for bidding. It is expected that the building can be built and ready for occu-

Congregation Founded 75 Years Ago

Jubilee Monday for Hilbert Catholics

HILBERT — St. Mary Catholic congregation will celebrate its diamond jubilee Monday with a solemn high mass of thanksgiving offered by the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Green Bay Diocese.

A dinner will be served to neighboring priests and guests in the parish school at 1 p.m., with the Christian Mothers Society in charge.

First efforts to form a congregation in Hilbert were made July 16, 1890, by Joseph Marx and Theodore Runte. Mathias Britten was asked to form a subscription list of Catholics willing to build a church.

Only three days elapsed before officers were elected and a building committee chosen. Officers were Andrew Gilsdorf, clerk; Joseph Marx, treasurer, and Mathias Britten, director. On the building committee were Cornelius Nelesen, Britten, Gilsdorf, Ferdinand Lenz and Franz Heimerl.

Original Building

Permission from the Most Rev. F. X. Katzer to build a church was received in November of the same year and Nelesen was awarded the contract to build at a cost of $1,400. Members of the congregation furnished the materials. The building was completed in May, 1893, and the structure has served the parish since then.

Before the formation of St. Mary parish, area Catholics worshipped at St. John the Baptist Church at St. John in the Town of Woodville. Parishioners not owning horses and buggies hired a hand car from the local railroad office. Coupling two hand cars together, the women would sit around the edge while the men supplied the power, according to a history compiled by the St. John pastor, the Rev. John Schmitt.

Charter Members

Charter members of St. Mary parish were Theodore Runte, Mathias Britten, Frank Jacobs, Peter Phillipi, Franz Anheier, Franz Heimerl, Ferdinand Lenz, Anton Reterath, Mike Baer, John M. Schaffer, Theodore Schaffer, Herman Ama, Lorenz Werz, Andrew Gilsdorf, Cornelius Nelesen, Stephen Sommers, Fred Vollmer, Valentine Heim, George Dorn, William Nerling and Joseph Heimerl.

The church was dedicated June 20, 1893, by the Most Rev. S. G. Messmer, bishop of Green Bay.

The first pastor of St. Mary was the Rev. A. J. Verberk. However, religious instructions for parish children were begun Oct. 3, 1891, in the basement of the new church nearly two years before it was dedicated. Miss A. C. Pauli was the first lay teacher. By 1904 there was an enrollment of 48 pupils, among them the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Britten Gehl now pastor of St. Patrick Parish at Stephensville.

During the pastorate of Father Ververk the first rectory was built in 1895. It still stands on Fifth Street, just east of the present rectory.

In 1905 a parochial school was built at the cost of $4,968 and a religious order of sisters from Alverno took over teaching duties in 1906. The school is still in use today for pupils in third through eighth grades.

Rectory Now Convent

A new rectory, not to exceed $8,000, was agreed upon by the congregation in 1925 and is presently used as the parish convent. The present rectory, just north of the church, was authorized in 1950 during the pastorate of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin Jaeckels.

Seventeen priests have served St. Mary during the past 75 years, including the Rev. Anthony J. Verberk, John J. Rhode, Henry J. Ehr, Joseph Hemmer, John Westhamp, James Weysters, Andrew Marx, Maximilian Oswald, Francis W. Geier, Simeon J. Engl, Raymond J. Fox, Theodore S. Koibe, Martin Jaekels, Alfred M. Loehr, Richard Anthony Maufort and John P. Schmitt. Father Maufort assists Father Schmitt during weekends.

Milwaukee Mayor Speaks

City Officials Warned Of Tax Island Threat

MILWAUKEE — Mayor Henry W. Maier, claiming other cities, including Appleton, were in the same boat as Milwaukee, escalated his war on fringe area "tax islands" here Wednesday.

The Milwaukee mayor — an outspoken critic of the present state personal income tax distribution system — extended his crusade for a better break for cities to all of Wisconsin.

Maier did so in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session of the 68th annual League of Wisconsin Municipalities conference at the Sheraton-Schroeder Hotel. All Fox Cities communities are represented at the annual session.

He rapped hard at suburban and township tax islands situated at the fringe of Wisconsin's cities. Maier said the tax distribution formula must be changed to help cities cope with complex financial and sociological problems.

Maier added tax islands and tax redistribution inequities for years had been considered a Milwaukee problem, but warned they have become a cancer for many other cities.

He offered the cooperation of Milwaukee's new Department of Inter-Governmental Fiscal Liaison, headed by former alderman George Whitnow, to work with other Wisconsin cities for legislation at Madison.

Pointing to the loss of commercial-industrial base by cities to almost no-tax areas at their fringes, Maier said end results were serious.

Sections of downtowns were going downhill in cities, he said, detracting from property values of newer and better kept up areas.

Get Benefits

He said those same individuals, commercial and industrial firms that locate in "tax island" areas, have the benefit of city services and facilities, directly or indirectly.

Maier pointed to acre-to-acre lots of residential developments where people who make their money in the cities now reside in the suburbs or towns — taking income tax out of the city and putting it in an already low-tax area.

"These same people will come quite often with requests for water, sewer, health, police and library services — and will use your parks and visit your museum if you have one," Maier declared, adding that city taxpayers were picking up the tab for their border neighbors.

Maier said while mayors and councils fight to resist requests for municipal services outside city boundaries, there are times when they give up or lose the battle, furthering the trend in which cities lose tax base and their rightful share of income tax.

'Nobody Cares'

The Milwaukee mayor said while city planners have to fight with real estate interests to provide proper zoning and prevent over-density, along with worrying about possible bust and slums outside of the cities — nobody seems to care.

An extension of "tax island" areas would bear out his analysis, he said.

In another swing at other developments overriding the cities, Maier explained that most cases all tax exempt institutions, hospitals, universities and others that serve wide areas are in the central city.

"The cities are required to provide them with services although they are not on the tax rolls," Maier declared.

"These things tend to put cities in a fantastic financial bind as the result of laws that permit the creation of tax islands just outside their boundaries."

He said Milwaukee for too long was known as "the goose that laid the golden egg" and this was now a fallacy. Maier asked other cities to join with Milwaukee in fighting for tax distribution reforms.

Red Feather Has $1,000 In Waupaca

WAUPACA — The 25 workers in the business section of the Red Feather Campaign collected more than $1,000 in the first two days of their drive, Harvey Nelson, general campaign chairman, has reported. Goal for the Community Chest is $10,360.

Residential solicitation will begin Oct. 24, and Nelson has announced chairman. First ward chairman is Mrs. Kenneth Halverson; second, Mrs. Allen Brekke; third, Mrs. James (Bob) Hanson; fourth, Mrs. Harvey Nelson, and fifth, Mrs. Phillip Jeske.

Ward workers will be announced soon, Nelson said.

Volunteers Check Fire Along Tracks Near Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The volunteer rural fire department was called at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday to fight a fire burning along the railroad tracks and into the fields east of State 45 between Clintonville and Bear Creek. The fire, believed to have been started by sparks from a passing train, was contained before reaching the woods.

Sid Miller, Waupaca County forester, also was at the scene.

Motorist Uninjured When Car Strikes Deer

IOLA — David C. Johnson, 23, Iola, escaped injury at 7:23 p.m., Tuesday, when the car he was driving struck and killed a deer five miles west of here on State 161. Johnson was traveling west at the time.

Damage to Johnson's 1956 model car was estimated at more than $300. The mishap was investigated by Waupaca County police.

Valley Center Student Senate Picks Officers

Appleton Youth Is President; Other Area Students Serve

Bruce Witter, Appleton, has been elected president of the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center Student Senate for 1966-67.

Witter, a sophomore, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Witter of 712 S. Mason.

Three Appleton students and one from Menasha were chosen sophomore senators. Those from Appleton are Carol Klitzke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Klitzke, 1907 S. Carpenter; Mary Collar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collar, 2634 S. Greenview, and Judith Van Handel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Van Handel, 4411 W. Broadway Drive. Richard Schuch, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Schuch, 850 Emily St., Menasha, is the fourth senator.

New freshmen senators are Janine Arnoldussen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Arnoldussen, 1734 N. Harriman St., Appleton; Patricia Thielman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Thielman, 507 E. Summer St., Appleton; Thomas Burns, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. K. Burns, 103 W. First St., Kimberly, and Gary Stadler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stadler, route 1, Hortonville.

Jaycees May Take Stand on Bear Creek School Annexation

NEW LONDON — A fact-finding committee which has made an investigation into the issues of the Nov. 8 referendum on attaching about 1,660 acres of land from the Bear Creek School district to the New London District will report its findings at an 8 p.m. meeting today at the Franklin House.

After the presentation of information and discussion, the Jaycees are expected to take a stand on the issue.

Halloween and Christmas plans will be reviewed by the members and reports on teen dances, club vests and the bike rodeo also will be made.

A board of directors meeting will be at 7 p.m. today.

Waupaca Group Told About Education of Retardates

MANAWA — Dr. Theodore R. Whiting, assistant professor of special education at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, described special education programs offered at the university during the monthly meeting of the Waupaca County Association for Retarded Children Monday evening. He works in the field of special education for the mentally retarded.

"The need for well-trained teachers is great," he said. Only about one-half of the mentally retarded are getting special education. Dr. Whiting urged the Waupaca County Association to encourage instructors to enter the field of teaching mental retardates.

Plans are being made for the countywide fund raising campaign. The first meeting for area chairmen is tentatively set for Oct. 31. The Rev. Clarence Bigler, pastor of the Methodist Church in Marion, is the campaign chairman; Mrs. Violet Viitanen, Clintonville, is publicity chairman; Lloyd Matheson, Waupaca, is Campaign treasurer; Mrs. Willis Gensler, Clintonville, and Norma Vial, Waupaca, have been named special gifts chairmen.

Bypass at Waupaca Officially Opened on Note of Challenge

Gov. Knowles Cuts Ribbon in U. S. 10 Ceremonies Wednesday

WAUPACA — Gov. Warren P. Knowles was present Wednesday to mark the official opening of the new 5.6-mile, $2.5 million U. S. 10 beltline here.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies were conducted at 9:30 a.m. on the east interchange of the new bypass. Following a motorcade over the beltline and the departure of Knowles from the Waupaca airport, ceremonies were concluded with a noon luncheon at Waupaca Country Club. V. L. Fiedler, secretary of the State Highway Commission, spoke.

Both Knowles and Fiedler emphasized the need for good highways. "Highway 10 is part of the framework of highways that Wisconsin needs to provide rapid, safe movement of our people and goods, and to allow city dwellers to retreat to the havens of Wisconsin's lakes and forests," Knowles told more than 200 persons at the ribbon-cutting ceremonies.

Waupaca Mayor Lloyd Matheson said he was a wee bit critical of the bypass and the way the intersections were located, but is a good highway and perhaps the most beautiful section of new highway in the state."

'Relief Route'

At the luncheon, Fiedler pointed out that a highway bypass is not meant to hurt a city but is designed to act as a "relief route." He listed several cities of the state where bypasses have been constructed and instead of causing business losses there have been increases in transient business.

He cited examples from Sun Prairie and Portage, where there was opposition to construction of bypasses at the start, but now that they have been opened for up to four years businessmen have a different outlook because the "relief routes" do not affect business as much as they had anticipated.

"The new route here at Waupaca lies in a favorable position to improve the flow of local traffic as well as through traffic," Fiedler said. "On one side, you have the county seat, the city shopping center, local industry and area educational facilities. On the other side, you have the expanding facilities of the Grand Army Home at King and the famed Chain O' Lakes recreation area. Visitors can drop in easier and local traffic can move in more convenience and safety," he said.

'Interests of All'

"The challenge now is for the city and county to be working together to direct and control the growth of the city to the best interests of all concerned.

Choosy Thief Takes Footwear Valued at $75

CLINTONVILLE — A thief who was not satisfied with stealing just any merchandise got away with shoes valued at $75 from Schauder and Schauder Shoe Store over the weekend.

According to police, several windows were broken at the establishment Saturday night or Sunday morning and, while the thief was not able to enter the building, he apparently reached onto display shelves and grabbed several pieces of footwear.

Police added that he apparently tried on several shoes and, finding them to be of the wrong size, threw them back into the store. He took several others.

Police are continuing their investigation.

Expect Verdict Today in Burglary Attempt Trial

Jury Begins Deliberating This Morning on Case Against Appleton Man, Robert Krull

Twelve Circuit Court jurors late this morning began deliberating the guilt or innocence of a 24-year-old Appleton native charged with attempted armed burglary of the Maritime Tavern.

A verdict in the case of Robert V. Krull was expected to be returned this afternoon.

Two full days of testimony in the trial ended late Wednesday afternoon with the calling of four defense witnesses, including Krull and Warren (Pepper) Schroeder, 19, who was to have stood trial with Krull on an identical charge before changing his plea to guilty Tuesday.

Allan Cain, Krull's attorney, made two unsuccessful attempts to have the case dismissed Wednesday — one at noon and the other at the conclusion of testimony. Both requests were denied by Circuit Judge Andrew Parnell.

Not on Premises

Schroeder, called to the courtroom from the jail where he is being held in lieu of posting bond, while awaiting sentence, testified that Krull was not on the Maritime Tavern premises when the burglary attempt allegedly occurred early Aug. 21.

On examination by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, Schroeder said Krull went to a nearby cafe, while he (Schroeder) attempted the burglary, then fled when a policeman spotted him from a squad car.

Krull denied being involved in the burglary attempt with Schroeder, denied he remarked later that he saw Schroeder "get caught" in the headlights of the squad car and said he has never owned a pistol.

Krull's wife, Mary, was called by Cain to testify, but then stepped down following a short conference between the judge, Cain and Schaefer. Krull and his wife are separated. They have one child.

Cain's fourth defense witness was Pamela Walters, 19, 503 N. Clark St., who testified she was with Krull, Schroeder, and another girl in several taverns early the morning of Aug. 21. She said she heard no conversation that night that indicated Krull might have been involved in the Maritime burglary attempt.

On cross-examination by Schaefer, she admitted that Miss Walters attempted to shut the telephone door on her roommate, Naomi Hurak, when Miss Hurak called

Pledges of Money Reach $2,000

Striking Migrant Workers Harvest Support From Wisconsin AFL-CIO

MADISON (AP) — Striking migrant workers in central Wisconsin's potato fields have harvested organized labor's support in their demands for better pay, housing and working conditions.

Nearly 70 migrants have been on the picket lines for nearly a week in the Almond and Plainfield areas. The Wisconsin AFL-CIO threw solid support to the warehouse workers Wednesday at its Madison convention.

Contributions and pledges of money from the parent organization and at least a half dozen locals approached an estimated $2,000. The help did not stop with the money.

By a rousing vote, delegates adopted a resolution condemning conditions under which migrants work and live, and established a unit entitled the "Farm Workers' Assistance Committee."

Sought Recognition

The resolution charged that migratory workers in the potato processing sheds were forced to go on strike to gain recognition and added:

"The intolerable working conditions and living conditions these and other farm workers are forced to endure are a disgrace to the progressive and prosperous state of Wisconsin which no longer can be tolerated by an affluent society which has the resources to wipe out intolerable and unsanitary conditions as well as economic and social exploitation of these workers."

The committee is directed to help farm worker organization efforts.

The action came after an emotional appeal for help was delivered by Jesus Salas, a college student from Waukesha and militant leader last summer of migrant workers seeking more pay and other benefits.

Efforts Fruitless

Salas, who led an 8½-mile protest march of 400 from Waukesha to Madison in August, said efforts of migrants to get state help were fruitless.

"We were promised representation on the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor but we have been given none," he complained.

"This was nothing more than a political football," he added.

He said he was told that Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who makes appointments to the committee, would not be able to make selections until after the November election.

A special aide to Knowles has recommended a $22 a day minimum family wage for migrants. Knowles rejected the suggestion to the Industrial Commission. At his last news conference the governor said he had not heard from the commission.

'Shame' on State

In turning the speaker's stand over to Salas, George Haberman, veteran president of the AFL-CIO, called the workers' plight "a shame on the Wisconsin record that will be corrected if we support the strikers."

When Salas finished, Haberman turned over to him a check for $50. Checks and pledges from affiliates in $20 to $200 amounts followed. Delegates poured in bills as makeshift cardboard collection boxes were passed through the convention.

Plan Lists Who Will be Excused From Gym Class

Clintonville Board To Study Proposal Concerning Athletes

CLINTONVILLE — The discussion of athletes participating in physical education classes during a competitive sports season cropped up for the second time Tuesday evening when the board of education met for the first time in the board room of the new school building.

A recommendation prepared by coaches, athletic directors, guidance director and the high school principal was returned for review with instructions to return the recommendation to the board at the Oct. 25 meeting with any additions or deletions.

The proposed policy recommends that students participating in interscholastic contests be excused from participation in scheduled physical education classes for the duration of actual participation in the competitive program. It is recommended the proposal apply to students carrying a heavy academic load who have less than one study hall per day. Release from the classes would be made on an individual basis by the principal with the approval of the athletic staff and the guidance counselor. All participating athletes would be excused from physical education classes on the day of a contest.

Accident Prone

It was pointed out in the discussion that when a student has had strenuous exercises and is tired, he is more accident-prone. It was also said that if an athlete would have physical education in the morning and then relax and refuel the body, he would again be ready for football or basketball.

It was also pointed out that the proposal has no provision for the coach and principal to establish a guideline on what is for the student's own good.

In other business the Clintonville Bow Hunters requested use of the gymnasium archery instruction and practice, starting sometime in January and running two months. This request was tabled and will be discussed at the same time as the city recreation committees request for adult use of the facilities. The gymnasium in the new school is not finished at this time.

Information Request

A letter was read from a Shawano resident asking for information relative to the status of a junior college for this part of Wisconsin. It is expected that a committee meeting of members from Clintonville and Shawano will be called in the near future, as interest has been shown again on this subject.

The board approved an application for a request of approximately $36,000 for the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) Title I program.

The question of selling some of the playground equipment from the vacated rural schools in the district was referred to the building and grounds committee, for a recommendation at the next board meeting.

Representatives Expected

Supt. K. O. Rawson informed the board representatives of kitchen equipment firms would be here Monday to show the hot lunch room personnel how to operate the machines in the new school's cafeteria. Also, the library, science and art equipment is expected this week.

The board approved purchase of a lift truck, at a cost of $265, for handling supplies.

After the meeting, Rawson took board members on a tour of the new building to show them what remains to be done. Blacktopping of the back entrance was recommended.

The annual dinner meeting for the new faculty members and their husbands and wives will be the night of Oct. 25 at the Hotel Marson. The board will meet after the dinner.

546 Series High At Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — Dorothy Hinz hit games of 189 and 183 en route to a 546 to lead the way in the Ladies All Star League at Radtke's Recreation Monday night.

Other top scores were Myrna Buchholz, 198, and Dede Raschke 191.

Willard Wilde took top honors with a 215 game, finishing with a 556 in the Community League. Randall Kempf rolled a 210.

Lions Mark 15th Year At Wittenberg

WITTENBERG — The Lions Club observed the 15th anniversary of its charter during a dinner program Monday night at the elementary school.

Guest speaker was Clarence Sturm, Manawa, past president of Lions International.

Ten of the original 26 charter members attended. They received 15-year chevrons. The club now has 24 members. It was chartered in 1951 with the assistance of Shefee Mansour and Emil Gehrke, both of New London. Gehrke was district governor at the time.

The club has sponsored children to the Wisconsin Lions camp for the Visually Handicapped at Resholt, Boy and Girl Scout activities, developed the community tennis court, conducted annual chicken fries and furnished a room at the Homme Home for the Aging.

Religious Seminar for Youth

Hilbert Girl Joins European Tour

HILBERT — Berdine Ott, route 2, Hilbert, will be among 13 young people from Wisconsin participating in the 1967 European Seminar for Youth, sponsored by the Wisconsin Council of Churches. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Ott.

Edith Steudel, New Holstein, also was elected for the trip.

Miss Ott is a member of Peace United Church of Christ, Potter, where she is active in the Youth Fellowship.

She will spend three weeks observing the life and culture of Europe. The seminar is designed to make America's young people familiar with the work of the church in Europe, giving them an opportunity to engage in dialogue with European youth and to better understand the common Christian heritage.

Berdine Ott

Visit Holland

Dr. Walter Washburn, a Madison physician, ordained elder in the United Presbyterian Church, will be chaperone. He has been an Army doctor in Germany and has participated in other European seminars. The Rev. Ramon Hernandez, director of youth work for the Wisconsin Conference, United Church of Christ, also will be an escort.

The group will be composed of Protestant youth of several denominations. They will leave by air June 8 and return June 29.

They will visit Rijksmuseum in Amersterdam, the Hauge and Peace Palace on the first lap of their journey into Holland. Stops will also be made at Cologne Cathedral, Beethoven House and Evangelical Academy in Frankfurt, Germany. While there they will meet with the Protestant Industrial Mission, visit the Cathedral of Worms and the Sisters of Mary Protestant Center. A meeting with students of the collegiate center in Heidelberg also is planned.

Final days of the journey will be in England. They will visit the new Coventry Cathedral which was recreated in 1963 to replace the one built in the 14th century. It was destroyed by Nazi bombs which killed 400 persons.

Meet with Bishop

Tours of cathedrals and a meeting with the Bishop of Woolwich in the London area will complete the three-week cultural-religious tour.

Young people of congregations which are members of the Wisconsin Council of Churches are eligible to participate in the seminar. Churches within the organization provide partial scholarships to help finance the educational project.

An orientation meeting was conducted with the tour directors Saturday in Madison.

Special Registration Hours at New London

NEW LONDON — Special hours for voters to register for the Nov. 8 general election have been announced by Melva Rickaby, city clerk.

Deadline for registering is 5 p.m. Oct. 26. Special clerk office hours are 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Oct. 21 and 10 a.m. to noon, Oct. 22.

Registrations also may be made during regular office hours 8:30 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. on weekdays.

Chilton Freshman '11' Trounces Kiel, 33-0

CHILTON — The high school freshman football team won its second game of the season defeating Kiel, 33-0, here Tuesday evening.

Bob Hansen scored three of the five Chilton touchdowns. The two other touchdowns were scored by Dave Blankenship and by Tom Schmidlkofer.

The Chilton frosh play at Kiel Tuesday and close out their four-game schedule at New Holstein Oct. 25.

Mrs. Lloyd Zeamer Bowls 202 at Brillion

BRILLION — Mrs. Lloyd Zeamer rolled a 202 game on her way to a 493 series for Miller's Bar team in women's league bowling.

Warren's Skelly, Pete's Barber Shop and Miller's teams are tied for first place with 13-5 records. Rent-A-Truck and Koffarnus teams are second and third at 12½-5½ and 12-6, respectively.

New London Considers Golf Program

School Board Will Meet With Club to Discuss Possibility

NEW LONDON — A golf program for the New London public schools will be discussed at a meeting of the New London Golf Club board of directors and the board of education at 8:30 p.m., Nov. 8.

The proposal of the golf club received a warmer reception at Monday's board of education meeting than it had in previous years.

Program, Not Team

Reason for this, according to Mrs. Harold Marksman, was that for the first time a golf program, and not just a team for competition purposes, was suggested.

Mrs. Markman had contended the acceptance of a golf team plan would be selective and eliminate children whose parents were not members of a golf club.

Eugene Fuhrmann said since the matter had been postponed for a number of years and the golf club had developed its own instructional program, he didn't think the school district should enter into it. He suggested a study before making a decision.

Mrs. Markman said a meeting could clear up many questions. "This board has always been for broadening the educational opportunity of its youngsters," she said. "I don't think we should close the door, even if a handful are given the chance to develop a new recreational interest."

David Arps, Joel Ott Cited by Brillion Coach

BRILLION — David Arps was named the Lions most valuable defensive player for last Friday's football game with Winneconne. He accumulated 42 points on the tackling chart devised by the coaching staff.

Joel Ott did a commendable job blocking and caught two passes and was given the offensive player award.

The Lions entertain league-leading Denmark in their home-coming game here at 8 p.m. Friday.

Hilbert Jayvees Whip Brillion Squad, 25-0

BRILLION — Brillion High School's junior varsity football squad lost to Hilbert 25-0 here Monday night. The junior Lions have a 2-2 record and will play Stockbridge Oct. 17.

Chilton Tigers Seek Sixth EW Victory Friday at Valders

CHILTON — The undefeated Chilton Tigers take to the road Friday night for the second straight week traveling to Valders in search of their sixth straight Eastern Wisconsin Conference Football victory.

A win for the Tigers in this contest would set the stage for a championship clash between Chilton and Plymouth on Oct. 21. Both teams are tied for first place with 5-0 records. Plymouth meets winless Elkhart Lake Friday night.

Chilton goes into Friday night's little against Valders as a solid favorite. Defensively the two teams are on a par. The Vikings have allowed the opposition to score 73 points while Tiger opponents have scored 71 points.

The Tigers have the big edge offensively with 175 points, second best in the league, to 70 points for Valders. The Vikings picked up three early season victories but were defeated by Sheboygan Falls and Plymouth to give them a 3-2 record.

Chilton's Don McHugh, a 1965 all-conference halfback, used last week's 25-point scoring spree to open up a sizable lead in the individual scoring race. The speedy halfback has scored 11 touchdowns and one extra point for a total of 67 points. Teammate John Hauser holds down second place in the scoring column with 43 points on seven TD's and one extra point.

Other conference games will put unbeaten Plymouth against winless Elkhart Lake, Kohler, 4-1, tangles with Kiel, 1-4; Cedar Grove, 1-4, meets New Holstein, 0-5, and Sheboygan Falls, 3-2 meets Oostburg, also 3-2.

Plymouth Tips Chilton Jayvees

CHILTON — After winning its first two games, the high school jayvee football team suffered a 28-20 setback Monday night at Plymouth.

Plymouth built up a 14-0 lead only to have the young Tigers battle back at, 14-13, but with 14 seconds remaining in the first half Plymouth went 16 yards for another TD to take a 21-13 advantage at the half.

The three Chilton touchdowns came on passes from quarterback Steve Bruckner to halfback Paul Bruckner. The first covered 33 yards, the second 13 yards, and the final one was of nine yards.

Mike Bruckner led the Chilton rushers with 33 yards in seven carries and quarterback Steve Bruckner completed 11 of 21 passes for 163 yards.

On Monday, the Tiger Jayvees will travel to Valders.

508 Series High for Chilton Women Keglers

CHILTON — Viola Brundes and Mildred Daun were the only bowlers to come up with 500-plus series in the Major League action Monday.

Mrs. Brandes, bowling for the Pla-Mor Lanes, rolled the high series of 508 on individual games of 172-171-165, and Mrs. Daun came up with a 503 to lead her first place Hedrich Construction team.

Chilton Malting had high team gains of 794 and Pla-Mor had high team series of 2,193.

Kiel Man Is President Of Calumet Holy Name

CHILTON — Richard Mayer, Kiel, was recently installed as president of Calumet County Holy Name Deanery.

Other officers are Othmar Woelfel, St. Anna, vice-president; George Ecker Jr., Stockbridge, secretary, and Herbert Roeck, New Holstein, treasurer.

Seek Exclusion

The difficulty the high school has in competing in football with present conference members was also discussed extensively. It was decided that the school should remain in the present conference with the possible exception of football. For football purposes only, it authorized administrators to seek permission from the conference at its next meeting to be dropped from league competition. At the same time a request would be made to drop several games with larger schools so games could be scheduled with smaller schools — Wild Roe, Almond and Port Edwards. The next conference meeting is scheduled Nov. 9 at Manawa.

The fuel oil bid of Cities Service Oil Co. was accepted in lieu of a previously accepted bid after it was learned an error had been made in preparing the review sheet which board members used to compare and select low bids for gas, fuel and oil supplies at its September meeting.

Laundry bids for physical education towels were reviewed with the low bid submitted by Mrs. Orin Waller being accepted.

In other business, janitorial duties and wages were reviewed which resulted in some wage adjustment being made.

Your zoning and land use laws can help to protect the highway investment and also keep your community a desirable place in which to live, work and visit."

Knowles described the improvement of U.S. 10 as a direct result of cooperation and planning by federal, state, county and local officials, as well as citizens.

Outlining other highway improvements in progress within the Waupaca area, Knowles said six miles of reconstruction already is underway betweeen Fremont to the east county line. Engineering investigation has started prior to improving the highway from the east county line to U.S. 41, he said. He added that right-of-way is being acquired for reconstruction between Waupaca and the west county line and on to Amherst Junction.

Local Sponsors

Wednesday's ceremonies were sponsored by the Waupaca Association of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Waupaca County, City of Waupaca, Chain O' Lakes Protective Association, Chain O' Lakes Advancement Association, Waupaca Lions Club and Kiwanis Club.

G. H. Stordock was general chairman for the event and was master of ceremonies at the ribbon cutting.

Guests included several state, county and city officials. Two queens, Barbara Prideaux, Miss Waupaca County and, Mary Hansen, Miss Waupaca, assisted Knowles in cutting the ribbon, made up of wrappers from various products manufactured in Waupaca.

Superintendent at At New London Gets 3-Year Pact

NEW LONDON — The contract of H. James Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, was extended three years Monday by the board of education.

Details of the new contract are yet to be worked out by the board.

Ramsdell has been superintendent of the New London Public School System since July, 1964. Prior to that he was superintendent of the Weyauwega School System.

Expect Verdict In Attempted Burglary Trial

Appleton police about 5:20 a.m. Aug. 23. It was Miss Hudek's telephone call that led to Krull's and Schroeder's arrests.

State's Witnesses

Asked by Schaefer why she tried to interrupt Miss Hudek's call, Miss Walters replied, "I didn't think it was any of her business."

Other testimony Wednesday was from state's witnesses, Ann Boogaard, 20, who lives with Miss Walters and Miss Hudek; police Lt. Robert Frailing and Erwin Zick.

Miss Boogaard testified she was with Krull, Schroeder and Miss Walters until early the morning of Aug. 21 and she saw a gun in the rear seat of a car occupied by the young men when they left Club 96.

Frailing told of the circumstances surrounding the arrests of Krull and Schroeder at the girls' apartment, while Zick said he had loaned Schroeder a .22 caliber automatic pistol Aug. 20. Zick identified a pistol and holster Schaefer had offered into evidence.

New London Driver Hits City Street Sweeper

NEW LONDON — More than $100 damage resulted at 6:35 a.m., Wednesday when an automobile hit the parked city street sweeper on N. Water Street.

John F. Walbruck Jr., 24, 310 Elm St., told police he was traveling east on Water Street when he was temporarily blinded by an oncoming car's headlights shining through the partially iced windshield and he did not see the parked street sweeper.

Indian Mission Group Takes Look Backward

WITTENBERG — Some 100 costumes and various other members of the Winnebago activities.

Indian Ladies Aid Society and their guests took a look backward when they met at Redeemer Lutheran Church.

Special guests at the session, the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Sihler, Minneapolis, former Indian Mission workers here, showed slides and movies taken at the mission here during the 1930s and early 1940s. The Sihlers served as Indian missionaries in central Wisconsin for about 20 years and made their headquarters at Bethany Indian Mission here.

The movies showed the Indians at work and at play. There were pictures of Indians going about their daily routine of baking Indian bread, washing clothes, carrying water from the river, basket making, beadwork, carving basket handles, making dyes, cutting ice, harvesting cranberries and cherries. Indians dressed in native

Sihler placed a marker which he had made, next to the pine grove on the former Mission grounds with the following inscription: "Pines planted in 1933 by William and Ferdinand Palledeau, Bethany Indian Mission. Rev. E. W. Sihler, Superintendent."

This mission was active about 75 years and was supported by the former Norwegian Lutheran Synod and the Evangelical Church of America. Only one of the buildings still remains.

WSU-O Dean to Talk To Chilton Rotarians

CHILTON — "Inflation — Fact or Fancy?" is the title of a talk to be given by Robert P. Hungate, dean of the school of business administration at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, at tonight's Rotary meeting.

Hospital Auxiliary to Hear Talk on Medicare

CLINTONVILLE — R. J. Platte, hospital administrator, will discuss "Medicare — Title 19," at the Nov. 14 meeting of the Community Hospital auxiliary at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital lounge.

Platte also will speak on medicare at the North Central District meeting Oct. 27 at Waupaca. Anyone wishing to attend this meeting may contact Mrs. Lowell Velte, auxiliary president.

The November meeting will be a "guest night." Lunch committee includes Mrs. Hilbert Eckert, chairman, Mrs. Oscar May and Mrs. Rudolph Kitzman.

In other business Mrs. Milford Etheridge reported for the sewing committee which is making new hospital drapes. Mrs. Eldred Hill announced that there are 70 more small toys and gifts for children.

Starting Nov. 1, the auxiliary will sell fruit cakes, on order through Mrs. W. D. Horton, chairman.

Appointed to a telephone committee were Mrs. Eric Desens, chairman, Mrs. Arthur Polzin and Mrs. Ben Sasse, Clintonville, and Mrs. Henry Bowers, Marion.

State Hospital Official Addresses Church Group

CLINTONVILLE — Jarlath Wolf of the Winnebago State Hospital staff, spoke at the afternoon program for the 33rd annual meeting of the Waupaca County Federation of Church Women Wednesday at the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Her topic was "Winnebago State Hospital: What It Is and What It is Not."

More than 100 persons attended. The theme of the meeting was "United In Christ We Stand."

New London Offer

The invitation from the New London Congregational Church for the 1967 meeting was accepted. Appointed to the resolutions committee were Mrs. Glass, chairman; Mrs. Norman Radtke, New London; Mrs. Ben Mevis, Marion, and Mrs. Hazel Walker, Northport.

Mrs. Max Stieg, Clintonville, gave the afternoon devotional. Officers, all from the 1967 host church, were elected. They are Mrs. Norman Myers, president; Mrs. Enan Smith, vice-president; Mrs. Edgar Lathrop, recording secretary and secretary, and Mrs. Norman Kawell, treasurer. They were installed by Mrs. Paul Michaelis, Iola.

Mrs. Carl Ewald, Clintonville, presented the 1967 host church group with the plaque, "Shield of Faith, WCFCW," for the coming year.

The 1966 officers, all of them from the Clintonville EUB Church, were Mrs. Melvin Kerstner, president; Mrs. Ewald, vice-president; Mrs. Matt Dahm, secretary, and Mrs. Herbert Steege, treasurer.

Waupaca Hunters Must Get Party Permits by Friday

WAUPACA — Friday is the last day deer hunting party permits will be sold at the courthouse, according to Robert Backer, county clerk.

Party permits still are available in three of the four areas, he said. The 163 permits available for area 66 have been sold but there are 90 remaining for area 63, 206 for area 62 and 5[illegible] for area 65.

At the close of office hours, Wednesday, 936 of the 1,339 permits allotted for sale at the Waupaca courthouse had been sold.

Permits remaining at the close of office hours, Friday, will be returned to Madison to be issued by mail.

Farmers to be Lions' Guests

CLINTONVILLE — "Farmers' Appreciation Night" will be observed at the 7 p.m. Tuesday dinner meeting of the Lions Club at its clubhouse on Long Lake. Each member will have a farmer friend as his guest.

The speaker will be William Kasakaitas, legislative aide for the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation.

Lyle Harrison and Orval Malueg are co-chairmen.

Increase to $20

Municipalities Conference Seeks $2 License Fee Hike

Post-Crescent News Service

MILWAUKEE — Chances are better than even that you will be paying $20 instead of $18 for your annual car license in Wisconsin after 1967.

The prediction comes from ranking members of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities and some state legislators attending the annual conference here.

However, if the license fee is to be boosted, it will come from some sort of legislation which will enable municipalities to tack on an additional $2.

It would be tied in with the state license fee setup, which many government officials say is in need of revision.

License Increase

Mayor Eugene Hammond, Kenosha, chairman of the finance and taxation committee says the license increase is one of the recommendations of the league committee on finance and taxation.

With the theme of the three-day meet here on "Financing Municipal Government," Hammond outlined tax recommendations that could apply directly in most cases to the property owner the same as the sales tax credit refund.

"Our study shows that Wisconsin motor vehicles are the lowest taxed in almost all the states." Forty-two others levy higher fees, Hammond said.

He said the license fee hike would be a logical revenue raiser but made no estimate on the additional income.

Little Relief

Hammond said due to spiraling municipal operating costs including schools, "taxpayers are getting little or no relief from the $53 billion disbursed annually to communities as their share of the sales tax refund."

He said this was so after comparing what tax rates were prior to the time when the refund came into being.

Hammond said his committee would have recommendations before the general assembly Friday calling for a more adequate shared taxes and aids to local government.

"We have to expand the present state income tax sharing system to take the load off the local property owner," Hanson said. A cross section opinion poll of League delegates would indicate the higher license fee appears inevitable.

School Merger Talks Delayed At Waupaca

WAUPACA — The meeting of the Waupaca and Weyauwega school boards scheduled here tonight to discuss the possible merger of the two districts has been canceled.

The meeting was canceled because it conflicted with another meeting of the Weyauwega board, Waupaca Supt. George Hendrickson said.

The meeting will be rescheduled but no date has been set at this time, he said.

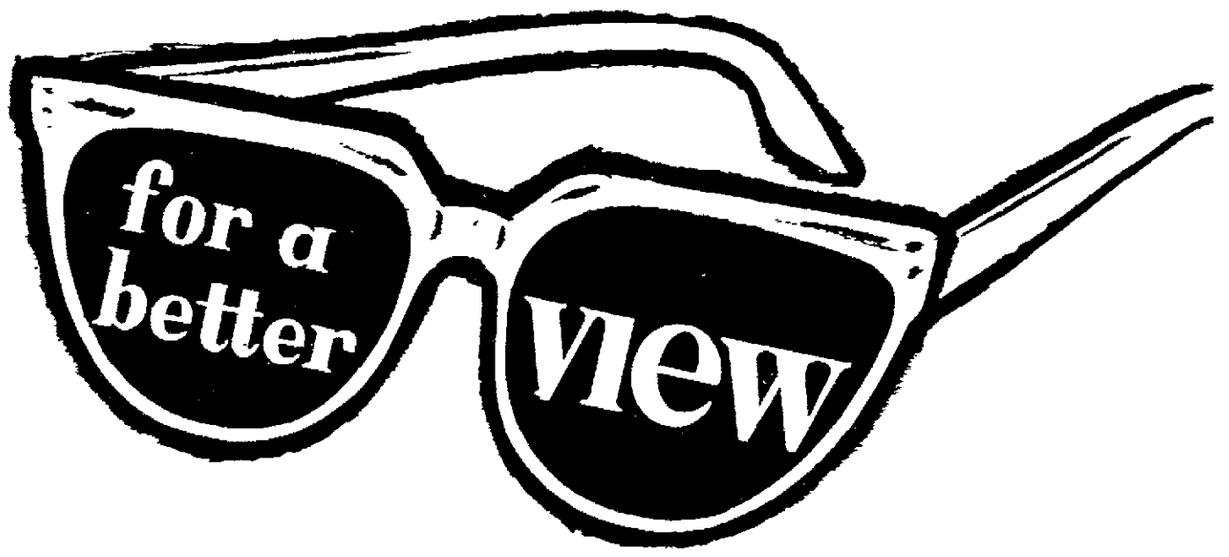

St. Rose Association To Hear Librarian

CLINTONVILLE — The St. Rose Home-School Association, at its first meeting of the season at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the St. Rose School cafeteria, will have Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald, diocesan librarian from Green Bay. She will speak on "The Role of the Library in the Total School Program." Don Doney is program chairman.

Children Tested for Vision Difficulties

Because 85 per cent of what a child learns comes about through his vision, and because the Appleton Junior Woman's Club believes each child should be able to start school with an even chance to keep up with his class, the second series of Vision Screening sessions was held Saturday at the YMCA.

The program was initiated for three, four, five and six-year-olds in the spring. It is aimed at pointing up vision difficulties in time for parents to seek professional care before the child begins school.

The second program in the current screening will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Y. There is no charge for the testing, carried out under the direction of the Outagamie County Medical Society, the Fox Cities Optometric Society, the Wisconsin Society for the Prevention of Blindness, and with the cooperation of the City of Appleton Health Dept.

Many people who attended the testing in the spring but found there was a waiting line came back Saturday. There are now more volunteers and six teams at work, so that parents who wish to take advantage of the program for their children do not have to stand in line.

The Testing Is fast and children soon find out they've nothing to fear. Above, Mrs. Alan Stoner records results as Mrs. Richard Davidson gives the test to Timothy Beschta. The children's eyes are tested individually to determine if one eye is given preference in use over the other one. At left, Mrs. Robert Donahue covers Lori Andrews' right eye as Mrs. William Plank Jr. records the test. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Nurses Tell Plans For District Parley

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Joseph Klau was elected first vice chairman of the private duty section of the Wisconsin Nurses' Association at the annual convention last week in Milwaukee.

Plans were announced for a Nov. 15 meeting of district nurses at Appleton. Legislators of both Political Parties are expected to be present. Discussion will be held on contemplated reorganization of the licensing departments in the state. This legislation is of interest to registered nurses, members of the federated womens' clubs, League of Women Voters, PTA members, professional and business women's organizations and others interested in health and welfare, according to Mrs. Klau.

In the past the Wisconsin Nurses' Association has been successful in promoting legislation to provide public funds for nursing scholarships and this program will be pursued at the Appleton session.

Convention Highlights

Guest speakers at the convention were Capt. Pearl Tucker, a United States Air Force nurse, "Aerospace Nursing;" Dr. George Hellmuth, director of comprehensive medicine at Marquette University. "The Nurse's Role In Returning the Patient to Society", and Miss Dorothy Kelly, R.N., editor of "Catholic Nurse." "Equating the Nurses' Economic Rewards With the Service Given."

Panel discussions and forums were held and special sections were concerned with "Hyperbaric Oxygenation," "Caring for the Patient Receiving Radiation Therapy," "Intranter Transfusions," "Nurses' Role In the Wisconsin Child Abuse Law," and "The Impact of Medicare on Nurses and Nursing."

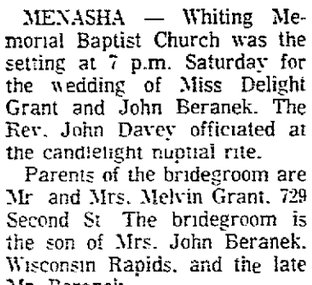

Delegates from the Appleton district besides Mrs. Klau were Miss Mary Ann Warner, Neenah and Miss Kathryn Martin and Miss Jerry Cooper, Appleton.

Sisal Rugs Are Favorites

Sisal rugs are becoming decorator favorites because of their texture, durability, and washability.

They can be brush-scrubbed on both sides with hot soap or detergent suds, then hosed off with a fine spray. Let them get completely dry before being replaced or rolled for storage.
